PRESIDENT AND PARTY SAIL FROM NEW YORK FOR EUROPE TO ATTEND PEACE CONGRESS

ON GEORGE WASHINGTON

The President, Secretary of State Lansing, and the Hon. Henry White, members of the United States peace delegation, left Washington last night and sailed from New York for Europe to-day on the steamship George Washington. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Lansing were in the party. Mr. E. M. House and Gen. Bliss, the other members of the peace delegation, already are in Europe.

Secretary Daniels announced that Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet, who had just returned from a long tour of inspection abroad, is in command of the naval escort accompanying the U. S. S. George Washington, on which President Wilson is making the trip to France for the peace conference.

This escort will consist of the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, commanded by Capt. L. M. Nulton, and five destroyers—the Wiches, Commander J. S. Barlow; Wootsey, Commander F. V. McNair; Lee, Commander D. W. Bagley; Turbell, Commander Hal- sey Powell; Yarnell, Commander W. F. Halsey.

In addition to these 10 destroyers will accompany the President’s ship during the first 48 hours of the trip and then be put back. These are the Mahan, Radford, Breese, Oraven, Dorsey, Robinson, Walk, Montgomery, Lamberton, and Perkins.

Escort to Port.

Off the coast of France the presidential ship will be met by two divisions of the Atlantic Fleet and escorted to port. Rear Admiral Hugh Rodman will be in

RESIGNATION OF DR. GARFIELD ACCEPTED BY THE PRESIDENT

It was announced at the Executive Office yesterday that United States Fuel Administrator Garfield had tendered his resignation to take effect at the pleasure of the President, and that the President had accepted the resignation, although it was made clear that the needs of domestic consumers will continue to receive the attention of the Fuel Administration until the winter is past.

GUARANTEED PRICE OF WHEAT TO STAND FOR THE 1919 CROP

Continued Under Terms of the Lever Act, the Food Administration Announces

The guaranteed price of wheat for the 1919 crop stands, by the terms of the Lever Act, under which the United States Food Administration is operating. This statement was made by the Food Administration.

The President’s proclamation of September 19, 1918, stated that the “producers of wheat produced within the United States . . . for the crop of 1919” are guaranteed the price therein set forth. $2.26 per bushel at Chicago, and the end of the war or the proclamation of peace does not in any way affect this guaranty.

Section 24 of the Lever Act provides “That the provisions of this act shall cease to be in effect when the existing state of war between the United States and Germany shall have terminated, and the fact and date of such termination shall be ascertained and proclaimed by the President; but the termination of this act shall not affect any act done, or any right or obligation accruing or ac-cruing,” etc. If further states that “All rights or liabilities under this act arising before, its termination shall continue and may be enforced in the same manner as if the act had not terminated.”

The guaranty for the 1919 wheat crop expires June 1, 1920.

J. T. Gerard has been appointed assistant manager of the Northern Division of the American Red Cross. He will continue to act as director of the Bureau of Development.

PRESIDENT GRANTS PARDON TO TWO U. S. ARMY OFFICERS FOR TECHNICAL FAULTS IN AIRCRAFT PRODUCTION

HELD TO BE INNOCENT OF IMPROPER MOTIVES

It was announced at the Executive Office yesterday that the President had par-doned Lieut. Col. George W. Mixter and Lieut. Col. J. G. Vincent, whom the re-cent report on aircraft production showed to be technically guilty of a breach of statutes, because he entirely concurs in the views of the Attorney General with regard to these two cases. He believes that the two gentlemen concerned were entirely innocent of any improper or selfish intention, that their guilt was only technical, and that their services to the Government, which have been of the highest value and of a most disinterested sort, deserve the most cordial recognition.

The President.

My Dear Mr. President: In the report submitted to me by Hon. Charles E. Hughes at the conclusion of the aircraft investigation Lieut. Col. J. G. Vincent was one of three officers found to have transacted business for the Government contrary to the prohibition contained in section 41 of the Criminal Code, which prohibits any person, directly or indirectly interested in the pecuniary profits or contracts of a corporation, from acting as an officer or agent of the United States for the transaction of business with such.
corporation. I further agree with Judge Hughes that the evidence does not afford ground for the conclusion that the Government was defrauded or that they were guilty of an act of fraud on the part of any of the parties concerned or that the services rendered were not of the amount paid therefor or that the estimates of the officers of the Packard Co. were not fair estimates."

While there was a violation of the statute, I do not think the ends of justice require that Col. Vincent be prosecuted.

Col. Vincent was one of the designers of the Liberty motor. At that time he was not in the employ of the Government, but was vice-president of the Packard Motor Car Co. When the motor had been designed the Packard Co. tendered Mr. Vincent and its engineering staff and facilities for such service as might be necessary to test out and develop the design for production. The authorities authorized Mr. Vincent to build the required number of models and experimental motors, and he directed his company to do the work under his supervision. Later, during the progress of the work, he was commissioned in the Signal Corps, resigning as an officer of the Packard Co., but retaining the ownership of his stock. His offense is that he acted for the Government in connection with settling the compensation to be paid the Packard Co. for the work. There is no evidence that he did not act in entire good faith or that any advantage was taken of the Government.

The production of the Liberty motor was one of the great achievements in connection with the war. Col. Vincent rendered invaluable services in designing and perfecting it.

In view of all the circumstances, I recommend that a full and complete pardon be granted for the offense, as I believe it was unwittingly committed.

Respectfully,

T. W. GANNON, Attorney General.

The President.
The White House.

My Dear Mr. President: The report made by Hon. Charles E. Hughes to me at the conclusion of the investigation shows that Lieut. Col. George W. Mixter acted for the Government in supervising inspection and production at the Curtis Aeroplane & Motor Corporation while he owned 25 shares of the preferred stock of that company of the par value of $2,500. I concurred with Judge Hughes in his conclusion that this was a violation of section 41 of the Criminal Code.

Lieut. Col. Mixter testified that he had formerly owned a small amount of both common and preferred stock of that company. He stated that at the time he was commissioned he had sold the common stock and overlooked the fact that he still owned preferred. There is nothing in the evidence warranting the conclusion that Lieut. Col. Mixter did not act in entire good faith in the transaction referred to, or indicating that he was influenced by his ownership of that preferred stock, which paid a fixed dividend. Lieut. Col. Mixter has performed efficient service for the Government and in a substantial sacrifice. I believe that he has unwittingly committed, and recommend that he be granted a pardon.

Respectfully,

T. W. GANNON, Attorney General.
EUROPE IS URGENTLY CALLING FOR FOOD, MR. HOOVER CABLES

Administrator Says That Conservation in America Is More Needed Than Ever.

The Food Administration issues the following:

Nations liberated from the German yoke are daily and urgently calling upon the United States for food. The pressure of their demands is emphasized in a cable received from Herbert Hoover, United States Food Administrator, who is now in Europe to survey the foreign situation. After one week in Europe, Mr. Hoover cables that the situation does not yet admit the formulation of a definite program, but that this Nation should be firmly impressed with the necessity for continued conservation, which is more needed now than at any time since we became aligned with the enemy.

Mr. Hoover is now negotiating with the allied Governments regarding shipping, finances, and organization. Until these details are finally settled, it will be difficult for him to outline a definite constructive program. Mr. Hoover arranged before leaving America for the immediate purchase of 250,000 tons of food to meet the most urgent calls. The first of the fleet of ships carrying these supplies has already been reported at Gibraltar, on route for southern Europe.

SUGAR RESTRICTIONS LIFTED IN HOMES AND EATING HOUSES

Owing to the increase in the supply of Louisiana cane sugar and western beet sugar, and to the fact that the new Cuban crop is expected shortly, the United States Food Administration has rescinded rules number 8 and number 9 from the general orders for public eating places.

These rules forbade the use of the sugar bowl on the table, and limited the service of sugar to 2 teaspoonsful per person per meal, to 4 pounds for every 90 meals, including all uses. Sugar restrictions have at the same time been removed from the home, and consumers are no longer required to observe the ration of 4 pounds of sugar per person per month.

ORDER PROHIBITING IMPORT INTO U. S. OF MALT LIQUORS

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
November 16, 1918.

To collectors and other officers of the customs:

Your attention is directed to rule 3 of internal revenue T. D. 2768, which provides that no person shall import into the United States any malt liquor for beverage purposes on or after December 1, 1918.

In view of this prohibition you are hereby instructed to refuse entry to any malt liquors arriving in the United States after midnight of November 30, 1918. Any such liquor arriving at your port should be refused entry in cable by you and the case reported to the United

Mr. Manly Successor to Mr. Walsh as War Labor Board Joint Chairman

The National War Labor Board authorizes the following statement:

President Wilson has accepted the resignation of Frank P. Walsh, Joint chairman of the National War Labor Board, and has appointed Basil M. Manly as Mr. Walsh's successor. Announcement of the action was made by Mr. Walsh at the meeting this afternoon. Mr. Manly has been assistant to the joint chairman, Mr. Taft and Mr. Walsh.

While the appointment was made by the President, as was the appointment of the other members of the board, Mr. Manly, like Mr. Walsh, was chosen for the place by unanimous vote of the representatives of labor on the War Labor Board. Five members of the board represent, and were chosen by, employers; five represent labor; and the chairman, representing the public, are selected, one by labor and one by the employers.

William Harmon Black, Mr. Walsh's alternate on the board, resigned with Mr. Walsh. Mr. Manly, upon being appointed to Mr. Walsh's office, named Mr. Black as his alternate.

Mr. Walsh, while retaining his citizenship status, will practice law in New York.

Washington and Lee Graduate.

Mr. Manly has devoted his time to national, industrial, and economic problems since 1908. A graduate of Washington and Lee University, he was later a fellow at the University of Chicago, becoming a special agent for the Bureau of Labor Statistics (Department of Labor) in 1908. During his tenure of this office, from 1908 to 1913, he directed an investigation and wrote the four-volume report entitled "The Iron and Steel Industry," which was the first complete survey of an American industry. After the report was completed Congress appropriated $50,000 for its publication.

Mr. Manly, in 1913, was in charge of an investigation for the bureau of anthracite coal prices, which stated that the coal operators had increased prices for the year 1912 $13,000,000 above the wage increase awarded to the miners that year. Mr. Manly was special adviser to the arbitration board that fixed wages in the coal and suit industry in New York in 1913. He was director of research and investigation for the United States Industrial Relations Commission, and in 1915 wrote what is known as the "Manly report" on the work of the commission, 250,000 copies of which were published.

President's Letter to Mr. Walsh.

Following is the letter from the President to Mr. Walsh:

THE WHITE HOUSE,
Washington, November 27, 1918.

Mr. DEAR Mr. Walsh: It is with the sense of great personal loss, not only to myself, but to the department, that I have transmitted to the President of the United States your letter of November 19, tendering your resignation as joint chairman of the National War Labor Board. I have the honor to inclose to you herewith the President's answer to your letter, and to designate the close of business on December 3, 1918, as the date upon which the resignation shall take effect.

Knowing the sacrifices you have made to accept the important responsibilities which the Department of Labor requested you to assume, I recognize the fact that the Government has been fortunate in having your services so long, no matter how regretful I may be that your personal and professional necessities now require that attention, which up to the moment you have so unselfishly given to the benefit of the country in the crisis of the war. The services you have rendered have been of incalculable value not only in themselves, but in the high standards they have set. In the commendable discharge of vast and delicate responsi-

Cordially and faithfully yours,
W. B. J. W.,
Secretary of Labor.

The Hon. FRANK P. WALSH,
Joint Chairman, National War Labor Board, Washington, D. C.
German Estimate of Cost of War
To Germany, Including Pensions

The Federal Reserve Board issues the following:

Since December, 1917, the Reichstag has voted 30,000,000,000 marks of further credits to the Government, as follows: March, 1918, 15,000,000,000 marks; July, 1918, 15,000,000,000 marks. This increased the total of credits granted by the Reichstag to 75,000,000,000 marks, or $34,500,000,000 (at the nominal rate of 52.8 cents per mark). During March-April of the present year the eighth war loan was issued, which yielded 14,700,000,000 marks. There were 6,510,778 subscriptions, of which 2,939,384 were small subscriptions of 500 marks and less. These small subscriptions totalled 440,400,000 marks, or 4.54 per cent of the total loan. Large subscriptions, 1, 500,000 marks and over, aggregated 4,982,400,161 marks, or 31.76 per cent of the loan.

Subscriptions for a ninth war loan were to terminate about the end of October. On the assumption that the war will be terminated by the end of the year 1918, and what was authority (Georg Bernhard), quoted by the London Economist (July 27, 1918, number), gives the following estimates of the direct financial burden of the war to Germany:

A Statement Concerning the Elimination of The Official U. S. Bulletin Free List

When The Official U. S. Bulletin was established under order of the President of the United States, and thus became the official chronicle for the Government, it was decided that during the war period a limited number of public institutions and persons occupying official and semiofficial positions might be placed, for the time being, upon a complimentary mailing list. The fundamental object in establishing this governmental newspaper was first, the dissemination of official information concerning activities of every department of the Government; and secondly, to put in print for all time a record of this part played by the Government of the United States in the World War.

The purposes for which The Official U. S. Bulletin originally was established have been accomplished. In no other publication in existence can there be found this material officially compiled and made available day by day concerning the activities of every department, agency, and board. Every copy issued now is a faithful record of the part played by the Government of the United States in the World War.

The changes must of necessity affect the welfare of every man, woman, and child in the United States. The Official U. S. Bulletin will print all this matter in its official form. And under the new order of things the complimentary list must be abolished except as announced at the top of column 1, page 4.

The visit of the President to Europe to participate in the peace conference was the occasion for a discussion in the Senate yesterday that continued for up to two hours. Senator Sherman, of Illinois, who introduced a resolution bearing upon the subject and which was intended to declare the office vacant because of the absence of the President, began the debate with a vigorous criticism of the President for leaving the country. Senator John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, replied to Mr. Sherman and showed that the departure of the President was not without precedent. He strongly upheld the wisdom of the President's course. During the afternoon Senator Knox, Republican, of Pennsylvania, introduced a resolution that was designated to counteract a Senate declaration favoring postponement until after the peace conference of questions regarding the formation of a league of nations and any ensuing changes in ancient international laws of freedom of the seas. It was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee and was considered at this morning, when the Cumnins resolution providing for the creation of a special committee representing the Senate to visit France at the time of the peace conference also was given consideration. Another measure bearing upon war policies was introduced yesterday when Senator Borah proposed the repeal of those sections of the Espionage Act which had been financed through an organization and that considerable sums of money with that end in view had been expended. The Federal Trade Commission in a report to Congress submitted yesterday recommended legislation under which manufacturers of imitation articles would be permitted to fix a resale price, subject to revision or review by some agency of the Government to be authorized by Congress.

The McKellar civil-service retirement bill was debated in the Senate yesterday afternoon and to-day under an agreement to vote upon the President's request for a speedy approval to-day. Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, introduced a resolution requesting the President at once to recognize the revolutionary government of Costa Rica.

A bill proposing an expenditure of $1,500,000 for the construction of a sanitarium for the treatment of discharged soldiers and sailors at Dawson Springs, Ky., precipitated a lively debate. Republican speakers utilized the measure as a vehicle for general criticism of what they characterized as Democratic extravagance. Such little headway was made in the consideration of the bill that Majority Leader Kitchin moved that the regular order for to-day be dispensed with and that all members of the Senate be permitted to vote upon the bill at 11 A.M. to-morrow. The regular order was ordered to be dispensed with, and the bill was reported to the Senate, with the understanding that it would be read twice before the end of the present week.

The Military Committee devoted to-day to its hearing on the causes of the armed delay in issuance of the casualty lists. Secretary Baker, Assistant Secretary Keppel and Gen. March were before the committee. Secretary Baker said that every effort had been made to dispense with the bill, and declared that the lists were not then held up, withheld or delayed in making them public. He declared that the policy of the department had always been to give out a complete statement as soon as possible. The Secretary explained in detail many of the delays that confronted the authorities in France in obtaining accurate and speedy information. Discussing mobilization, Gen. March said that Gen. Pershing was selecting units for the occupational force of about 1,250,000 men and that all other American soldiers in France would be brought up to the required number of men as quickly as possible. Red Cross officials were heard by the committee to-day.

Nominations

Nominations in line with the War Department's policy of transferring men from the United States Army to the Regular Army were sent to the Senate yesterday. These nominations were as follows: Lieut. Gen. Robert B. Ballard, to be major general in the Regular Army; major generals in the United States Army to be brigadier generals in the Regular Army: George W. Read, Charles T. Mellon, William G. Haan, John L. Hines, Charles H. Muir, James W. McAndrew, James G. Harbord, Charles P. Summerall; to be brigadier generals in the Medical Corps: Col. Walter D. McKee, United States Army, and Maj. Gen. Robert E. Noble, United States Army.

Before the subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee to consider the complaints against the American Red Cross for its activities yesterday, Louis N. Hammerling, president of the American Association of Foreign Language newspapers, testified concerning the conduct of the organization. It developed that early in the war an effort to mold public opinion through the foreign language press against the manufacture of munitions in the United States and to have American soldiers and sailors at Dawson Springs, Ky., precipitated a lively debate. Republican speakers utilized the measure as a vehicle for general criticism of what they characterized as Democratic extravagance. Such little headway was made in the consideration of the bill that Majority Leader Kitchin moved that the regular order for to-day be dispensed with and that all members of the Senate be permitted to vote upon the bill at 11 A.M. to-morrow. The regular order was ordered to be dispensed with, and the bill was reported to the Senate, with the understanding that it would be read twice before the end of the present week. The Post Office Committee yesterday began work on the first great supply bill, carrying $361,477,000, in the expectation of completing it within a very few days. The Naval Committee considered the bill for the support of the establishment, and the Military Committee plans to begin its sessions on the bill for the support of the Army within the next few days.

The following is authorized by Grover B. Clarkson, acting director of the Council of National Defense:

The second annual report of the Council of National Defense, composed of the Secretaries of War, Navy, Interior, Agriculture, Commerce, and Labor, just made public, in review of the activities of the council during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918, tells also the story of a very large part of the Government’s activities in the war of a nonmilitary character. Particularly this is true of the transition period included in the first six or eight months of the war, during which the council, in some degree, occupied the country’s industrial and commercial resources took place. The present report becomes, therefore, an important contribution to the official records of the war.

Prepared by Director Gifford.

The report is made by W. S. Gifford, director of the council, until November 1, last, to the Secretary of War, as chairman, to be transmitted by him to the President for Congress. At the end of the period covered by the report, Mr. Gifford points out, the work of initial mobilization, the main task which the council undertook early in the emergency, was largely completed. The council set out to act as a connecting link between the Nation in its normal state and the Nation as a machine for making war. This transition period past, the council’s role as a main link in the war Government naturally diminished, and the white bread of the council continued to perform functions of a most vital and necessary nature, especially through the great council of defense system, made up of State, county, municipal, and community organizations, reaching practically every hamlet in the country.

The report is divided into three sections. The first deals with the story of the transference of plants of the Government departments for steel, copper, lead, tin, for finished products of all kinds and the way that they were met; the story of the transfer from peace to war work; the story of the transformation under war conditions of the Government’s purchasing policy, and the development of a general industrial policy.

The other branches of the council still active at the date of the report were the committee on labor, committee on engineering and education, medical section, general medical policy, transport committee, national research council acting as the department of science and research of the council, and the Naval Consulting Board, acting as a committee on inventions.

Divided Into Three Sections.

The report is divided into three sections, the first dealing with the story of the branches of the council still under the council, the second with the War Industries Board up to May 28, the date of its separation from the council, which, of course, includes much of its most significant work, and finally the story of the agencies dissolved or transferred to other jurisdiction during the year. Among the latter is the highly impressive story of the Commercial Economy Board, transferred in May to become the Conservation Division of the War Industries Board. Almost the whole story of the conservation of the United States is summed up in the report of the Commercial Economy Board.

In the hinterland the War Industries Board is summarized the Government’s policy in meeting the tremendous demand of the Government departments for steel, copper, lead, tin, for finished products of all kinds and the way that they were met; the story of the transformation under war conditions of the Government’s purchasing policy, and the development of a general industrial policy.

“The Committee on Labor.

Much space is given to the work of the Committee on Labor with its many subdivisions, which assumed so significant a place in Government activities in maintaining the hearty cooperation of the labor movement with national war policies. Among the specific accomplishments of the committee was the initiation of the Soldiers and Sailors’ War Insurance plan, later turned over to the Treasury Department for administration. An account is also given of the council’s part in developing a plan for War Labor Administration, turned over by the council to the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Labor.

The report reviews the work of the Committee on Transportation and Communication, which developed into the existing large priorities organization, which at the time of the date of the report was issuing hundreds of orders with binding power behind them.

The director’s report points out that in the act creating the council Congress has included among its duties “the creation of relations with which the undersecretary is charged in time of need of immediate concentration and utilization of the resources of the Nation.” This phrase, “the creation of relations” expresses the main contribution of the council to the winning of the war. Throughout the tenure of the duty thus defined,” the director says, “and literally interpreted in the light of a great national emergency, the council performed its most important service during the year just past. In a sense the council has served as a great administrative laboratory through which new plans and new and necessary functions could be initiated and developed, and where effective action demanded passed on to permanent or emergency executive agencies of the Government.”

In saying that the date of the formal separation of the War Industries Board from the Council of National Defense marked the virtual end of the council’s task in planning emergency machinery to meet new war functions, the director points out that until December 1, 1918, the War Industries Board continued the usefulness of the work which remains under the council’s organization.

Mobilized Resources and National Spirit.

The report emphasizes that in mobilizing America’s material resources for the Government’s war needs at the same time it has been vitally concerned in the mobilization of the national spirit. In the effort the council has been aided particularly by the organizations under the State councils section with its State, county, municipal, and community councils, numbering well over 100,000 at the date of the report. Through these local agencies acting with the local agencies of the woman’s committee of the council, the Government has been able to bring home to every section of the country in a way possible only to local agencies the meaning of its policies and the opportunities for individual service in the war.

The other branches of the council still active at the date of the report were the committee on labor, committee on engineering and education, medical section, general medical policy, transport committee, national research council acting as the department of science and research of the council, and the Naval Consulting Board, acting as a committee on inventions.

Nuclear for New Bodies.

A perusal of the report shows that the council served as a nucleus for innumerable new functionary agencies, necessary agencies, and for which no administrative agency existed at the outbreak of the conflict. Some of these after being purely advisory developed by the council were passed on to existing executive departments, for some the council created new agencies, either acting under its jurisdiction or given separate jurisdiction by Executive order or congressional act.

Perhaps the best example of the latter case was the War Industries Board, whose work was begun by and developed by the council and which was separated from it only on May 28 last. Other tasks which received their initial impulsion from the council were: The food conservation program, aircraft program, war-labor administration, and many functions supplementary to those of the regular departments, such as those involved in the storage, shipping, transportation, fuel, and miscellaneous.

The director’s report points out that in the act creating the council Congress has included among its duties “the creation of relations with which the undersecretary is charged in time of need of immediate concentration and utilization of the resources of the Nation.” This phrase, “the creation of relations” expresses the main contribution of the council to the winning of the war. The other branches of the council still active at the date of the report were the committee on labor, committee on engineering and education, medical section, general medical policy, transport committee, national research council acting as the department of science and research of the council, and the Naval Consulting Board, acting as a committee on inventions.

Divided Into Three Sections.

The report is divided into three sections, the first dealing with the story of the branches of the council still under the council, the second with the War Industries Board up to May 28, the date of its separation from the council, which, of course, includes much of its most significant work, and finally the story of the agencies dissolved or transferred to other jurisdiction during the year. Among the latter is the highly impressive story of the Commercial Economy Board, transferred in May to become the Conservation Division of the War Industries Board. Almost the whole story of the conservation of the United States is summed up in the report of the Commercial Economy Board.

In the hinterland the War Industries Board is summarized the Government’s policy in meeting the tremendous demand of the Government departments for steel, copper, lead, tin, for finished products of all kinds and the way that they were met; the story of the transformation under war conditions of the Government’s purchasing policy, and the development of a general industrial policy.

Development of Price Fixing.

Particularly valuable from the historical point of view as well as that of immediate interest, is a record of the development of price-fixing, which had its beginning with the Council of National Defense and which came into the existing large priorities organization with informal voluntary agreements on prices negotiated between representatives of industry and government. From modest beginnings, the original attempts at regulating priorities through voluntary cooperation developed into the existing large priorities organization, which at the time of date of the report was issuing hundreds of orders with binding power behind them.

The Committee on Labor.

Much space is given to the work of the Committee on Labor with its many subdivisions, which assumed so significant a place in Government activities in maintaining the hearty cooperation of the labor movement with national war policies. Among the specific accomplishments of the committee was the initiation of the Soldiers and Sailors’ War Insurance plan, later turned over to the Treasury Department for administration. An account is also given of the council’s part in developing a plan for War Labor Administration, turned over by the council to the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Labor.

The report reviews the work of the Committee on Transportation and Communication, which assumed so significant a place in Government activities in maintaining the hearty cooperation of the labor movement with national war policies.

The report reviews the work of the Committee on Transportation and Communication, which assumed so significant a place in Government activities in maintaining the hearty cooperation of the labor movement with national war policies.

The Council undertook much work in drawing together for the purposes of the war the railroads, the waterways, and national highways. The individual report of the Highways and Transport Committees tells of the pioneer work done in developing motor-truck routes to relieve congested railroads, and it is also included in the Inland Waterways Transportation Committee of the council.

National Research Council.

“Special acknowledgment,” the report says, “should be made of the valuable activities of the National Research Council, which has served as a department of the Council of National Defense, mobilizing and directing the research work of the country’s scientific men. Its work has been invaluable in giving the Government war agencies the benefit of scientific re- (Continued on page 7.)
SCHEDULE OF CHARGES FOR TELEPHONE INSTALLATION MOVES AND CHANGES

The following order affecting the installation charges of telephones has been issued by the Postmaster General:

Owing to the cessation of hostilities the necessity for conserving labor and materials has disappeared to some extent, thereby enabling the Postmaster General to modify Order No. 1031, issued under date of August 28, 1918, fixing certain rates for the installation of telephone service, and Bulletin No. 8, issued September 14, 1918, explanatory thereof.

Service Connection Charges.

Experience and careful investigation of the entire subject has demonstrated the fact that certain service connection charges covering to some extent the average cost of the initial expense of establishing service for new subscribers and of furnishing additional facilities to old subscribers should be paid by such subscribers and should not be borne by the entire body of telephone users. Therefore a uniform schedule has been prepared which embodies rates that should not retard telephone development in any section and will place upon subscribers responsible therefor a portion of the cost of telephone equipment and service to such service connections, leaving the balance as a charge on the business generally.

Schedule Effective December 1

This schedule will become effective December 1, 1918, applies to all telephone systems under the control of the Postmaster General, and is as follows: For individual and party line service—$4.00. For exchange wire connected with any class of telephone service—$4.50. For private branch exchange service the charge for establishing service connection—$3.50. For each trunk line connecting the private branch exchange with a central office—$3.50. For each telephone connected to the private branch exchange, except operators' telephone sets—$3.50. To cover charges, account, circuit, and switchboard expenses in cases where service is established by the exchange of instruments already in place in the subscriber's premises, and no change made in the type or location of such instruments—$1.50. Service connection charges not to supersede mileage charges or installation charges and construction charges made because of unusual cost, but to apply in addition to such charges; however, in cases of special private branch exchange systems not established under tariff rates but on a cost basis, installation charges may be applied to stations, and other equipment in lieu of the regular service connection charges prescribed herein for the stations connected.

Service connection charges not to apply to the service known as "service stations" or "switchover service." Service connection charges not to apply to "public telephones" or "public pay station" service established for the use of the public on the initiative of the wire service. The term "public pay station" as not to be considered to cover service such as remittance, guaranteed or rental pay stations. Service connection charges not to apply to private line equipment, i.e., circuits and stations not connected with a central office for exchange or toll service; but installation charges may be applied in accordance with tariffs existing or hereafter established.

All charges herein described to be collected from all applicants for new service of the type described above at the time of application and prior to the establishment of such service, except that service may be established in advance of payment of service connection charges for additions to the service of existing subscribers and in the case of any service for departments, administrations, and agencies of the Federal, State, county, and municipal governments.

Section 5, of Bulletin No. 8, dated September 14, 1918, is hereby revoked.

Charges for Moves and Changes.

Order No. 1031, dated August 28, 1918, and Telegraph and Telephone Service Bulletin No. 8, dated September 15, 1918, so far as relates to prescribing charges for changes of location, are hereby revoked.

Charges for changes of location of telephone service or wiring on the subscriber's premises on and after December 1, 1918, to be:

(a) For moving a telephone set from one location to another on the same premises a charge of $2.00.

(b) For moving any other equipment or wiring from one location to another on the same premises based on the cost of labor and materials.

Charges for changes, other than moves, in wiring and equipment on the subscriber's premises, made on the initiative of the subscriber, to be:

(a) For change in type or style of telephone set a charge of $1.00.

(b) For other changes in equipment or wiring a charge based on the cost of labor and materials.

The charges specified above not to apply if the changes or moves are required for the proper maintenance of the equipment or service. The charges specified above not to apply if the changes are required because of a change in class or grade of service.

The charges specified above in no case to exceed one connection charge as applicable to the entire service of the particular subscriber.

Note.—The installation charges, charges for moves and changes, in Order No. 1031 and Bulletin No. 8, referred to were:

Where the rate is $2 a month or less—$8.00. Where the rate is more than $2 but not exceeding $4 a month—$9.00. Where the rate is more than $4 a month—$10.00.

"Changes in names," or where no lapse of service occurs, the minimum charge—$3.00.

The charge for moving a telephone set from one location to another on premises—$3.00.

Section 5, of Bulletin No. 8, which is revoked, was as follows:

"All subscribers who pay the service-connection charges established under Order No. 1031 shall be relieved of any other change or connection charge, cancelation charges, charges made in liquidation of damages on account of short terms and short-term rates, and the use of one year or one month in excess of one month as a minimum contract period for telephone service."
Sealed Proposals Invited.

Sealed proposals will be received at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Washington, D.C., up to 2:30 p.m., December 28, 1918, for furnishing all labor, material, and storage cases. The War Industries Board has refused to grant priorities for steel to be used in the manufacture of these cases. Therefore no further orders should be placed with the manufacturers. The Auditors' Building, Fourteenth and F Streets S.W., has a 18-inch copper plate for use on web presses, and brass wire cloth, 18 inches wide by 94 inches long, for use in covering cylinder of wet pulp machine, viz: 5 pieces 60-inch No. 300 made No. 20. The FY. S. Paper Co. has extended the time for placing orders to December 10, 1918.

Purchased by the Secretary: J. H. Mortar, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Superintendents of Supplies.

Keep Bulletin Posted In All U. S. Post Offices

Reports having been made that at some post offices The Official U. S. Bulletin is not being posted regularly for public reading in accordance with Postmaster General Burleson's orders, postmasters are again reminded of this important duty. It should be remembered that the bulletin is the only publication available to all sections of the country that prints daily the complete and correct casualty lists, and also lists overseas exactly as they are issued by the War Department. Many newspapers print only part of the list, leaving local interests and their own territory. The bulletin prints every name and address, and thus making it a certain means of informing friends and relatives, wherever they may be, of the fate of a soldier or sailor, no matter where his home town or city.

Postmasters are urged, aside from doing their patriotic and personal duty to see that the public has the fullest benefit of this privilege. The Postmaster General's order follows:

All postmasters are directed to post The Official U. S. Bulletin daily in a conspicuous place in the lobby or waiting room of their respective post-office buildings where the public can read it; and, without expense to the Government, each and every postmaster is earnestly urged to see that this Bulletin is made available to as many people as possible in the manner suggested.
