

324 Individuals, Bodies, and Classes of Individuals Named As "Enemies" in Proclamation

OWNERS OF STOCK IN AMERICAN CONCERNS

President Designates Certain Persons as Included Within Term "Enemy" Under the Trading-With-the-Enemy Act—Most Are Residents of Germany.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas section 2 of the act of Congress entitled "An act to define, regulate, and punish trading with the enemy, and for other purposes," approved October 6, 1917, known as the "Trading-with-the-enemy act," provides that the word "enemy," as used therein, shall be deemed to mean for the purposes of such trading and of said act:

"Such other individuals, or body or class of individuals, as may be natives, citizens, or subjects of any nation with which the United States is at war, other than citizens of the United States, wherever resident or wherever doing business, as the President, if he shall find the safety of the United States or the successful prosecution of the war shall so require, may, by proclamation, include within the term 'enemy'":

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, pursuant to the authority vested in me by said act, and in accordance with the provisions thereof, do find hereby that the following-named individuals, and bodies and classes of individuals, are natives, citizens, or subjects of a nation with which the United States is at war, and that the safety of the United States and the successful prosecution of the war require that said individuals, and bodies and classes of individuals, be included within the term "enemy," as used in said act; and therefore I do include hereby within said term "enemy," as used in said act, the following individuals, and bodies and classes of individuals, to wit:

1. Lina Haberland, of Meerane, Saxony, Germany.
2. William Schneider, of Meerane, Saxony, Germany.

WARNING AGAINST THE GIVING OF INTOXICANTS TO SOLDIERS

Mr. Baker Appeals to Friends of Boys Returning from Front to Discourage Practice.

The Secretary of War authorizes the following statement:

In the celebrations that have welcomed our troops from abroad, many of the men in uniform have been given intoxicating drinks. This is contrary to the law. It is a breach of military discipline. It is an injury to the returning troops. A drunken soldier is a disgrace to the uniform, an insult to the flag, a shame to himself, and a danger to the community. No loyal citizen, who has the interests of the men at heart, will offer them the temptation to inebriety. I appeal to the friends of our boys from the front to discourage this abuse of hospitality. Our Army in service has had a record for cleanness and sobriety of which the country has a right to be proud. I appeal to that pride to help the men live up to their record.

ITALIAN INQUIRY FOR 300,000 PAIRS OF CIVILIAN SHOES

Receipt of an emergency inquiry for 300,000 pairs of civilian shoes for Italian account is announced by the Hide, Leather, and Leather Goods Division of the War Industries Board. Owing to the fact that all bids must be submitted by 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, December 10, it will be impossible to mail out specifications to contractors. Consequently Sol Wile, secretary of the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers Association, has been requested by telegraph to notify all interested manufacturers that copies of specifications may be obtained at the Hide, Leather, and Leather Goods Division here in Washington. Copies of specifications for men's and boys' shoes may also be obtained from the New England Shoe and Leather Association, Boston, Mass.

The right is reserved by the Italian Government to reject any or all bids. Bids should be filed through the Hide, Leather, and Leather Goods Division.

PRESIDENT IN CONTINUOUS TOUCH WITH THE SHORE AND WASHINGTON OFFICIALS WHILE ON WAY TO FRANCE

MESSAGES HANDLED BY THE NAVY DEPARTMENT

Special High-Powered Apparatus Installed on the George Washington and Battleship Pennsylvania Insure No Break During The Entire Trip—Ships of Convoy Also in Touch With Each Other by Wireless.

The Navy Department has been in continuous communication by radio with the George Washington since its departure from New York. Special arrangements never before used were made for handling the President's messages and to insure his being in constant touch with Washington. The George Washington and the battleship Pennsylvania are both equipped with the most modern radio apparatus, some of which was installed for this particular trip.

Special Powerful Apparatus.

This apparatus includes, on the Pennsylvania, the most powerful transmitting set on any United States naval ship, and also special receiving apparatus for receiving from high-power stations used ordinarily only for transatlantic messages. The George Washington was also especially equipped with similar receiving apparatus. On board both ships were installed radio telephones and the newest type of low-power radio sets for use only in communicating from ship to ship. The George Washington and the Pennsylvania are thus able to communicate with each other and at the same time receive messages from shore.

Sent from Annapolis Station.

All messages for the President are sent by the new naval high power station at Annapolis, which is five times as powerful as the Arlington station. These messages are received by the George Washington and the Pennsylvania simultaneously. All replies are forwarded from the George Washington to the Pennsylvania and relayed to shore by the Pennsylvania. At three special naval radio receiving stations—one in Maine, one in New Jersey, and one in the Navy Building, Washington—expert operators are listening continuously for the Pennsylvania's messages. The messages when received are forwarded with utmost dispatch to the Transatlantic Radio Division of the office of the Director of Naval Communications, in the Navy Department, and the three copies are compared to insure accuracy. The message is then delivered to the addressee. All outgoing messages pass through the same office in Washington.

In Touch with Both Shores.

As the Presidential party approaches Europe, by arrangements of the Navy Department, special receiving stations in both England and France will listen for messages from the Pennsylvania, and one of the French high-power stations will forward messages direct to the ship. The President will thus be kept in touch with Washington and Paris or London simultaneously, for the George Washington will receive easily the messages sent from the Annapolis station until the end of the voyage and the ship is in a French port.

WAR DEPARTMENT ORDERS AS TO DISCHARGE OF ENLISTED MEN

Only Those Who Volunteered or Were Drafted for Emergency to Be Released.

The War Department publishes the following circular:

DISCHARGE OF ENLISTED MEN.

The following instructions, communicated by telegraph to certain commanders on November 18, 1918, are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

Under orders issued or that hereafter may be issued for the discharge of enlisted men the following will be strictly observed:

(1) a. Only men who voluntarily enlisted to serve during the emergency and those who were drafted or inducted to serve during the emergency will be discharged.

b. No man will be discharged who at the time of physical examination prior to discharge is unfit for duty in the class in which he was rated at the time of entrance into the service (namely, Class A, Class C-1, or Class C-2) or in a higher class in case he has been subsequently so rated.

c. Men suffering from venereal diseases will not be discharged until cured. Intensive treatment of all venereals will be undertaken at once with a view to their cure and discharge at the earliest possible date.

2. Men from the same localities will be discharged as far as possible on the same date and only as they can be moved by railroads. Ample advance notice will be given to the local representative of the United States Railway Administration of the number, date of discharge, and destinations of men to be discharged.

3. A weekly report as of Saturday midnight will be made to The Adjutant General of the Army, attention room 523, showing the number of men discharged that week.

4. Attention is directed to Circulars

ADDITIONAL ARMY CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS ORDERED ABANDONED

The War Department authorizes the following statement:

The Construction Division has been authorized by the Director of Operations to abandon the following projects:

The construction work at Locomobile Co. of America's plant, Bridgeport, Conn. The construction work in connection with the erection of the necessary building for the plant of the Hero Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

The enlargement of Camp Lee, Va. The construction of a hospital at North Camp Jackson, S. C., approximately 631 beds.

The necessary alteration to make the State School for Deaf at Columbus, Ohio, suitable for a 1,500-bed hospital.

The construction of the Elizabethport, N. J., proving grounds.

The enlargement of Camp Custer, Mich. The construction of a bomb-loading plant in the vicinity of Delaware City, Del., known as the Marlin-Rockwell Plant.

The construction of an extension to Camp Sherman to house 9,185 men.

The construction of an extension to Camp Grant, Ill., to house 14,520 men. The construction of an officer's training camp.

The construction of Clear Springs Proving Grounds.

The conversion work to make the Sea View Hospital, Staten Island, N. Y., suitable as a general Army hospital.

The installation of a permanent bakery at Camp Beauregard, Ala.

The construction of a delousing plant at Camp Fremont, Cal.

The Construction Division has been authorized to proceed with the construction of a central officer's training school at Camps Gordon and Hancock, where the buildings are over 60 per cent completed, or where the buildings are so far advanced as to necessitate their completion in order to save material loss to the Government.

WILL NOT DISCHARGE PERSONNEL OFFICERS AND ENLISTED MEN

The War Department publishes the following circular:

OFFICERS AND ENLISTED MEN CONNECTED WITH PERSONNEL DETACHMENTS NOT TO BE DISCHARGED.

In connection with Circulars No. 73, No. 75, and No. 77, War Department, 1918, relative to the separation from the service of officers and enlisted men, the following is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

1. No officer of The Adjutant General's Department nor any officer or enlisted man of the personnel detachment or organization, at the headquarters of any department, camp, post, or station will be separated from the service by either discharge or resignation without the prior approval of the War Department in each case.

2. When such officers and enlisted men become surplus or their services are no longer required at a particular place or station The Adjutant General of the Army will be immediately informed in order that the services of these officers and men may be utilized at other places if required.

By order of the Secretary of War:

PEYTON C. MARCH,
General, Chief of Staff.

Official:

P. C. HARRIS,
The Adjutant General.

Nos. 73, 75, and 85, War Department, 1918.

By order of the Secretary of War:

PEYTON C. MARCH,
General, Chief of Staff.

Official:

P. C. HARRIS,
The Adjutant General.

NEW WAR LABOR BOARD ORDER LIMITS ACTION ON DISPUTES

The National War Labor Board authorizes the following:

In order to meet the changed conditions resulting from the signing of the armistice, and the withdrawal of the Federal Government's control over the industries of the country, the National War Labor Board, after conference with the Secretary of Labor, has made an order providing that in the future it will act only in such cases as are jointly submitted to it for arbitration. All complaints filed after December 5, setting forth industrial controversies, will, therefore, be referred to the Labor Department for action by its Mediation and Conciliation Bureau. Failing settlement in such cases, the Secretary of Labor will refer back to the War Labor Board only the cases in which both parties voluntarily submit the issues to the jurisdiction of the National War Labor Board and agree to abide by its decision. All cases now before the board will be handled as they have in the past.

This action was concurred in by all the members of the National War Labor Board, and as approved by the Secretary of Labor.

WM. H. TAFT,
BASIL M. MANLY,
Joint Chairmen.

KILLED BY FALL IN LONDON.

A dispatch from Admiral Sims to the Navy Department states that Lieut. Gordon H. Mason, attached to the U. S. S. Kimberly, fell from a fifth-story window of the Langham Hotel, London, and was killed, probably while walking in his sleep, early in the morning of December 5, 1918. An inquest has been ordered. Lieut. Mason was the son of Rear Admiral N. E. Mason, 1973 Biltmore Street, Washington.

JUDGE ROBERT S. LOVETT QUITS THE RAILROAD ADMINISTRATION; RESIGNATION EFFECTIVE JAN. 1

COMMENDED BY DIRECTOR M'ADOO

Retiring Head of Division of Capital Expenditures Will Return to Union Pacific Company After Two Months' Rest.

Judge Robert S. Lovett, director of the division of capital expenditures of the Railroad Administration, has issued the following statement:

Upon the cessation of hostilities I resolved to relinquish as early as possible without inconvenience my position with the Railroad Administration here, which I had taken only for the period of the war, and take a rest which my health demands. In the meantime Mr. C. B. Segar, who succeeded me on the Union Pacific when I resigned my connection with that company to go with the Railroad Administration in March last, received a very attractive offer from an important manufacturing and commercial institution which it was necessary for him to act upon without delay. He has agreed to accept the position, and the Union Pacific executive committee have invited me to resume my former position with that company. In the circumstances the Director General has been good enough to relieve me on January 1, and after two months rest I expect to return to the Union Pacific.

"I should like to say, even at the risk of appearing fulsome, that in my judgment no business agency—public or private—has been more absolutely free from political influences and considerations or more completely dominated solely by what was conceived to be right and in the public good than the Railroad Administration, due to the inspiring example and superb firmness of the Director General himself."

Statement by Mr. McAdoo.

Director General McAdoo said:

"I have accepted with great reluctance Judge Robert S. Lovett's resignation as director of the Division of Capital Expenditures of the Railroad Administration, effective January 1, 1919. He has served with such signal ability and such single devotion to the interests of the country during the trying period of the past year that no commendation, however strongly expressed, could do justice to him.

"Judge Lovett has not only had charge of one of the most important divisions of the Railroad Administration, but has also been an invaluable coadjutor and counsel in connection with the great problems of unified operation and Federal control of the railroads during the past year."

NAMED ASSISTANT DIRECTOR.

Stillman A. Benway, of Boston, has been appointed assistant director of the training and dilution service, Department of Labor, and chief of the planning division of that service.

CAMP SALVAGE DURING OCTOBER NETS $426,814.84 TO ARMY

The War Department authorizes the following:

The careful collection and sale of waste accumulation, garbage, manure, and miscellaneous materials at camps and cantonments throughout the United States brought a revenue of $426,814.84 to the Army for the month of October, according to a report of the Salvage Division to Brig. Gen. Robert E. Wood, Acting Quartermaster General and Director of Purchase and Storage. In addition to this, waste materials to the amount of $300,000 were turned over to various Army organizations, making a total of $726,814.84 received from the sale and disposition of materials that would ordinarily have been thrown away during the month.

Collections in October.

During the month of October there was collected 750,648 pounds of aluminum, brass, copper, lead, and zinc; 3,968,675 pounds of iron; 403,415 pounds of rubber; 1,376,637 pounds of cotton rags; 586,424 pounds of woolen rags; 89,649 pounds of rope; 2,947,588 pounds of paper; 1,602,372 pounds of bags; 365,227 pounds of burlap; 214,401 pounds of leather; 219,574 pounds of glass, bottles, and jars; 125,834 pounds of barrels and boxes; 3,709 pounds of horse and mule hair; 516,117 pounds of lumber and 132,198 pounds of miscellaneous waste. Some of this material was sold, some turned over to other Army organizations, and the balance left on hand for future disposition. Total cash sales amounted to $324,041.45. Estimated value of above materials turned over to Army organizations was $300,000.

Total sales of garbage for the month of October amounted to $64,036.63. Total sales of dead animals amounted to $823.63, while sales of manure amounted to $29,950.73; condemned hay and straw, $3,285.32, and all other material, $4,678.08.

Wearing Apparel Repaired.

During the month there was repaired a total of 1,884,783 articles of wearing apparel in the camps and cantonments throughout the United States, and there were 443,880 articles dry cleaned and pressed during the same time. Articles repaired included shoes, hats, overcoats, coats, breeches, flannel shirts, undershirts, drawers, stockings, leggings, blankets, and sweaters. There was also a total of 86,669 cot repairs, and 23,186 tent and canvas repairs made during the month.

Laundry operations during October show a total of 4,923,707 pieces for officers and enlisted men; 2,965,902 pieces for base hospitals; 2,316,674 pieces for reclamation work and 703,567 other pieces, making a total of 10,909,850 pieces laundered during the month, bringing a revenue of $539,968.12.

War Farms and Gardens.

The report also shows that war farms and gardens were being operated in 14 camps, 1 proving ground, and 1 aviation field during October, with a total of 3,838 acres. Production in these farms and gardens included apples, beans,

ORDER RELINQUISHING CONTROL OF COASTWISE STEAMER LINES

ORDER OF RELINQUISHMENT.

Whereas in the exercise of the war power by proclamation dated April 11, 1918, the President of the United States, through Benedict Crowell, Acting Secretary of War, took possession and assumed control as of the 13th day of April, 1918, of the following systems of transportation and appurtenances thereof, to wit: Clyde Steamship Co., a corporation of the State of Maine; Mallory Steamship Co., a corporation of the State of Maine; Merchants and Miners Transportation Co., a corporation of the State of Maryland; and Southern Steamship Co., a corporation of the State of Delaware; consisting of steamships, tugs, lighters, barges, ships, boats, and marine craft of any and every kind or description and all the tackle, appurtenances to and appliances thereof, together with all wharves, docks, warehouses, and other property of every kind or nature, real or chattel, owned, leased, chartered, controlled, or used by said companies or either of them in conducting or in connection with said transportation systems to the end that such systems be utilized for the transfer and transportation of troops, war material, and equipment, to the exclusion as far as may be necessary, of all other traffic thereon, etc., the said possession, control, operation, and utilization to be exercised by and through the undersigned William G. McAdoo, Director General of Railroads; and

Whereas the emergency which made such exercise of the war power necessary and desirable has by reason of the signing of an armistice with the enemies of the United States ceased, and the use of the transportation systems aforesaid is no longer necessary for the transfer and transportation of troops, war material, and equipment, or otherwise for the war purposes of the Government:

Now, therefore, I, William G. McAdoo, Director General of Railroads, by virtue of the power conferred upon me by the President of the United States, do hereby relinquish from Federal control, effective December 6, 1918, at 12.01 a. m., the said Clyde Steamship Co., Mallory Steamship Co., Merchants & Miners Transportation Co., and Southern Steamship Co., together with all of the steamships, tugs, lighters, barges, ships, boats, and marine craft of any and every kind or description, and all the other tackle, appurtenances, wharves, docks, warehouses, and other property as described and set forth in the proclamation of the President, dated April 11, 1918, as aforesaid, and restore the same to the possession of their respective owners.

For accounting purposes, this order may be treated as effective December 1 at 12.01 a. m.

Given under my hand as Director General of Railroads, the 5th day of December, 1918.

W. G. McADOO,
Director General of Railroads.

APPEAL BY MR. M'ADOO THAT WAR SAVINGS PLEDGES BE KEPT

DECEMBER 5, 1918.

Secretary McAdoo has sent the following telegram to all State Directors of War Savings:

"I most earnestly urge upon you that your organization make every possible effort to the end that pledges for the purchase of war-savings stamps be filled before the close of the year. The Government's monetary requirements were never greater nor more pressing than they are to-day. Expenditures for November were greater than in any similar period. These expenditures growing out of the war must be met by borrowing from the people, and their magnificent response heretofore to the Government's requirements makes me confident that they will not fail to continue their support to the end that all payments resulting from war necessities will be promptly met. Much remains to be done. Our brave troops must be maintained and paid until their work is fully accomplished and they are returned to their homes. This is not a time for us to relax our efforts, and the Treasury Department is making plans for larger and even more important work during the coming year. Please make every effort to bring this statement before the people in your district and to urge upon them the continued holding of their war-savings certificates, the fulfillment of their pledges, and additional purchases as their means permit."

A Statement Concerning the Elimination of The Official U. S. Bulletin Free List

WHEN THE OFFICIAL U. S. BULLETIN was established under order of the President of the United States, and thus became the official chronicler for the Government, it was decided that during the war period a limited number of public institutions and persons occupying official and semiofficial positions might be placed, for the time being, upon a complimentary mailing list. The fundamental object in establishing this governmental newspaper was first, the dissemination of official information concerning activities of every department of the Government; and secondly, to put in print for all time a faithful record of the part played by the Government of the United States in the World War.

The purposes for which THE OFFICIAL U. S. BULLETIN originally was established have been accomplished. In no other publication in existence can there be found this material officially compiled day by day concerning the activities of every department, agency, and board. Every casualty among our forces abroad and in the camps and cantonments in the United States, the name of every man taken prisoner, cited for bravery, or wounded on the field of battle, every communique issued by Gen. Pershing, every State paper, proclamation, Executive order, and all utterances by the President since the entry of this Government into the war, may be found in this publication. There also may be found every order, pronouncement, and regulation issued by the Food, Fuel, and Railroad Administrations, the War Industries Board, War Trade Board, and all other independent agencies of the Government. All contracts awarded, texts of important laws, proceedings of the United States Supreme Court, daily résumé of important proceedings of Congress, Treasury statements, etc., were printed from day to day. Thus it may be seen that the Government has made public in a formally official manner all of its acts, that the people of the world might know what was being done, the objects sought, and the ideals actuating the Government in its dealings with the world powers. This much for the past.

Old regulations, orders, and decisions now must give way to new; countless regulatory announcements must be made, orders must be modified or rescinded, new world policies molded, treaties ratified; in fact, the public must be kept equally as well informed now as during the war period. The changes must of necessity affect the welfare of every man, woman, and child in the United States. THE OFFICIAL U. S. BULLETIN will print all this matter in its official form. And under the new order of things the complimentary list must be abolished except as announced at the top of column 1, this page.

Cigar Lighters in Mails If Spark Stones Removed

OFFICE SECOND ASSISTANT
POSTMASTER GENERAL,
Washington, November 29, 1918.

Cigar lighters may be accepted for mailing to foreign countries and to members of the American Expeditionary Forces abroad, as well as to officers and enlisted men on board of United States naval vessels, provided the sparking stones are removed from the lighters although the sparking stones may be sent in the same package with the lighters to which they belong.

This modifies the notice printed on page 5 of the January, 1918, Postal Guide.

DRAWING OF MONEY ORDERS FOR EXPEDITIONARY FORCES

OFFICE OF THIRD ASSISTANT
POSTMASTER GENERAL,
Washington, November 14, 1918.

In view of the fact that, on account of the approaching Christmas holidays, numerous remittances by means of money orders will be sent to members of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, the attention of postmasters at international money-order offices is directed to previous instructions relative to issuing such orders on domestic form. Orders should be drawn on the "United States Army Postal Service," without attempting to designate the particular station or locality where payment is to be made. See the July, 1918, United States Official Postal Guide, page 77, and the September Supplement to same, page 7.

A. M. DOCKERY,
Third Assistant Postmaster General.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE CONGRESS BRIEFLY TOLD

SENATE.

The Senate occupied most of its time yesterday afternoon in discussing various phases of the peace question, and this afternoon Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, discussed the proposed League of Nations. The subject of retrenchment in public expenditures and the imperative necessity for drastic economy was emphasized by Senators Borah, Republican, and Martin, Democrat. Subsequently a resolution was adopted directing the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to investigate the expenditures and contracts in connection with public buildings, and with particular reference to expenditures for housing accommodations for war workers in Washington. Senator Borah, Republican, introduced a resolution which was designed to reaffirm the doctrines of Washington and Jefferson relative to the dangers of "entangling alliances" with European powers.

The Foreign Relations Committee, by a unanimous vote, submitted an adverse report on the resolution of Senator Cummins providing for a special committee to visit Paris during the peace conference and keep the Senate advised of progress. Action on the resolution of Senator Knox declaring that all questions pertaining to the proposed league of nations and the freedom of the seas was put over until next week by the committee. Senator Williams, of Mississippi, was designated as chairman of a subcommittee to consider the resolution of Senator Moses for the immediate recognition of the present Government of Costa Rica. The Senate yesterday adopted a resolution by Senator Jones, of Washington, asking the State Department for information concerning what countries have proposed the abrogation of commercial treaties with the United States. Another resolution having a bearing upon the war situation adopted, directed the Secretary of War to report whether he has taken any measures looking to the investigation of the spruce production section of the Signal Corps as recommended in the report of Judge Charles E. Hughes. Before the Military Committee Red Cross officials explained their methods of obtaining information concerning the killed and wounded and explained that up until September, when certain War Department orders were rescinded, they were not permitted to send home letters of wounded men until after the casualties had been officially reported.

The Finance Committee this morning reported the war revenue bill. It will be called up for consideration early next week. If, after a time it becomes apparent the measure cannot pass at this session, a joint resolution will be introduced that would impose an 80 per cent tax on all war profits. This together with the existing law it is estimated would yield sufficient revenue to meet the requirements of the Government.

Nominations sent to the Senate yesterday included: Julian F. Alexander, of Jackson, to be United States attorney for the southern district of Mississippi; Charles F. Bunnell and Rinehart S. Roth, both of Fairbanks, Alaska, to be respectively judge and United States attorney for the district of Alaska, division number 4.

Arthur Brisbane, owner of the Washington Times, before the judiciary subcommittee, explained the loan he obtained from certain brewers with which he made the purchase of that paper. Alexander Konta, of New York, concluded his testimony.

Chairman Fletcher, of the Commerce Committee, was authorized by the committee to ascertain the present status of the report of the attorney general on the Hog Island shipyard situation.

HOUSE.

After three days of discussion the House passed a bill appropriating $1,850,000 for the establishment and maintenance of a sanitarium for wounded and diseased soldiers and sailors. When brought before the House this bill provided for the location of this sanitarium at Dawson Springs, Ky., but, owing to the fight made against it, it was amended to provide for the selection of a suitable site by a commission to be named by the President.

Discussing War Department economies since the signing of the armistice with the appropriations committee, Secretary Baker pointed out that $7,000,000,000 had been saved out of the $24,000,000,000 originally appropriated for the support of the Army. Of the $4,250,000,000 for which the Government has obligated itself, the Secretary said he hoped to save $2,600,000,000, and this figure was being constantly increased. The estimated savings in cancellations, termination of contracts, and reduction of orders in the various divisions of the War Department were given as follows: Ordnance Department, $800,000,000; Medical Department, $82,000,000; Signal Corps, $10,000,000; Engineer Corps, $229,000,000; aircraft production, $402,000,000; military aeronautics, $5,000,000; chemical-warfare section, $29,000,000; Quartermaster Corps, $480,000,000. Recommendations for termination of contracts, the Secretary said, aggregated approximately $2,613,000,000. Some of the larger contracts canceled were as follows: Powder and explosives, $275,000,000; artillery and ammunition, $750,000,000; rifles and machine guns, $53,000,000; motor vehicles, $282,000,000; textiles, $264,000,000; airplane parts, $256,000,000; gas-defense equipment, $130,000,000; iron and steel products and railway materials, $53,000,000; construction division materials and facilities, $150,000,000.

Assistant Postmaster General Blakelee explained to the Post-Office Committee the plans of the department for reducing the high cost of living by extending rural parcel post through the use of motor trucks, bringing the farmer and the consumer together.

FREE LIST SUSPENDED.

Hereafter no copies of the Official U. S. Bulletin will be furnished free except to executive officers of the United States Government, and to diplomatic representatives of all foreign Governments.

TARIFF BOARD INVESTIGATIONS REVIEWED IN ANNUAL REPORT

The United States Tariff Commission authorizes the following:

The annual report of the United States Tariff Commission for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918, gives a comprehensive review of the various investigations being made by the commission.

One of the most important tasks of the commission is the preparation of its tariff information catalogue, which includes data for each commodity mentioned in the tariff law. These data cover methods and processes of manufacture, nature, and source of supply of materials, production, and trade figures, competitive conditions, in this country and in foreign countries so far as information is available. There are appended to the report catalogues of certain commodities to illustrate the general character of the work. While most of the information thus gathered is kept in the files of the commission, separate reports have been published on silk, buttons, glass, surgical instruments, brushes, and dyes. Others to be issued in the near future deal with sugar, cotton goods, agricultural products, and several kinds of chemicals.

Special Report.

Changes recommended in the customs administrative laws with a view to their codification and simplification were made the subject of a report submitted to the Committee on Ways and Means in August, 1918.

Another important study of the commission deals with the establishment of free zones in ports, as alternative to the existing systems of bonded warehouses and other agencies for the clearing of imported merchandise.

Unfair foreign competition in American markets, particularly that form known as "dumping," is discussed in a forthcoming report.

International Aspects of Tariff.

Special attention has also been given to the international aspects of the tariff. The subjects covered by the investigations of the commission under this head are reciprocity, tariff treaties, and the most-favored-nation clause; the preferential tariff systems of the self-governing dominions of the British Empire; the colonial tariff systems of France, Germany, Italy, and certain other European countries; the tariff, treaty systems, and trade of the East, especially Japan and China, and a digest of all commercial treaties in force between the nations of the world in 1914.

Import Rules Modified On African Cocoa Beans

RESTRICTION ON IMPORTATION OF COCOA BEANS FROM AFRICA MODIFIED.

The War Trade Board announces in a new ruling (W. T. B. R. 371) that they will consider applications for licenses to import cocoa beans, in an amount not to exceed 800 tons, coming from the west coast of Africa on the S. S. C. C. Mengel. Allocation will be made by the War Trade Board.

LARGER SHIPMENTS OF SUPPLIES TO STRICKEN EUROPEAN AREAS DUE TO INCREASED CARGO SPACE

FASTER RAIL MOVEMENT BEGUN

Three-Day Schedule Between Chicago and New York Inaugurated—War Materials on Piers to Be Sent to Warehouses.

According to the report of the exports control committee for the week ended November 25, made public by the Director General of Railroads, owing to the large amount of ocean space available for the clearance of frozen beef and provisions, the rail movement has been placed on a three-day schedule—Chicago to New York. This arrangement will contribute materially to the relief work now being done by this Government in the stricken European areas. Eighty cars of frozen beef were on hand at the terminals the morning of the 26th as against 204 cars on Monday the 25th. All the cars are in process of delivery.

The storage of supplies of war materials intended for the use of the allied nations will release valuable pier space much needed for other traffic. Considerable freight for the account of the British, French, and Italian Governments on hand at terminals and in transit, and not needed abroad, will be sent to the various storage houses. These commodities include automobile trucks, barbed wire, empty projectiles, and shells and lumber.

286 Cars for Belgian Relief.

The Belgian Relief Commission has 286 cars of provisions on hand which will be delivered to steamers promptly.

The freight on hand for River Plata points is somewhat improved, there being a slight increase in tonnage allocated. To that degree the issuance of permits has been resumed on essential commodities.

The total arrivals of freight cars at the North Atlantic ports during the week mentioned were 12,009 as against 12,285 delivered, making an excess of deliveries over receipts at these ports of 276 cars.

There was also a decrease in the amount of freight on hand at South Atlantic and Gulf ports for the week ended November 21 of 153 cars. During the week the Southern Export committee issued permits covering a total of 951 cars of grain, cotton, steel rails, wire, etc., from interior points to Galveston, New Orleans, Mobile, and Savannah.

Held Up at Ports.

At the port of New York 37 cars of Russian rails which have been on ground storage have been disposed of, while 200 cars of billets have been ordered to the Erie Railroad for unloading on the ground at their terminals. Most of the commodities held in cars and on piers other than recent arrivals are temporarily held up, awaiting definite decision from the allied Governments as to their final disposition.

At the port of Savannah, Ga., there is an accumulation of approximately 90,000 bales of cotton on the terminals, with six ships in port taking on cargoes, including

Nominations of Postmasters

The following nominations to be postmasters were sent to the Senate December 8:

Alabama: William K. Cooper, Northport; Joseph H. Read, Bessemer.
Arkansas: Lucy G. Pullen, Foreman; T. W. Sparks, Harrisburg; Robert H. Smiley, Hot Springs; Levi N. Douglas, Trumann; Alvin G. Stamps, Earl; Isaac G. Ritchie, Hardy; Thomas L. Smith, Lepanto.
California: Nelson R. Peirl, Portola.
Colorado: Vivian Sadler, Cheyenne Wells; Dwight Cline, La Salle; Edward M. Robinson, Wray.
Connecticut: Henrietta H. Burr, Baltic; Raymond E. Allen, Danielson.
Florida: Alexander J. Burnham, Bushnell; Edwin E. Williams, Passagrille; Henry A. Drake, Port St. Joe.
Delaware: Rhubert R. German, Delmar; Alfred L. Cummins, Smyrna; James J. English, Wilmington.
Georgia: Henry M. Miller, Colquitt; Walter W. Daves, Cartersville; Ellen White, Fort Screven; Robert E. Barfield, Hahira; Oscar O. Owens, Moultrie; Robert H. Wheloss, Nashville; Julian E. Hart, Sylvania; Wiley M. Rogers, Union City.
Illinois: George H. Franzen, Fairbury; Walter V. Barry, Irving; David R. Bennett, Panama; Benjamin R. Croxen, Peotone; Charles C. Clymore, Vienna; John H. Henson, Xenia; Peter C. Burrus, Bluffs; Inez M. Garrison, Flanagan; Owen C. McCartney, Hamilton; Blanche V. Anderson, Leland; Edward W. Childe, Martinsville; William J. West, 70,000 bales of cotton. One additional steamer is due within the next two weeks, which will practically clean up all export cotton. There is very little activity in connection with the handling of export business at the port of Mobile. The tie-up of the Munson Line reported last week on account of labor troubles at Habana has been removed and four steamers are scheduled to call at Mobile for Cuban cargoes during December. Only two ships with European cargoes other than grain cleared at the port of New Orleans during the week. As a result the accumulation of export freight has slightly increased. The Osaka Shoson Steamship Line recently arranged for a steamer to call at New Orleans during November, February, and April to take on cotton cargoes for movement to Japan via Panama.

Grain In Elevators.

For the week ended November 21, there were 391,470 tons of grain in elevators at the North Atlantic ports, while 98,340 tons had cleared. For the same period there were stored in elevators at the Gulf ports 265,076 tons of grain, while 23,074 tons had been cleared.

The situation in the Puget Sound district shows a net increase of 167 cars on hand over last week and an excess of arrivals over deliveries of 189 cars. The cars on wheels increased to the extent of 61 cars, while cars in storage increased 128 cars. There was a decrease of 22 cars held out on line.

For the same period the San Francisco district shows a net increase of 13 cars on hand, the increase in cars on wheels being 19, in storage 1, while there was a decrease of 7 cars in ground storage. There is also an excess of 13 cars in arrivals over deliveries. This increase is due to the commandeering by the Government of Pacific mail boats and to the order of the Netherlands government to give priority to Java freight on Java Pacific boats.

200,000 SHIPPING JOBS READY FOR SOLDIERS LEAVING CAMPS

Men Awaiting Demobilization
Will Be Furnished Information as to Places Open.

The United States Shipping Board authorizes the following:

Plans were agreed upon yesterday by the United States Shipping Board and the War Department, by which men of the selective Army now in camp awaiting demobilization are to be given official information of jobs in shipyards and in the crews of merchant vessels that will be awaiting them when they lay aside their uniforms.

This arrangement is the first definite step in a big program, approved by the War Department, which paves the way for selective soldiers in the period of readjustment following their military service, to secure permanent and well-paid employment.

There are now 1,700,000 men in the 31 military camps in this country, a considerable number of whom are skilled mechanics, while others are sailors or boatmen, or landsmen with a liking for the sea that will make service in merchant crews agreeable to them.

Plans for employing these men in shipyards and at sea, when worked out by the Shipping Board, received prompt encouragement by the War Department, and are confirmed in a general order just issued by Roy H. Harper, Adjutant General of the Army, directing the commanders of camps and military posts to take active part in placing before the soldiers the merchant marine's need of men.

200,000 Places Available.

It is estimated that 200,000 jobs in shipyards and merchant crews will be available to the released soldiers in the next few months.

Details for placing information about these jobs officially before the men in camp are provided for in the War Department's orders.

The Shipping Board will send to each camp a committee of three special agents, representing respectively its industrial relations division, the merchant marine recruiting service, and the combined employment services of the shipyards.

Each committee will be officially received, and will have an officer assigned to assist it in its work. Statements prepared by the Shipping Board's representatives will be issued in each camp under authority of the commanding officer, in forms suited to reaching all the men in the camp with the Shipping Board's message of sure jobs and good pay when the even tenor of camp routine gives way to the uncertainties of renewed civil life.

The Shipping Board's agents will also be permitted to speak to meetings of the soldiers, and to exhibit at soldier gatherings motion-picture films showing the details of modern shipyard work, and various picturesque phases of sea-going in the new Merchant Marine.

No actual recruiting will be done at the camps. The men will be supplied with information, by the means described, and through personal interviews, of men specially interested, with the Shipping Board's representatives. It is not expected that the information supplied will

REPORT OF FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION TO CONGRESS CONCERNING RESALE PRICES

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION,
Washington, December 2, 1918.

TO THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES:

The Federal Trade Commission, under paragraph (f), section 6. of the Federal Trade Commission act, addresses the Congress by way of a special report designed to direct attention to the subject of control of resale prices by the manufacturers of a class of articles in interstate commerce.

The question is whether or not a manufacturer of standard articles, identified either by trade-mark or trade practice, should be permitted to fix by contract, express or implied, the price at which the purchaser can resell them.

The question has been continuously before the commission since its creation. It has been the subject of study, investigation, and hearing and constantly recurs, in various forms, in complaints filed with the commission by business concerns.

The Supreme Court has made it clear that in the present state of the law the maintenance of a resale price by the producer is a restraint of trade and is unlawful.

Such being the judgment of the Supreme Court, the Federal Trade Commission has enforced the law, even though it may have appeared to operate inequitably in some cases. In its enforcement of this rule the commission has been mindful that the cutting of a recognized resale price on well-established and identified articles has been at times indulged in for unfair trade purposes. When so unfairly used such price cutting is attempted to be cloaked as lawful competition and justified by the Supreme Court decisions.

Thus both price maintenance and price cutting under certain conditions are found to be unfair and business men are perplexed. It is with the desire that this perplexity may be terminated that the commission addresses the Congress.

It is urged, and the commission believes, with reason, that it would be unwise to vest with the manufacturers of articles the right, without check or review, both to fix and to compel the maintenance of resale prices. It is true that business practice inclines producers to fix the lowest possible retail price in order to secure the greatest possible sale of their product, but in the complex commercial organism functioning between the production of an article and its final sale for actual consumption both the wholesale and retail merchant are entitled to just compensation for useful service performed.

It is similarly urged that manufacturers should be protected in their good will created by years of fair dealing and of sustained quality of merchandise. The consuming public does not enjoy benefits by unfair price cutting to compensate it for the injuries following demoralization caused by price cutting. This for the reason that, in the long run, unrestrained price cutting tends to impair, if not to destroy, the production and distribution of articles desirable to the public.

There must be a common ground wherein the rights of producer, purveyor, and consumer may each be fully secured and equity done to all. The search for such a ground has been a task of the commission and results in the following conclusions:

(1) That producers of identified goods should be protected in their intangible property right or good will.

(2) That the unlimited power both to fix and to enforce and maintain a resale price may not be made lawful with safety.

(3) That unrestrained price cutting is not in the public interest.

Bills now pending before Congress may well be made to meet the difficulties of the situation if amended to provide for a review of the terms of resale contracts and a revision of resale prices by a disinterested agency. Therefore, it is recommended that it be provided by law that if the manufacturer of an article produced and sold under competitive conditions, desires to fix and maintain resale prices, he shall file with an agency designated by the Congress, a description of such article, the contract of sale and the price schedule which he proposes to maintain, and that the agency designated by the Congress be charged with the duty, either upon its own initiative or upon complaint of any dealer or consumer or other party in interest, to review the terms of such contract and to revise such prices, and that any data and information needful for a determination be made available to such agency.

Such legislation would seem to be in accord with the spirit of the times in that it is designed, by removing this perplexity, to promote the efficiency of manufacturing and commercial institutions and so to serve the interest of the consuming public.

Respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM B. COLVER,
JOHN FRANKLIN FORT,
VICTOR MURDOCK,
Commissioners.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION ANNOUNCES EXAMINATIONS

The United States Civil Service Commission announces open competitive examinations as follows:

LIST No. 1. Examinations of the non-assembled type, that is, those in which competitors are not assembled for scholastic tests but are rated upon the subjects of education, training, and experience, and corroborative evidence. Applications for these examinations are accepted at any time:

Statistical draftsman, Quartermaster General's Office.

LIST No. 2. Examinations of the non-assembled type, for which applications must be filed by the dates specified:

Assistant in cotton business methods, Department of Agriculture, December 21.

Assistant in cotton testing, Department of Agriculture, December 21.

Investigator in agricultural insurance, Department of Agriculture, December 21.

LIST No. 3. Examinations in which competitors will be assembled for scholastic tests:

File clerk, departmental service, December 11.

Lay inspector, grade 1, Department of Agriculture, December 11, January 22, and February 19.

Veterinarian, Department of Agriculture, December 11, January 22, and February 19.

Assistant observer, Weather Bureau, January 8 and February 5.

Full information and application blanks may be obtained by addressing the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C., or the civil-service district secretary at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Paul, St. Louis, New Orleans, Seattle, or San Francisco.

The close of receipt of applications for extension poultry husbandman under the Department of Agriculture, for expert aid and for supervising engineer under the Navy Department, and for the following-named positions under the Construction Division of the War Department, has been announced: Blue-print file clerk, senior civil engineer, refrigerating engineer, construction engineer, planning expert, inspector of mechanical or electrical equipment, inspector of structural steel, architect, structural designer, architectural designer, senior structural draftsman, senior architectural draftsman, junior structural draftsman, junior architectural draftsman, architectural tracer, assistant to purchaser of supplies, chief of survey party, transitman, levelman, rodman, chainman, draftsman (topographic), exterior expeditor, interior expeditor, assistant interior expeditor.

LIME FOR FERTILIZING SOIL.

The United States Department of Agriculture calls the attention of farmers to the fact that they are now free to buy all the lime needed for fertilizing their soil, unless the State director of extension or other State agricultural official finds it necessary to exercise control of purchases. The new conditions result from modification by the War Industries Board of its Circular No. 9, which covered the use of lime for agricultural purposes, and which required farmers to apply for permits when they wished to buy more than 1 ton of agricultural lime in a year.

Summary by Gen. Pershing of U. S. Operations in France From May 26, 1917, Until the Signing of the Armistice, As Made Public by Secretary of War in Annual Report

As an appendix to his annual report the Secretary of War has made public the following report by Gen. Pershing of the organization and operations of the American Expeditionary Forces:

NOVEMBER 20, 1918.

MY DEAR MR. SECRETARY:

In response to your request, I have the honor to submit this brief summary of the organization and operations of the American Expeditionary Force from May 26, 1917, until the signing of the armistice November 11, 1918. Pursuant to your instructions, immediately upon receiving my orders I selected a small staff and proceeded to Europe in order to become familiar with conditions at the earliest possible moment.

The warmth of our reception in England and France was only equaled by the readiness of the commanders in chief of the veteran armies of the allies and their staffs to place their experience at our disposal. In consultation with them the most effective means of cooperation of effort was considered. With French and British armies at their maximum strength, and all efforts to dispossess the enemy from his firmly entrenched positions in Belgium and France failed, it was necessary to plan for an American force adequate to turn the scale in favor of the allies. Taking account of the strength of the central powers at that time, the immensity of the problem which confronted us could hardly be overestimated. The first requisite being an organization that could give intelligent direction to effort, the formation of a General Staff occupied my early attention.

The General Staff.

A well organized General Staff through which the commander exercises his functions is essential to a successful modern army. However capable our division, our battalion, and our companies as such, success would be impossible without thoroughly coordinated endeavor. A General Staff broadly organized and trained for war had not hitherto existed in our Army. Under the Commander in Chief this staff must carry out the policy and direct the details of administration, supply, preparation, and operations of the Army as a whole, with all special branches and bureaus subject to its control. As models to aid us we had the veteran French General Staff and the experience of the British, who had similarly formed an organization to meet the demands of a great army. By selecting from each the features best adapted to our basic organization, and fortified by our own early experience in the war, the development of our great General Staff system was completed.

Divided Into Five Groups.

The General Staff is naturally divided into five groups, each with its chief, who is an assistant of the Chief of the General Staff. G. 1 is in charge of organization and equipment of troops, replacements, tonnage, priority of overseas shipment, the auxiliary welfare association and cognate subjects; G. 2 has censorship, enemy intelligence, gathering and disseminating information, preparation of maps, and all similar subjects; G. 3 is charged with all strategic studies and plans, movement of troops, and the supervision of combat operations; G. 4 coordinates important questions of supply, construction, transport arrangements for combat, and of the operations of the service of supply, and of hospitalization and the evacuation of the sick and wounded; G. 5 supervises the various schools and has general direction and coordination of education and training.

The first Chief of Staff was Col. (now Maj. Gen.) James G. Harbord, who was succeeded in March, 1918, by Maj. Gen. James W. McAndrew. To these officers, to the Deputy Chief of Staff, and to the assistant Chiefs of Staff, who, as heads of sections, aided them, great credit is due for the results obtained not only in perfecting the General Staff organization, but in applying correct principles to the multiplicity of problems that have arisen.

Organization and Training.

After a thorough consideration of allied organizations it was decided that our combat division should consist of four regiments of Infantry of 3,000 men, with three battalions to regiment and four companies of 250 men each to a battalion, and of an Artillery brigade of three regiments, a machine-gun battalion, an engineer regiment, a trench-mortar battery, a signal battalion, wagon trains, and the headquarters staffs and military police. These, with medical and other units, made a total of over 28,000 men, or practically double the size of a French or German division. Each corps would normally consist of six divisions—four combat and one depot and one replacement division—and also two regiments of cavalry, and each army of from three to five corps. With four divisions fully trained, a corps could take over an American sector with two divisions in line and two in reserve, with the depot and replacement divisions prepared to fill the gaps in the ranks.

Our purpose was to prepare an integral American force which should be able to take the offensive in every respect. Accordingly, the development of a self-reliant infantry by thorough drill in the use of the rifle and in the tactics of open warfare was always uppermost. The plan of training after arrival in France allowed a division one month for acclimatization and instruction in small units from battalions down, a second month in quiet trench sectors by battalion, and a third month after it came out of the trenches when it should be trained as a complete division in war of movement.

School System Started.

Very early a system of schools was outlined and started, which should have the advantage of instruction by officers direct from the front. At the great school center at Langres, one of the first to be organized, was the staff school, where the principles of general staff work, as laid down in our own organization were taught to carefully selected officers. Men in the ranks, who had shown qualities of leadership, were sent to the school of candidates for commissions. A school of the line taught younger officers the principles of leadership, tactics, and the use of the different weapons. In the artillery school, at Saumur, young officers were taught the fundamental principles of modern artillery; while at Issoudun an immense plant was built for training cadets in aviation. These and other schools, with their well-considered curriculums for training in every branch of our organization, were coordinated in a manner best to develop an efficient Army out of willing and industrious young men, many of whom had not before known even the rudiments of military technique. Both Marshal Haig and Gen. Petain placed officers and men at our disposal for instructional purposes, and we are deeply indebted for the opportunities given to profit by their veteran experience.

The American Zone.

The eventual place the American Army should take on the western front was to a large extent influenced by the vital questions of communication and supply. The northern ports of France were crowded by the British armies' shipping and supplies while the southern ports, though otherwise at our service, had not adequate port facilities for our purposes and these we should have to build. The already overtaxed railway system behind the active front in northern France would not be available for us as lines of supply and those leading from the southern ports of northeastern France would be unequal to our needs without much new construction. Practically all warehouses, supply depots, and regulating stations must be provided by fresh constructions. While France offered us such material as she had to spare after a drain of three years, enormous quantities of material had to be brought across the Atlantic.

With such a problem any temporization or lack of definiteness in making plans might cause failure even with victory within our grasp. Moreover, broad plans commensurate with our national purpose and resources would bring conviction of our power to every soldier in the front line, to the nations associated with us in the war, and to the enemy. The tonnage for material for necessary construction for the supply of an army of three and perhaps four million men would require a mammoth program of shipbuilding at home, and miles of dock construction in France, with a corresponding large project for additional railways and for storage depots.

Selection of Ports.

All these considerations led to the inevitable conclusion that if we were to handle and supply the great forces deemed essential to win the war we must utilize the southern ports of France—

Summary by Gen. Pershing of U. S. Operations in France

Bordeaux, La Pallice, St. Nazaire, and Brest—and the comparatively unused railway systems leading therefrom to the northeast. Generally speaking, then, this would contemplate the use of our forces against the enemy somewhere in that direction, but the great depots of supply must be centrally located, preferably in the area included by Tours, Bourges, and Chateauroux, so that our armies could be supplied with equal facility wherever they might be serving on the western front.

Growth of the Service of Supply.

To build up such a system there were talented men in the Regular Army, but more experts were necessary than the Army could furnish. Thanks to the patriotic spirit of our people at home, there came from civil life men trained for every sort of work involved in building and managing the organization necessary to handle and transport such an army and keep it supplied. With such assistance the construction and general development of our plans have kept pace with the growth of the forces, and the Service of Supply is now able to discharge from ships and move 45,000 tons daily, besides transporting troops and material in the conduct of active operations.

As to organization, all the administrative and supply services, except The Adjutant General's, Inspector General's, and Judge Advocate General's Departments which remain at general headquarters, have been transferred to the headquarters of the services of supplies at Tours under a commanding general responsible to the commander in chief for supply of the armies. The Chief Quartermaster, Chief Surgeon, Chief Signal Officer, Chief of Ordnance, Chief of Air Service, Chief of Chemical Warfare, the general purchasing agent in all that pertains to questions of procurement and supply, the Provost Marshal General in the maintenance of order in general, the Director General of Transportation in all that affects such matters, and the Chief Engineer in all matters of administration and supply, are subordinate to the Commanding General of the Service of Supply, who, assisted by a staff especially organized for the purpose, is charged with the administrative coordination of all these services.

Transportation Department.

The transportation department under the Service of Supply directs the operation, maintenance, and construction of railways, the operation of terminals, the unloading of ships, and transportation of material to warehouses or to the front. Its functions make necessary the most intimate relationship between our organization and that of the French, with the practical result that our transportation department has been able to improve materially the operations of railways generally. Constantly laboring under a shortage of rolling stock, the transportation department has nevertheless been able by efficient management to meet every emergency.

The Engineer Corps is charged with all construction, including light railways and roads. It has planned and constructed the many projects required, the most important of which are the new wharves at Bordeaux and Nantes, and the immense storage depots at La Pallice, Montoir, and Gievres, besides innumerable hospitals and barracks in various parts of France. These projects have all been carried on by phases keeping pace with our needs. The Forestry Service under the Engineer Corps has cut the greater part of the timber and railway ties required.

Coordination of Purchases.

To meet the shortage of supplies from America, due to lack of shipping, the representatives of the different supply departments were constantly in search of available material and supplies in Europe. In order to coordinate these purchases and to prevent competition between our departments, a general purchasing agency was created early in our experience to coordinate our purchases and, if possible, induce our allies to apply the principle among the allied armies. While there was no authority for the general use of appropriations, this was met by grouping the purchasing representatives of the different departments under one control, charged with the duty of consolidating requisitions and purchases. Our efforts to extend the principle have been signally successful, and all purchases for the allied armies are now on an equitable and cooperative basis. Indeed, it may be said that the work of this bureau has been thoroughly efficient and businesslike.

Artillery, Airplanes, and Tanks.

Our entry into the war found us with few of the auxiliaries necessary for its conduct in the modern sense. Among our most important deficiencies in material were artillery, aviation, and tanks. In order to meet our requirements as rapidly as possible, we accepted the offer of the French Government to provide us with the necessary artillery equipment of seventy-fives, one fifty-five millimeter howitzers, and one fifty-five G P F guns from their own factories for 30 divisions. The wisdom of this course is fully demonstrated by the fact that, although we soon began the manufacture of these classes of guns at home, there were no guns of the calibers mentioned manufactured in America on our front at the date the armistice was signed. The only guns of these types produced at home thus far received in France are 109 seventy-five millimeter guns.

In aviation we were in the same situation, and here again the French Government came to our aid until our own aviation program should be under way. We obtained from the French the necessary planes for training our personnel, and they have provided us with a total of 2,676 pursuit, observation, and bombing planes. The first airplanes received from home arrived in May, and altogether we have received 1,379. The first American squadron completely equipped by American production, including airplanes, crossed the German lines on August 7, 1918. As to tanks, we were also compelled to rely upon the French. Here, however, we were less fortunate, for the reason that the French production could barely meet the requirements of their own armies.

It should be fully realized that the French Government has always taken a most liberal attitude and has been most anxious to give us every possible assistance in meeting our deficiencies in these as well as in other respects. Our dependence upon France for artillery, aviation, and tanks was, of course, due to the fact that our industries had not been exclusively devoted to military production. All credit is due our own manufacturers for their efforts to meet our requirements, as at the time the armistice was signed we were able to look forward to the early supply of practically all our necessities from our own factories.

The welfare of the troops touches my responsibility as commander in chief to the mothers and fathers and kindred of the men who came to France in the impressionable period of youth. They could not have the privilege accorded European soldiers during their periods of leave of visiting their families and renewing their home ties. Fully realizing that the standard of conduct that should be established for them must have a permanent influence in their lives and on the character of their future citizenship, the Red Cross, the Young Men's Christian Association, Knights of Columbus, the Salvation Army, and the Jewish Welfare Board, as auxiliaries in this work, were encouraged in every possible way. The fact that our soldiers, in a land of different customs and language, have borne themselves in a manner in keeping with the cause for which they fought, is due not only to the efforts in their behalf but much more to their other high ideals, their discipline, and their innate sense of self-respect. It should be recorded, however, that the members of these welfare societies have been untiring in their desire to be of real service to our officers and men. The patriotic devotion of these representative men and women has given a new significance to the Golden Rule, and we owe to them a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid.

Combat Operations.

During our periods of training in the trenches some of our divisions had engaged the enemy in local combats, the most important of which was Seicheprey by the 26th on April 20, in the Toul sector, but none had participated in action as a unit. The 1st Division, which had passed through the preliminary stages of training, had gone to the trenches for its first period of instruction at the end of October, and by March 21, when the German offensive in Picardy began, we had four divisions with experience in the trenches, all of which were equal to any demands of battle action. The crisis which this offensive developed was such that our occupation of an American sector must be postponed.

On March 28 I placed at the disposal of Marshal Foch, who had been agreed upon as commander in chief of the allied armies, all of our forces, to be used as he might decide. At his request the 1st Division was transferred from the Toul sector to a position in reserve at Chaumont en Vexin. As German superiority in numbers required prompt action, an agreement was reached at the Abbeville conference of the allied premiers and commanders and myself on May 2 by which British shipping was to transport 10 American divisions to the British Army, area, where they were to be trained and equipped, and additional British shipping was to be provided for as many divisions as possible for use elsewhere.

First Division in Picardy.

On April 26 the 1st Division had gone into the line in the Montdidier salient on the Picardy battle front. Tactics had been suddenly revolutionized to those of open warfare, and our men, confident of the results of their training, were eager for the test. On the morning of May 28 this division attacked the commanding German position in its front, taking with splendid dash the town of Cantigny and all other objectives, which were organized and held steadfastly against vicious counterattacks and galling artillery fire. Although local, this brilliant action had an electrical effect, as it demonstrated our fighting qualities under extreme battle conditions, and also that the enemy's troops were not altogether invincible.

The Germans' Aisne offensive, which began on May 27, had advanced rapidly toward the River Marne and Paris, and the allies faced a crisis equally as grave as that of the Picardy offensive in March. Again every available man was placed at Marshal Foch's disposal, and the 3d Division, which had just come from its preliminary training in the trenches, was hurried to the Marne. Its motorized machine-gun battalion preceded the other units and successfully held the bridgehead at the Marne, opposite Chateau Thierry. The 2d Division, in reserve near Montdidier, was sent by motor trucks and other available transport to check the progress of the enemy toward Paris. The division attacked and retook the town and railroad station at Bouresches and sturdily held its ground against the enemy's best guard divisions. In the battle of Belleau Wood, which followed, our men proved their superiority and gained a strong tactical position, with far greater loss to the enemy than to ourselves. On July 1, before the 2d was relieved, it captured the village of Vaux with most splendid precision.

Meanwhile our 2d Corps, under Maj. Gen. George W. Read, had been organized for the command of our divisions with the British, which were held back in training areas or assigned to second-line defenses. Five of the ten divisions were withdrawn from the British area in June, three to relieve divisions in Lorraine and the Vosges and two to the Paris area to join the group of American divisions which stood between the city and any farther advance of the enemy in that direction.

The Chateau Thierry Fight.

The great June-July troop movement from the States was well under way, and although these troops were to be given some preliminary training before being put into action, their very presence warranted the use of all the older divisions in the confidence that we did not lack reserves. Elements of the 42d Division were in the line east of the Rheims against the German offensive of July 15, and held their ground unflinchingly. On the right flank of this offensive four companies of the 28th Division were in position in face of the advancing waves of the German infantry. The 3d Division was holding the bank of the Marne from the bend east of the mouth of the Surmelin to the west of Mezy, opposite Chateau Thierry, where a large force of German infantry sought to force a passage under support of powerful artillery concentrations and under cover of smoke screens. A single regiment of the 3d wrote one of the most brilliant pages in our military annals on this occasion. It prevented the crossing at certain points on its front while, on either flank, the Germans, who had gained a footing, pressed forward. Our men, firing in three directions, met the German attacks with counterattacks at critical points and succeeded in throwing two German divisions into complete confusion, capturing 600 prisoners.

Preparing for Offensive.

The great force of the German Chateau Thierry offensive established the deep Marne salient, but the enemy was taking chances, and the vulnerability of this pocket to attack might be turned to his disadvantage. Seizing this opportunity to support my conviction, every division with any sort of training was made available for use in a counter-offensive. The place of honor in the thrust toward Soissons on July 18 was given to our First and Second Divisions in company with chosen French divisions. Without the usual brief warning of a preliminary bombardment the massed French and American Artillery, firing by the map, laid down its rolling barrage at dawn while the Infantry began its charge. The tactical handling of our troops under these trying conditions was excellent throughout the action. The enemy brought up large numbers of reserves, and made a stubborn defense both with machine guns and artillery, but through five days' fighting the First Division continued to advance until it had gained the heights above Soissons and captured the village of Berzy-le-sec. The Second Division took Beau Repaire farm and Vierzy in a very rapid advance, and reached a position in front of Tigny at the end of its second day. These two divisions captured 7,000 prisoners and over 100 pieces of artillery.

The 26th Division, which, with a French division, was under command of our First Corps, acted as a pivot of the movement toward Soissons. On the 18th it took the village of Torcy while the 3d Division was crossing the Marne in pursuit of the retreating enemy. The 26th attacked again on the 21st, and the enemy withdrew past the Chateau Thierry-Soissons road. The 3d Division, continuing its progress, took the heights of Mont St. Pere and the villages of Chartèves and Jaulgonne in the face of both machine-gun and artillery fire.

Machine Gun Nests Overwhelmed.

On the 24th, after the Germans had fallen back from Trugny and Epieds, our 42d Division, which had been brought over from the Champagne, relieved the 26th and, fighting its way through the Forêt de Fere, overwhelmed the nest of machine guns in its path. By the 27th it had reached the Oureq, whence the 3d and 4th Divisions were already advancing, while the French divisions with which we were cooperating were moving forward at other points.

The 3d Division had made its advance into Roncheres Wood on the 29th and was relieved for rest by a brigade of the 32d. The 42d and 32d undertook the task of conquering the heights beyond Clerges, the 42d capturing Sergy and the 32d capturing Hill 230, both American divisions joining in the pursuit of the enemy to the Vesle, and thus the operation of reducing the salient was finished. Meanwhile the 42d was relieved by the 4th at Chery-Chartreuve, and the 32d by the 28th, while the 77th Division took up a position on the Vesle. The operations of these divisions on the Vesle were under the Third Corps, Maj. Gen. Robert L. Bullard, commanding.

Battle of St. Mihiel.

With the reduction of the Marne salient we could look forward to the concentration of our divisions in our own zone. In view of the forthcoming operation against the St. Mihiel salient, which had long been planned as our first offensive action on a large scale, the 1st Army was organized on August 10 under my personal command. While American units had held different divisional and corps sectors along the western front, there had not been up to this time, for obvious reasons, a distinct American sector; but, in view of the important parts the American forces were now to play, it was necessary to take over a permanent portion of the line. Accordingly, on August 30, the line beginning at Port sur Seille, east of the Moselle and extending to the west through St. Mihiel, thence north to a point opposite Verdun, was placed under my command. The American sector was afterwards extended across the Meuse to the western edge of the Argonne Forest, and included the 2d Colonial French, which held the point of the salient, and the 17th French Corps, which occupied the heights above Verdun.

The preparation for a complicated operation against the formidable defenses in front of us included the assembling of divisions and of corps and army artillery, transport, aircraft, tanks, ambulances, the location of hospitals, and the molding together of all of the elements of a great modern army with its own railheads, supplied directly by our own Service of Supply. The concentration for this operation, which was to be a surprise, involved the movement, mostly at night, of approximately 600,000 troops, and required for its success the most careful attention to every detail.

Help by the French.

The French were generous in giving us assistance in corps and army artillery, with its personnel, and we were confident from the start of our superiority over the enemy in guns of all calibers. Our heavy guns were able to reach Metz and to interfere seriously with German rail movements. The French Independent Air Force was placed under my command which, together with the British bombing squadrons and our air forces, gave us the largest assembly of aviation that had ever been engaged in one operation on the western front.

From Les Eparges around the nose of the salient at St. Mihiel to the Moselle River the line was roughly 40 miles long and situated on commanding ground greatly strengthened by artificial defenses. Our 1st Corps (82d, 90th, 5th, and 2d Divisions) under command of Maj. Gen. Hunter Liggett, restrung its right on Pont-a-Mousson, with its left joining our 3d Corps (the 89th, 42d, and 1st Divisions), under Maj. Gen. Joseph T. Dickman, in line to Xivray, were to swing in toward Vigneulles on the pivot of the Moselle River for the initial assault. From Xivray to Mouilly the 2d Colonial French Corps was in line in the center and our 5th Corps, under command of Maj. Gen. George H. Cameron, with our 26th Division and a French division at the western base of the salient, were to attack three difficult hills—Les Eparges, Combres, and Amaranthe. Our 1st Corps had in reserve the 78th Division, our 4th Corps the 3d Division, and our 1st Army the 35th and 91st Divisions, with the 80th and 83d available. It should be understood that our corps organizations are very elastic, and that we have at no time had permanent assignments of divisions to corps.

Advance of Sept. 12.

After four hours' artillery preparation, the seven American divisions in the front line advanced at 5 a. m., on September 12, assisted by a limited number of tanks manned partly by Americans and partly by the French. These divisions, accompanied by groups of wire cutters and other armed with bangalore torpedoes, went through the successive bands of barbed wire that protected the enemy's front line and support trenches, in irresistible waves on schedule time, breaking down all defense of an enemy demoralized by the great volume of our artillery fire and our sudden approach out of the fog.

Our 1st Corps advanced to Thiaucourt, while our 4th Corps curved back to the southwest through Nonsard. The 2d Colonial French Corps made the slight advance required of it on very difficult ground, and the 5th Corps took its three ridges and repulsed a counterattack. A rapid march brought reserve regiments of a division of the 5th Corps into Vigneulles in the early morning, where it linked up with patrols of our 4th Corps, closing the salient and forming a new line west of Thiaucourt to Vigneulles and beyond Fresnes-en-Woevre. At the cost of only 7,000 casualties, mostly light, we had taken 16,000 prisoners and 443 guns, a great quantity of material, released the inhabitants of many villages from enemy domination, and established our lines in a position to threaten Metz. This signal success of the American 1st Army in its first offensive was of prime importance. The allies found they had a formidable army to aid them, and the enemy learned finally that he had one to reckon with.

Meuse-Argonne Offensive, First Phase.

On the day after we had taken the St. Mihiel salient, much of our Corps and Army artillery which had operated at St. Mihiel, and our divisions in reserve at other points, were already on the move toward the area back of the line between the Meuse River and the western edge of the forest of Argonne. With the exception of St. Mihiel, the old German front line from Switzerland to the east of Rheims was still intact. In the general attack all along the line, the operation assigned the American Army as the hinge of this allied offensive was directed toward the important railroad communications of the German armies through Mézières and Sedan. The enemy must hold fast to this part of his lines or the withdrawal of his forces with four years' accumulation of plants and material would be dangerously imperiled.

The German Army had as yet shown no demoralization and, while the mass of its troops had suffered in morale, its first-class divisions and notably its machine-gun defense were exhibiting remarkable tactical efficiency as well as courage. The German general staff was fully aware of the consequences of a success on the Meuse-Argonne line. Certain that he would do everything in his power to oppose us, the action was planned with as much secrecy as possible and was undertaken with the determination to use all our divisions in forcing decision. We expected to draw the best German divisions to our front and to consume them while the enemy was held under grave apprehension lest our attack should break his line, which it was our firm purpose to do.

Right Flank Protected.

Our right flank was protected by the Meuse, while our left embraced the Argonne forest, whose ravines, hills, and elaborate defense screened by dense thickets had been generally considered impregnable. Our order of battle from right to left was the 3d Corps from the Meuse to Malancourt, with the 33d, 80th, and 4th Divisions in line, and the 3d Division as corps reserve; the 5th Corps from Malancourt to Vauquois, with 79th, 87th, and 91st Divisions in line, and the 32d in corps reserve; and the 1st Corps, from Vauquois to Vienne le Chateau, with 35th, 28th, and 77th Divisions in line, and the 92d in corps reserve. The Army reserve consisted of the 1st, 29th, and 82d Divisions.

Took Place of the French.

On the night of September 25 our troops quietly took the place of the French who thinly held the line in this sector which had long been inactive. In the attack which began on the 26th we drove through the barbed wire entanglements and the sea of shell craters across No Man's Land, mastering all the first-line defenses. Continuing on the 27th and 28th, against machine guns and artillery of an increasing number of enemy reserve divisions, we penetrated to a depth of from 3 to 7 miles, and took the village of Montfaucon and its commanding hill and Exermont, Gercourt, Culsy, Septsarges, Malancourt, Ivoiry, Epinonville, Charpentry, Very, and other villages. East of the Meuse one of our divisions, which was with the 2d Colonial French Corps, captured Marcheville and Rieville, giving further protection to the flank of our main body. We had taken 10,000 prisoners, we had gained our point of forcing the battle into the open, and were prepared for the enemy's reaction, which was bound to come, as he had good roads and ample railroad facilities for bringing up his artillery and reserves.

In the chill rain of dark nights our engineers had to build new roads across spongy, shell-torn areas, repair broken roads beyond No Man's Land, and build bridges. Our gunners, with no thought of sleep, put their shoulders to wheels and dragropes to bring their guns through the mire in support of the Infantry, now under the increasing fire of the enemy's artillery. Our attack had taken the enemy by surprise, but, quickly recovering himself, he began to fire counterattacks in strong force, supported by heavy bombardments, with large quantities of gas. From September 28 until October 4 we maintained the offensive against patches of woods defended by snipers and continuous lines of machine guns, and pushed forward our guns and transport, seizing strategic points in preparation for further attacks.

Other Units with Allies.

Other divisions attached to the allied armies were doing their part. It was the fortune of our 2d Corps, composed of the 27th and 30th Divisions, which had remained with the British, to have a place of honor in cooperation with the Australian corps on September 29 and October 1 in the assault on the Hindenburg line where the St. Quentin Canal passes through a tunnel under a ridge. The 30th Division speedily broke through the main line of defense for all its objectives, while the 27th pushed on impetuously through the main line until some of its elements reached Gouy. In the midst of the maze of trenches and shell craters and under cross-fire from machine guns the other elements fought desperately against odds. In this and in later actions, from October 6 to October 19, our 2d Corps captured over 6,000 prisoners and advanced over 13 miles. The spirit and aggressiveness of these divisions have been highly praised by the British Army commander, under whom they served.

On October 2-9 our 2d and 36th Divisions were sent to assist the French in an important attack against the old German positions before Rheims. The 2d conquered the complicated defense works on their front against a persistent defense worthy of the grimmest period of trench warfare and attacked the strongly held wooded hill of Blanc Mont, which they captured in a second assault, sweeping over it with consummate dash and skill. This division then repulsed strong counterattacks before the village and cemetery of Ste. Etienne and took the town, forcing the Germans to fall back from before Rheims and yield positions they had held since September, 1914. On October 9 the 36th Division relieved the 2d and, in its first experience under fire, withstood very severe artillery bombardment and rapidly took up the pursuit of the enemy, now retiring behind the Aisne.

Meuse-Argonne Offensive, Second Phase.

The allied progress elsewhere cheered the efforts of our men in this crucial contest as the German command threw in more and more first-class troops to stop our advance. We made steady headway in the almost impentable and strongly held Argonne Forest, for, despite this reinforcement, it was our Army that was doing the driving. Our aircraft was increasing in skill and numbers and forcing the issue, and our Infantry and Artillery were improving rapidly with each new experience. The replacements fresh from home were put into exhausted divisions with little time for training, but they had the advantage of serving beside men who knew their business and who had almost become veterans overnight. The enemy had taken every advantage of the terrain, which especially favored the defense, by a prodigal use of machine guns manned by highly-trained veterans and by using his artillery at short ranges. In the face of such strong frontal positions we should have been unable to accomplish any progress according to previously accepted standards, but I had every confidence in our aggressive tactics and the courage of our troops.

On October 4 the attack was renewed all along our front. The 3d Corps tilting to the left followed the Briulles-Cunel road; our 5th Corps took Genes while the 1st Corps advanced for over 2 miles along the irregular valley of the Aire River and in the wooded hills of the Argonne that bordered the river, used by the enemy with all his art and weapons of defense. This sort of fighting continued against an enemy striving to hold every foot of ground and whose very strong counterattacks challenged us at every point. On the 7th the 1st Corps captured Chatel-Chéhéry and continued along the river to Cornay. On the east of Meuse sector one of the two divisions cooperating with the French captured Consenvoye and the Haumont Woods. On the 9th the 5th Corps, in its progress up the Aire, took Fléville, and the 3d Corps which had continuous fighting against odds was working its way through Briulles and Cunel. On the 10th we had cleared the Argonne Forest of the enemy.

Second Army Constituted.

It was now necessary to constitute a second army, and on October 9 the immediate command of the 1st Army was turned over to Lieut. Gen. Hunter Liggett. The command of the 2d Army, whose divisions occupied a sector in the Woivre, was given to Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Bullard, who had been commander of the 1st Division and then of the 3d Corps. Maj. Gen. Dickman was transferred to the command of the 1st Corps, while the 5th Corps was placed under Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, who had recently commanded the 1st Division. Maj. Gen. John L. Hines, who had gone rapidly up from regimental to division commander, was assigned to the 3d Corps. These four officers had been in France from the early days of the expedition and had learned their lessons in the school of practical warfare.

Our constant pressure against the enemy brought day by day more prisoners, mostly survivors from machine-gun nests captured in fighting at close quarters. On October 18 there was very fierce fighting in the Cruces Woods east of the Meuse and in the Ormont Woods. On the 14th the 1st Corps took St. Juvin, and the 5th Corps, in hand-to-hand encounters, entered the formidable Kriemhilde line, where the enemy had hoped to check us indefinitely. Later the 5th Corps penetrated farther the Kriemhilde line, and the 1st Corps took Champigneulle and the important town of Grandpre. Our dogged offensive was wearing down the enemy, who continued desperately to throw his best troops against us, thus weakening his line in front of our allies and making their advance less difficult.

Divisions in Belgium.

Meanwhile we were not only able to continue the battle, but our 37th and 91st Divisions were hastily withdrawn from our front and dispatched to help the French Army in Belgium. Detraining in the neighborhood of Ypres, these divisions advanced by rapid stages to the fighting line and were assigned to adjacent French corps. On October 31, in continuation of the Flanders offensive, they attacked and methodically broke down all enemy resistance. On November 3 the 37th had completed its mission in dividing the enemy across the Escaut River and firmly established itself along the east bank included in the division zone of action. By a clever flanking movement troops of the 91st Division captured Spitaals Bosschen, a difficult wood extending across the central part of the division sector, reached the Escaut, and penetrated into the town of Audenarde. These divisions received high commendation from their corps commanders for their dash and energy.

Meuse-Argonne—Last Phase.

On the 23d the 3d and 5th Corps pushed northward to the level of Bantheville. While we continued to press forward and throw back the enemy's violent counterattacks with great loss to him, a regrouping of our forces was under way for the final assault. Evidences of loss of morale by the enemy gave our men more confidence in attack and more fortitude in enduring the fatigue of incessant effort and the hardships of very inclement weather.

With comparatively well-rested divisions, the final advance in the Meuse-Argonne front was begun on November 1. Our increased artillery force acquitted itself magnificently in support of the advance, and the enemy broke before the determined infantry, which, by its persistent fighting of the past weeks and the dash of this attack, had overcome his will to resist. The 3d Corps took Ahreville, Doulecon, and Andevanne, and the 5th Corps took Landres et St. Georges and pressed through successive lines of resistance to Bayonville and Chennery. On the 2d the 1st Corps joined in the movement, which now became an impetuous onslaught that could not be stayed.

Forward in Pursuit.

On the 3d advance troops surged forward in pursuit, some by motor trucks, while the artillery pressed along the country roads close behind. The 1st Corps reached Authe and Chatillon-Sur-Bar, the 5th Corps, Fosse and Nouart, and the 3d Corps Hailles, penetrating the enemy's line to a depth of 12 miles. Our large caliber guns had advanced and were skillfully brought into position to fire upon the important lines at Montmedy, Longuyon, and Confians. Our 3d Corps crossed the Meuse on the 5th and the other corps, in the full confidence that the day was theirs, eagerly cleared the way of machine guns as they swept northward, maintaining complete coordination throughout. On the 6th a division of the 1st Corps reached a point on the Meuse opposite Sedan, 25 miles from our line of departure. The strategical goal which was our highest hope was gained. We had cut the enemy's main line of communications, and nothing but surrender or an armistice could save his army from complete disaster.

In all 40 enemy divisions had been used against us in the Meuse-Argonne battle. Between September 26 and November 6 we took 26,659 prisoners and 468 guns on this front. Our divisions engaged were the 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 26th, 28th, 29th, 32d, 33d, 35th, 37th, 42d, 77th, 78th, 79th, 80th, 82d, 89th, 90th, and 91st. Many of our divisions remained in line for a length of time that required nerves of steel, while others were sent in again after only a few days of rest. The 1st, 5th, 26th, 42d, 77th, 80th, 89th, and 90th were in the line twice. Although some of the divisions were fighting their first battle, they soon became equal to the best.

Operations East of the Meuse.

On the three days preceding November 10, the 3d, the 2d Colonial, and the 17th French Corps fought a difficult struggle through the Meuse Hills south of Stenay, and forced the enemy into the plain. Meanwhile, my plans for further use of the American forces contemplated an advance between the Meuse and the Moselle in the direction of Longwy by the 1st Army, while at the same time the 2d Army should assure the offensive toward the rich coal fields of Briey. These operations were to be followed by an offensive toward Chateau-Salins east of the Moselle, thus isolating Metz. Accordingly, attacks on the American front had been ordered, and that of the 2d Army was in progress on the morning of November 11, when instructions were received that hostilities should cease at 11 o'clock a. m.

At this moment the line of the American sector, from right to left, began at Port-Sur-Seille, thence across the Moselle to Vandieres and through the Woivre to Bezouvaux in the foothills of the Meuse, thence along to the foothills and through the northern edge of the Woivre forests to the Meuse at Mouzay, thence along the Meuse connecting with the French under Sedan.

Relations with the Allies.

Cooperation among the allies has at all times been most cordial. A far greater effort has been put forth by the allied armies and staffs to assist us than could have been expected. The French Government and Army have always stood ready to furnish us with supplies, equipment, and transportation and to aid us in every way. In the towns and hamlets wherever our troops have been stationed or billeted the French people have everywhere received them more as relatives and intimate friends than as soldiers of a foreign army. For these things words are quite inadequate to express our gratitude. There can be no doubt that the relations growing out of our associations here assure a permanent friendship between the two peoples. Although we have not been so intimately associated with the people of Great Britain, yet their troops and ours when thrown together have always warmly fraternized. The reception of those of our forces who have passed through England and of those who have been stationed there has always been enthusiastic. Altogether it has been deeply impressed upon us that the ties of language and blood bring the British and ourselves together completely and inseparably.

Strength in Europe.

There are in Europe altogether, including a regiment and some sanitary units with the Italian Army and the organizations at Murmansk, also including those en route from the States, approximately 2,053,347 men, less our losses. Of this total there are in France 1,338,169 combatant troops. Forty divisions have arrived, of which the Infantry personnel of 10 have been used as replacements, leaving 30 divisions now in France organized into 3 armies of 3 corps each.

The losses of the Americans up to November 18 are: Killed and wounded, 36,145; died of disease, 14,811; deaths unclassified, 2,204; wounded, 179,625; prisoners, 2,163; missing, 1,160. We have captured about 44,000 prisoners and 1,400 guns, howitzers, and trench mortars.

Commendation.

The duties of the General Staff, as well as those of the Army and corps staffs, have been very ably performed. Especially is this true when we consider the new and difficult problems with which they have been confronted. This body of officers, both as individuals and as an organization, have, I believe, no superiors in professional ability, in efficiency, or in loyalty.

Nothing that we have in France better reflects the efficiency and devotion to duty of Americans in general than the service of supply whose personnel is thoroughly imbued with a patriotic desire to do its full duty. They have at all times fully appreciated their responsibility to the rest of the Army and the results produced have been most gratifying.

Our Medical Corps is especially entitled to praise for the general effectiveness of its work both in hospital and at the front. Embracing men of high professional attainments, and splendid women devoted to their calling and untiring in their efforts, this department has made a new record for medical and sanitary proficiency.

The Quartermaster Department has had difficult and various tasks, but it has more than met all demands that have been made upon it. Its management and its personnel have been exceptionally efficient and deserve every possible commendation.

As to the more technical services, the able personnel of the Ordnance Department in France has splendidly fulfilled its functions both in procurement and in forwarding the immense quantities of ordnance required. The officers and men and the young women of the Signal Corps have performed their duties with a large conception of the problem and with a devoted and patriotic spirit to which the perfection of our communications daily testify. While the Engineer Corps has been referred to in another part of this report, it should be further stated that the work has required large vision and high professional skill, and great credit is due their personnel for the high proficiency that they have constantly maintained.

Praise for Aviators.

Our aviators have no equals in daring or in fighting ability and have left a record of courageous deeds that will ever remain a brilliant page in the annals of our Army. While the Tank Corps has had limited opportunities its personnel has responded gallantly on every possible occasion and has shown courage of the highest order.

The Adjutant General's Department has been directed with a systematic thoroughness and excellence that surpassed any previous work of its kind. The Inspector General's Department has risen to the highest standards and throughout has ably assisted commanders in the enforcement of discipline. The able personnel of the Judge Advocate General's Department has solved with judgment and wisdom the multitude of difficult legal problems, many of them involving questions of great international importance.

It would be impossible in this brief preliminary report to do justice to the personnel of all the different branches of this organization which I shall cover in detail in a later report.

The Navy in European waters has at all times most cordially aided the Army, and it is most gratifying to report that there has never been such perfect co-operation between these two branches of the service.

As to Americans in Europe not in the military services, it is the greatest pleasure to say that, both in official and in private life, they are intensely patriotic and loyal, and have been invariably sympathetic and helpful to the Army.

Finally, I pay the supreme tribute to our officers and soldiers of the line. When I think of their heroism, their patience under hardships, their unflinching spirit of offensive action, I am filled with emotion which I am unable to express. Their deeds are immortal, and they have earned the eternal gratitude of our country.

I am, Mr. Secretary, very respectfully,

JOHN J. PERSHING,
General, Commander in Chief,
American Expeditionary Forces.

To the SECRETARY OF WAR.

PARACHUTES FROM AIRPLANE.

Aviator Successfully Drops 4,800 Feet at Kelly Field, Texas.

The War Department authorizes the following:

On October 15 Chauffeur R. W. Bottriel, of the 145th Air Squadron, jumped successfully with a parachute from an airplane at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex. The airplane was at an altitude of 4,800 feet, nearly a mile high, when the jump was made. There was a strong wind blowing from the north, but Chauffeur Bottriel judged his distances nicely and landed safely in the main landing field. The pilot of the airplane stalled the machine slightly just before the jump was made, banking to the right so as to get the tail out of the way of the parachute when Bottriel jumped over the side. A large American flag attached to the parachute during the drop was flying during the descent.
