

WAR TRADE BOARD ANNOUNCES THE RESUMPTION OF TRADE WITH ALSACE AND LORRAINE

LICENSE OPEN TO ALL PERSONS

Free Communication Granted Subject Only to Rules and Regulations of the Board—Applications in Same Form as Those for France

The War Trade Board announces, in a new ruling (W. T. B. R. 486), that all persons in the United States are authorized, subject to the rules and regulations of the War Trade Board, to trade and communication with persons residing in the States of Alsace and Lorraine.

Applications for Licenses.

In accordance with this authorization, applications will now be considered for licenses to export or import all commodities to consignees or from consignors in the States of Alsace and Lorraine.

For the exportation to Alsace and Lorraine of articles which are not on the export conservation list, individual export licenses will not be required. Such commodities may now be shipped under Special License No. RAC-63, which authorizes the exportation, without individual license, of articles not on the Export Conservation List to the United Kingdom, France, Italy, and Japan (see W. T. B. R. 412, issued December 13, 1918).

Manner of Filing.

Applications for the exportation to Alsace and Lorraine of commodities which are on the Export Conservation List should be filed in the same manner as applications for licenses to export to France.

For importations into the United States from Alsace-Lorraine, individual import licenses will be required under the same conditions as for importations from other European nonenemy countries, except where the shipments are covered by the list of general import licenses previously announced.

DISTURBANCES IN PERSIA.

Bands of Turkomans Reported Giving Trouble to Government.

A dispatch to the State Department from Teheran states that disturbances occurred at Bandarigaz and Astarabad, Persia, fomented by bands of Turkomans estimated at 5,000. It is reported that they obtained arms and ammunition from Russia. They were not well organized and a force of 1,000 Persian troops was dispatched to maintain order. The situation is not considered very serious. Similar disturbances occurred in Kurdistan.

FOOD CONDITIONS IN EUROPE AS REVEALED IN SURVEY BY DIRECTOR GENERAL HOOVER

OFFER OF TROOPS FOR FUNERAL OF COL. ROOSEVELT DECLINED

The following message from Archibald Roosevelt was received by the Commanding General of the Eastern Department, in reply to his tender of troops for the funeral of Theodore Roosevelt:

"It was my father's wish that he would be buried among the people at Oyster Bay and that the funeral service would be conducted entirely by those friends among whom he had lived so long and happily.

"We thank you for forwarding the kind and generous offer of the Secretary of War, but feel that last wishes of Mr. Roosevelt be regarded in this matter."

Gen. Peyton C. March, Chief of Staff, attended the funeral as a representative of the United States Army.

STARVATION AT HAND IN MANY COUNTRIES

Shortage of Meats, Fats and Milk Impairing Health of All—Mortality Among the Children Is Appalling. Spread of Bolshevism a Constant Menace, Especially in Cities—About 1,400,000 Tons of Food Needed Until the Next Harvest.

Herbert Hoover, United States Food Administrator and Director General of European Relief, has sent to the Food Administration in Washington a cable message giving details of the food conditions in the countries so far investigated by the American staff under the direction of Dr. Alonzo Taylor, in connection with allied commissions. These surveys disclose that meats, fats, and milk are so short in many regions that the health of the people is very much impaired, mortality among children is appalling and there is a constant menace through the threatened spread of Bolshevism, especially in the cities.

Crops Far Below Normal.

Crops were far below normal and the surplus is rapidly being exhausted, so that in many districts if starvation is not already at hand, it is only a short time ahead.

The investigations so far carried through indicate that the total amount of food needed by the countries under consideration will amount to about 1,400,000 tons to take them through until the next harvest, costing in the neighborhood of $350,000,000 delivered.

In his cable, Mr. Hoover says:

"The general situation in the areas covered by recent surveys is that their animals are largely reduced; their crops were far below normal on account of man and animal shortage, ravages of war, and climatic conditions. The surplus harvest above absolute needs is now rapidly approaching exhaustion, and consequently the towns and cities are in a dangerous situation.

"Our reports show, specifically, as follows:

"Finland—The food is practically exhausted in the cities. While many of the peasants have some bread, other sections are mixing large amounts of straw. They are exhausted of fats, meats and sugar, and need help to prevent renewed rise of Bolshevism.

"Baltic States—The food may last one or two months on a much reduced scale. They sent a deputation to our minister at Stockholm imploring food.

"Serbia—The town bread ration is down to 3 ounces daily in the north, not accessible from Salonica. In the south, where accessible, the British are furnishing food to the civil population. We are trying to get food in from the Adriatic.

"Jugo-Slavia—The bread ration in many towns is 3 or 4 ounces. All classes are short of fats, milk, and meat.

"Vienna—Except for supplies furnished by the Italians and Swiss, their present bread ration of 6 ounces per diem would disappear. There is much illness from the shortage of fats, the ration being 1½ ounces per week. There are no coffee, sugar, or eggs and practically no meat.

Fed by Swiss Charity.

"Tyrol—The people are being fed by Swiss charity.

"Poland—The peasants probably have enough to get through. The mortality in cities, particularly among children, is appalling for lack of fats, milk, meat, and bread. The situation in bread will be worse in two months.

"Roumania—The bread supply for the entire people is estimated to last another 30 days. They are short of fats and milk. The last harvest was 60 per cent a failure.

"Bulgaria—The harvest was also a failure here. There are supplies available for probably two or three months.

"Armenia—Is already starving.

In Czecho-Slovakia.

"Czecho-Slovakia—There is large suffering on account of lack of fats and milk. They have bread for two or three months and sugar for six months.

"We have each country under investigation as to the total amounts required to barely sustain life and their resources to pay. The preliminary investigation by Taylor and his staff in connection with allied staffs shows the total of the above areas will require about 1,400,000 tons of imported food to get through until next harvest, costing, say, $350,000,000 delivered."

"Peace Can Only Be Started in Paris, Peoples' Duty Then to Continue It," Says President in Turin, Italy, Speech

President Wilson at a luncheon at Turin, Italy, January 6, said in reply to an address by the mayor:

"Your excellency and fellow citizens: You show your welcome in many delightful ways and in no more delightful way than in which you have shown it to-day. The words which the mayor has uttered have touched me very much and I have been both touched and stimulated by the words which the signor has so kindly uttered in behalf of the Government of this great Kingdom. It is very delightful to feel my association with that Government and with this city, and I know how much and with what vitality Italian effort comes out of this great center of industry and thought. As I passed through your streets I had this sensation, a sensation which I have often had in my own dear country at home, a sensation of friendship, of close sympathetic contact. I could have believed myself in an American city. I felt more than that. I felt what I have also felt at home—that the real blood of a republic flowed in the streets, in the veins of these plain people who more than some of the rest of us have borne the stress and burden of war. Think of the price at which you and at which I have purchased the victory which we have won. Think of the price of blood and treasure not only, but the price of tears, price of hunger on the part of little children, the hopes delayed or dismayed prospects that bore heavy upon the homes! Those of us who planned battles, those of us who conceived political movements do not bear the burden of it. We direct and others execute. We plan and the others perform, and the conquest of spirit is greater than the conquest of arms.

"These are the people that never let go. They say nothing. They live merely from day to day determined that the glory of Italy or that the glory of the United States shall not depart from her. I have been thinking as I passed through your streets and stood here that this was the place of the labors of the great Cavour, and I thought how impossible would have been many of the things which have happened in Italy since his day, and how impossible the great achievements of Italy in the last three years would have been without the work of Cavour. Ever since I was a boy one of my treasured portraits has been a portrait of Cavour, because I have read of him and of the way in which his mind took in the nations, and of the national scope—the strong, determined, patriotic endeavor that never allowed obstacles to dismay—and always stood at the side of the King and planned the great things which the King was enabled to accomplish. And I had another thought. This is a great industrial city. Perhaps you gentlemen think of the members of your Government and the members of the other Governments who are going to confer in the city of Paris as the real makers of war and peace, but we are not.

You are the makers of war and of peace; the pulse of the modern world beats on the farm and in the mine, in the factory. The plans of the modern world are made in the countinghouse. The men that do the business of the world now shape the destinies of the world, and peace of war is now in large measure in the hands of those who connect the commerce of the world. That is one reason why, unless we establish friendships, unless we establish sympathies, we close all the processes of modern life. As I have several times said you can not trade with a man who does not trust you, and you will not trade with a man whom you do not trust. Trust is the very vital life and breath of business, and suspicion and unjust national rivalries stand in the way of trade—stand in the way of industry. A country is owned and dominated by the capital that is invested in it. I do not need to instruct you gentlemen in that fundamental idea. In proportion as foreign capital comes in among you and takes its hold, in that proportion does foreign influence come in and take its hold, and therefore the processes of capital are in actual sense the processes of conquest. I have only this suggestion before we go to Paris to conclude a peace. You stay here to continue it. We can start the peace, but it is your duty to continue it. We can only make the large conclusions. You constantly transact the detail which constitutes the processes or the life of a nation. And so it is very delightful to me to stand in this company and feel that we are not foreigners to each other. We think the same thoughts, we entertain the same purposes, we have the same ideals; and this war has done this inestimable service—it has brought nations into close vital contact so that they feel the pulses that are in each other, so that they know the purposes by which each is animated. We know in America a great deal about Italy, because we have so many Italian fellow citizens. When Baron Sonnino was arguing the other day for the extension of the sovereignty of Italy over the Italian populations I said to him, 'I am sorry we can not let you have New York, which, I understand, is the greatest Italian city in the world. I am told that there are more Italians in New York City than in any city in Italy, and I am proud to be President of a Nation which contains so large an element of the Italian race, because as a student of literature I know the genius that has originated in this great nation, the genius of thought and of poetry and of philosophy and of music, and I am happy to be a part of a Nation which is enriched and made better by the introduction of such elements of genius and of inspiration.'

"May I not again thank the representatives of this great city and the representatives of the Government for the welcome they have given me, and say again, for I can not say it too often, 'viva I' Italia.'"

COAL SCARCITY IN EUROPE ACUTE IN MANY COUNTRIES U. S. COMMISSION REPORTS TO FUEL ADMINISTRATION

FEAR SHORTAGE WILL CAUSE SOCIAL UNREST

Privations Suffered by the People Believed to Foster the Menace of Bolshevism. Effect Upon After-War Conditions Cause of Con- cern—U. S. Alone Has In- creased Production of Fuel

Coal is going to be scarce in Europe this winter and behind the scarcity lurks the menace of Bolshevism, a special commission sent abroad by the United States Fuel Administration told Fuel Administrator Harry A. Garfield in a report submitted to-day. The report also is in the hands of President Wilson. No European country has enough coal; in Italy and Switzerland the privations felt by its lack are acute, and in general the question of how the various peoples will react toward a continuance of difficult conditions which they endured in war times is a sober one.

Scarcity in Italy Acute.

In Italy there has been no coal for household heating; gas for cooking was limited to four hours a day, and since November 1 the tonnage allotted to gas plants has been 60 per cent of normal. Nonwar industries have received 10 per cent of normal requirements, and less in some instances. Wood burning has nearly exhausted the available supply of that fuel within transportation distance. Switzerland is also uncomfortable to a notable degree.

Shortages in Switzerland are probably not so acute, and Belgium, for the moment, has a sufficient supply. The importation of American coal is almost entirely a question of transportation and freight rates according to the report. This nation alone among the belligerents increased its coal output during the war.

Remains a Vital Factor.

"The war emphasized the importance of coal, not only as an essential commodity, but as a diplomatic weapon of no mean proportions" the report said. "The present prospect is that it will prove no less a factor to be dealt with in the reconstruction period that is to follow—at least so long as the present potential shortage continues.

"For example, coal bears a very close relation to social unrest. The populations of the European belligerents have, during the war, suffered privations in varying degrees through lack of fuel. Will they continue to endure similar privations in peace times without active protest? Again, should the shutting down of factories, either directly through lack of coal, or indirectly through lack of transportation on account of failure of coal, result in throwing thousands out of work, will not a fertile field be provided for bolshevism? Italy and Switzerland are to-day confronted with this situation and it is an active possibility elsewhere.

"Facing a Real Shortage."

"There appears to be no doubt that Europe is facing a real and prospective shortage. Italy, Switzerland, Norway, Denmark, and Sweden produce practically no coal of their own and Holland and Spain have but little. England, France, Belgium, Germany, and Austria-Hungary are the principal coal-producing countries. Reports from Germany and Austria-Hungary are conflicting and unreliable, but in any event are far from indicating an oversupply.

"France's production has for some time been 20,000,000 tons per year short of her consumption, and she is to-day calling upon England for that amount. Belgium during normal times produces 3,000,000 tons a year less than she consumes, but at the moment has in prospect a sufficient supply on account of the prostration of her industries. England, which has always supplied the needs of Italy and France, has suffered a falling off in production from 287,000,000 tons in 1913 to less than 230,000,000 tons in 1918. Her coal for export fell from 77,000,000 tons in 1913 to 37,000,000 tons in 1917.

"It is of interest to note that while all other great belligerent countries suffered a severe falling off in their coal output during the war, the yearly production of

EXPORTATION OF WHEAT FLOUR TO CERTAIN BRITISH POSSESSIONS

The War Trade Board announces, in a new ruling (W. T. B. R. 487), after consultation with the United States Food Administration, that they are now prepared to give favorable consideration to applications for licenses to export wheat flour to the British possessions in the Western Hemisphere.

The War Trade Board also announce that the requirement of the consular vise upon applications for licenses to export wheat flour to Mexico, as provided in W. T. B. R. 320, is no longer necessary.

Exporters should acquaint themselves thoroughly with the import requirements of the country of destination as in some of these countries the regulations which were in force prior to the signing of the armistice are still in effect.

The commission consisted of Walter E. Hope, S. B. Thorne, and James H. Allport and has been in Europe since late October. Additional details of the report will be available within a few days, it was announced.

BUNKER COAL RESTRICTIONS MODIFIED BY DR. GARFIELD

Practically all restrictions upon the sale and shipment of bituminous coal for bunkering purposes at ports north of Cape Hatteras have been removed by an order issued by the United States Fuel Administration. This order became effective Monday, January 6.

Stringent regulations relative to the required quality and grade of coal for bunkering steamships at Atlantic and Gulf ports were promulgated on July 2, July 18, and August 13, 1918. On November 27, 1918, a new regulation was issued on account of the removal of the submarine menace to shipping, making coal supplies available for bunkering pur-

President in Proclamation Announces Death of Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Pays Tribute to His Life and Character

The following proclamation by President Wilson has been made public by the State Department:

A Proclamation.

To the people of the United States:

It becomes my sad duty to announce officially the death of Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States from September 14, 1901, to March 4, 1909, which occurred at his home at Sagamore Hill, Oyster Bay, New York, at four fifteen o'clock in the morning of January 6, 1919. In his death the United States has lost one of its most distinguished and patriotic citizens, who had endeared himself to the people by his strenuous devotion to their interests and to the public interests of his country.

As president of the police board of his native city, as member of the legislature and governor of his State, as Civil Service Commissioner, as Assistant Secretary of the Navy, as Vice President, and as President of the United States, he displayed administrative powers of a signal order and conducted the affairs of these various offices with a concentration of effort and a watchful care which permitted no divergence from the line of duty he had definitely set for himself.

In the war with Spain, he displayed singular initiative and energy and distinguished himself among the commanders of the Army in the field. As President he awoke the Nation to the dangers of private control which lurked in our financial and industrial systems. It was by thus arresting the attention and stimulating the purpose of the country that he opened the way for subsequent necessary and beneficent reforms.

His private life was characterized by a simplicity, a virtue, and an affection worthy of all admiration and emulation by the people of America.

In testimony of the respect in which his memory is held by the Government and people of the United States, I do hereby direct that the flags of the White House and the several departmental buildings be displayed at half staff for a period of thirty days, and that suitable military and naval honors under orders of the Secretaries of War and of the Navy be rendered on the day of the funeral.

Done this seventh day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-third.

WOODROW WILSON.

By the President:
FRANK L. POLK,
Acting Secretary of State.

poses from pools No. 4 and No. 10. The use of coal from these pools had been prohibited by the previous orders because it was inferior in steaming qualities to the best grades of other low volatile coal.

The new order adds more than a score of additional pools from which coal may be shipped for bunkering purposes, including the better grades of high volatile coals.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE CONGRESS BRIEFLY TOLD

SENATE.

Peace proposals and the war again occupied the attention of the Senate yesterday afternoon. Senator McCumber, Republican, of North Dakota, made a set speech in which he favored the proposed league of nations, and declared that he wanted Germany democratized to be a party to that league. Senator La Follette criticized the sending of American troops to Russia, and in the course of his remarks contended that the present soviet government of Russia was not pro-German. Senator Ashurst addressed the Senate in support of his resolution for the opening of negotiations with the Mexican Government for the acquisition of Lower California and a portion of the State of Sonora. He argued that this territory could not be defended by Mexico against foreign invasion nor could that government keep it in control. The territory, he said, was essential to the future safety of the United States, as it afforded a doorway for attack from abroad. In the course of discussion on a resolution, which was adopted, appropriating $100,000 for Alaska to aid in the fight on influenza, reference was made to the President's request for an appropriation of $100,000,000 for European relief. Senators Borah and Smoot, Republicans, expressed their opposition to this appropriation on the grounds that sufficient information has not been given to Congress. They declared that unless more information as to how the money was to be spent and who was to receive the benefits was forthcoming they did not believe Congress would comply with the President's request.

Buildings for Hospitals.

A resolution was adopted, offered by Senator Hardwick, authorizing the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to make an investigation regarding buildings available for hospitals for soldiers returning from abroad. Senator Kellogg, of Minnesota, Republican, introduced a bill providing for Federal control of all telegraphic and telephonic means of communication through an extension of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Senator Calder, of New York, proposed in a bill to amend the seamen's act through several modifications, among them the reduction from 75 per cent to 35 per cent as the proportion of the crews of vessels who are able to understand the language of the officers. Unless this is done he said it would be impossible to find seamen sufficient to man the forthcoming merchant marine.

Federal Control of Railroads.

Commissioner Edgar E. Clark, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, gave the committee investigating railroad problems the views of the commission on the subject of Government control and operation of railroads. Commissioner Clark opposed the proposed five-year extension of Government control and operation. He recommended that the roads be returned to private management within a "reasonable time" to prepare for the readjustments that must come and, as he expressed it, "under broadened, extended, and amplified governmental regulations."

Before the Military Committee Secretary Baker submitted the plans of the War Department for the permanent development of large Artillery training fields at West Point, Ky., and Fayetteville, N. C., and a rifle, machine-gun training, and tank corps establishment at Columbus, Ga. Before the same committee Joseph H. Duffress, of Chicago, representing a committee of prominent business interests, strongly urged prompt action on the pending bill to legalize the informal contracts let by the War Department. He opposed the Hitchcock bill, which would turn these matters over to a commission for adjustment, and held that more speed and better results could be obtained through the machinery of the War Department. Haste, he said, was essential, as vast amounts of capital were tied up in these contracts.

HOUSE.

The House yesterday afternoon decided by a vote of 204 to 64 that James Wickersham, Republican, was entitled to the seat as a Delegate in the House now held by Charles A. Sulzer, Democrat. After the vote Mr. Wickersham was sworn in. Without a dissenting vote the bill was passed directing the payment of allotments to families of soldiers on applications filed with the War-Risk Insurance Bureau prior to July 1, 1918. These payments were suspended by the Quartermaster Corps when it took over the bureau's work.

Chairman Sims, of the Interstate Commerce Committee, introduced a bill intended as an amendment to the railroad-control act, extending the provisions of that act to January 1, 1924, in accordance with the recommendations of Director General McAdoo.

Representative Dale, of the fourth New York district, resigned his seat to become a municipal judge in the city of Brooklyn.

Export Trade Reports Filed With Commission

The following export trade organizations have filed reports with the Export Trade Division of the Federal Trade Commission under the provisions of the Webb export trade law:

Douglas Fir Exploitation, 260 California Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Southern Products Co., Interurban Building, Dallas, Tex.

Thomas W. Simmons & Co. (Inc.), 240 California Street, San Francisco, Cal.

STEAMSHIP LINE TO SPAIN.

Consul General Hurst cabled from Barcelona under date of December 30 that a royal order published December 26 appoints a commission to lay before the Spanish Government propositions concerning the establishment of a rapid steamship service between northern Spanish ports and New York.

ALL RESTRICTIONS REMOVED ON IMPORTS OF RAW WOOLS

Tops, Noils, and Yarns Also to Be Freely Entered from Non- Enemy Countries.

To become effective January 10, the War Trade Board has removed all restrictions upon the importation of raw wool and wool tops, noils, yarns, and waste from all nonenemy countries. This obviates the necessity of importers giving to the Government an option to purchase imported wools at fixed prices. It will permit the unrestricted importation from Argentina, Uruguay, and South Africa of wools for private account. Heretofore imports of wool from these countries were confined to those consigned to the Quartermaster General.

Licenses Still Required.

It will still be necessary for importers to apply for and secure licenses for the importation of these commodities, but such licenses will be issued freely for shipments from all nonenemy countries where no element of enemy trade is present.

When the armistice was signed there were in the hands of the Quartermaster General large stocks of wool estimated to be adequate to clothe the Army on a war basis for six months. These are now being sold gradually at auction to meet the requirements of the textile industries, the proceeds being covered into the Treasury as a salvage to the Nation, made possible by the cessation of hostilities.

Step Reopening Trade Channels.

The action of the board, it was stated, is one of the larger steps in reopening the usual channels of trade.

Shops which have been working in wood for aviation will hereafter manufacture windows, doors, and parts of all sorts for the construction of houses in the invaded regions. Other works would manufacture the metal parts entering into this sort of construction. M. Loucheur also has in mind the manufacture of telegraphic and telephone material.

have for its object the readaptation of private factories which have been working for the national defense. These establishments will receive as soon as possible important orders for materials needed by the administration of the post offices, telephones, and telegraphs for the reconstruction of the French merchant marine, and also orders for agricultural machinery needed in such great quantity. Moreover, the former Ministry of Armament will distribute orders among private factories for the manufacture of objects and tools of which the country has such great need.

Expense About 2,000,000,000 Francs.

The expense which it will be necessary for the country to assume in this connection amounts to some 2,000,000,000 francs. It is believed that orders to this amount, properly distributed, will permit of the continuance of work in the munition factories.

² As practically all members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps had, on June 30, 1918, been assigned to duty with Regular Army, National Army, and National Guard organizations, and have been included (in the above table) in the June 30, 1918, strength of those components, this figure has not been added in computing the aggregate enlisted strength of the entire Army on the date mentioned.

National Guard in Federal Service.

As stated in the last annual report of The Adjutant General of the Army, that portion of the National Guard of the several States and the District of Columbia which was not already in Federal service was called by the President into the service of the United States in his proclamation dated July 3, 1917. The resulting total strength of the National Guard in Federal service on August 5, 1917, was 12,100 officers and 367,223 enlisted men.

The strength of the Officer's Reserve Corps on June 30, 1918, was approximately 86,282. About 37,500 of the officers included in this figure were serving in line sections of the Army.

On June 30, 1918, approximately 80,000 members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps had been ordered into active service and assigned to organizations for duty.

Attention is particularly invited to one need which was met by the organization of the Enlisted Reserve Corps, by enabling the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps (now the Division of Military Aeronautics) to enlist candidates for the Aviation Section, Signal Enlisted Reserve Corps, and give them a test at ground schools organized at a number of large universities. Those who failed to qualify as candidates for final training as aviators were discharged and returned to the jurisdiction of their local draft boards. The Aviation Section has been fortunate in securing a waiting list of candidates for aviation training, and at no time has there been a lack of applicants for enlistment in this branch of the service.

Owing to the loss of skilled mechanics in industry, it was deemed expedient to use the Enlisted Reserve Corps to meet the situation by transferring duly certified skilled mechanics to the Enlisted Reserve Corps inactive list, closing their accounts, and authorizing them to report at their own expense to the mechanical plants desiring their services. In order to keep track of these men the firms who had requested their services were required to report their status at the end of each month to the department commander within whose territorial limits the men were employed, in order that, in case the soldiers failed to report for employment or refused to accept regular employment, the necessary orders could be issued for their return to active service.

The first increments of the National Army, created under the provisions of the selective-service law, approved May 18, 1917, began to arrive in September, 1917, at the several cantonments which had been constructed at selected sites throughout the United States for training purposes.

One Army.

Under the terms of paragraph 1, General Orders, No. 73, War Department, August 7, 1918, the United States has now but one army—The United States Army—into which are merged all the land forces, however raised, in the service of the United States. These orders further provide for the discontinuance of such distinctive appellations as Regular Army, Reserve Corps, National Guard, and National Army, previously employed in administration and command and for the exclusive use thereafter of the single term, The United States Army. Paragraph 5 of the orders mentioned provides that, while the number of commissions in each grade and in each staff corps, department, and arm of the service shall be kept within the limits fixed by law, officers shall be assigned without reference to the term of their commissions solely in the interest of the service; and that officers and enlisted men will be transferred from one organization to another, as the interests of the service may require.

No change in the geographical boundaries of any of the territorial departments occurred during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918.

The total number of Regular Army officers of The Adjutant General's Department on June 30, 1918, was 51, the same as at the close of the previous fiscal year. Of these 3 are permanent and 48 are detailed from the line of the Army.

Six of the detailed officers vacated their details by accepting appointments as brigadier generals, 11 were relieved, 1 was retired, and 1 was detailed in the General Staff.

The detailed statement showing the character of duty performed by officers of the Regular Army on detached service at the close of the fiscal year is omitted from this report, as no useful purpose is now served by its publication, all restrictions upon the detail, detachment, and employment of officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army having been suspended for the period of the present emergency by section 11 of the selective-service act, approved May 18, 1917.

However, the policy of the department has been to assign line officers to their organizations, relieving them from detached service. Whenever practicable to do so, retired officers have been placed upon active duty to perform the detached service previously performed by officers on the active list.

Retired Officers on Active Duty.

On June 30, 1918, there were 459 retired officers under assignment to active duty, of whom 412 were in the Regular Army and 47 in the Philippine Scouts.

Of the retired officers on duty, one lieutenant general, one colonel, and one major (all at the United States Soldiers' Home in this city), and one lieutenant colonel at an educational institution received from the United States only the retired pay of their respective grades.

During the fiscal year 1,164 officers of the Army were examined for promotion.

Of that number, 1,135 were found professionally qualified, 23 were suspended, 2 were found physically disqualified and retired, and 1 Philippine Scouts officer was found not qualified and discharged. Three cases were not completed, 2 of the officers concerned being found professionally disqualified and the other physically disqualified.

On June 30, 1917, there were 1,083 commissioned officers on the retired list. During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918, 68 officers were placed on that list. Fifty-seven of the officers on the retired list died during the year, and 13 were restored to the active list as additional officers, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved March 4, 1915, leaving 1,083 officers, including those of the Philippine Scouts, on the retired list June 30, 1918.

Officers Who Had Civil War Service.

The official records show that of the 10,336 commissioned officers on the active list of the Regular Army June 30, 1918, none of them served in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps during the Civil War otherwise than as a cadet prior to April 9, 1865.

Approximately 25 per cent of the officers of the Army on the retired list June 30, 1918, served as officers or enlisted men of the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps during the Civil War. On June 30, 1917, approximately 27 per cent of the officers of the Army on that list had Civil War service.

The total number of chaplains appointed during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918, is 679, of whom 75 were appointed in the Regular Army, 85 in the National Guard, 509 in the National Army, and 10 as chaplains at large. The total number of chaplains on duty on June 30, 1918, was 894, of whom 144 were in the Regular Army, 231 in the National Guard, 509 in the National Army, and 10 were chaplains at large.

On February 9, 1918, the Secretary of War authorized the establishment at Fort Monroe, Va., of a training school for chaplains and approved chaplain candidates. The school was opened on March 1, 1918. The course of training covered a period of five weeks and included instruction in military law, international law, military science and tactics, and hygiene. The course was completed on April 4, 1918, the number of graduates being 86.

The proposed establishment at Fort Monroe of other training schools and camps connected with Artillery instruction made it necessary to change the location of the chaplains' school, and, accordingly, it was moved in April, 1918, to Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., where the second course opened on April 20. Ninety students were graduated from this course on May 4. The third course opened at Camp Taylor on June 1, 1918, and was supplemented by an extra session beginning June 15. A class of 129 students was graduated from this course on July 5.

Officers' Training Camps and Schools.

As set forth in the last annual report of this office, a total of 27,341 candidates were graduated in the middle of August, 1917, from the first series of officers' training camps, after a course of three months' intensive training, of whom 2 received commissions as colonels, 1 as lieutenant colonel, 235 majors, 3,722 as captains, 4,452 as first lieutenants, and 18,929 as second lieutenants.

A second series of officers' training camps was held from August 27 to November 27, 1917. Approximately 20,000 students entered these camps, which were located at 9 military posts so situated as to be easily accessible to the 16 divisional areas into which the country was divided for the purpose of apportioning the training-camp vacancies.

An officers' training school for colored men was established at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, on June 18, and continued to October 18, 1917. A class of 1,250 students selected from enlisted men and civilians was admitted, and the following numbers were commissioned, all in the Infantry arm:

Captains.....	106
First lieutenants.....	329
Second lieutenants.....	204
Total.....	639

Two officers' training schools have been held in Porto Rico, the first from August 27 to November 27, 1917, which admitted a class of 200, of whom the following numbers were commissioned, all in the Infantry arm:

Captains.....	27
First lieutenants.....	47
Second lieutenants.....	106
Total.....	180

The second Porto Rican training school was held from February 1 to May 15, 1918, to which 411 students were admitted. The following numbers were commissioned, all in the Infantry arm:

Captains.....	17
First lieutenants.....	50
Second lieutenants.....	186
Total.....	253

The third series of officers' training camps was established on January 5, 1918. There were 24 schools in the United States and one each in the Philippines, Hawaii, and Panama.

The following table shows the combined result of all the above-mentioned camps and schools:

A fourth series of officers' training camps was established on May 15, 1918, in 24 National Army and National Guard divisions in the United States. Schools were also established in the Philippines, Hawaii, and Panama, but the school at Panama was discontinued because of the lack of suitable material. The initial enrollment at these schools totaled 13,114.

Central officers' training schools for Infantry training have been established at Camp Pike, Ark., Camp Gordon, Ga., and Camp Lee, Va., for machine-gun training at Camp Hancock, Ga., and for Field Artillery training at Camp Taylor, Ky.

A training school for officers for the Coast Artillery has also been established and is located at Fort Monroe, Va. Two classes were graduated from this school during the fiscal year. From the first class 243 students were graduated and from the second 464. All of these have received commissions as second lieutenants in the Coast Artillery.

In addition to the line officers' training schools, this office has assisted in the establishment also of staff corps training schools and has prescribed regulations therefor.

The Military Academy.

On June 30, 1918, there were under assignment to duty at the United States Military Academy 80 commissioned officers (including 7 professors, 2 acting professors, and 2 associate professors), 1 librarian, 1 master of the sword, 1 teacher of music, 2 civilian instructors in languages, and 3 civilians employed as instructors in fencing, broadsword exercise and military gymnastics, a total of 88.

On September 1, 1918, the beginning of the current academic year, there were 941 cadets on the rolls, including 2 Filipino cadets and 1 foreign cadet from China. The three classes are as follows: Class of 1920, 225; class of 1921, 289; class of 1922, 427. The class of 1919 was graduated on June 12, 1918, and for the duration of the present war the course of study at the Military Academy has been reduced to three years.

Prisoners of War.

The report explains that accurate figures on the strength and losses of the Regular Army through deaths and desertion were not available at the time the report was written, and says of alien enemies, etc., held prisoner in the United States:

With the exception of a few alien enemies interned in Porto Rico and some others, probably not more than 50 on any one date, held at the request of the Department of Justice at the several Army posts pending their transfer to a war prison barracks for permanent detention, the prisoners in the custody of the War Department on June 30, 1918, were located as follows:

At War Prison Barracks No. 1, Fort McPherson, Ga. (prisoners of war).....	1,411
At War Prison Barracks No. 2, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. (enemy aliens).....	983
At War Prison Barracks No. 3, Fort Douglas, Utah (enemy aliens).....	520
At detention camp, Hot Springs, N. C. (enemy aliens).....	2,123
Total.....	5,037

These figures do not, of course, include enemy prisoners taken by the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe, who had not been sent to the United States for internment.

Between the opening of hostilities on April 6, 1917, and the close of the fiscal year 1918, 11 prisoners died, 14 (interned aliens) were paroled by the Department of Justice, 11 were transferred to St. Elizabeths Hospital, and 13 escaped from custody, 2 of whom were drowned after escaping, 11 being still at large on June 30, 1918. Altogether 29 prisoners escaped from custody during the period mentioned, but 16 of them were apprehended and reinterned.

Up to the close of the last fiscal year no epidemic or sickness occurred at any of the war prison barracks, and the general health of the prisoners has been exceptionally good. All of the guaranties contemplated by international law, as to humane treatment, freedom in the exercise of religious beliefs, full opportunity for education, proper healthful recreation and amusement, and other privileges looking toward the comfort, well-being, and betterment of the prisoners, are, it is believed, being conscientiously observed.

The official lists of American citizens interned abroad and of American soldiers captured in battle are being regularly received from Germany through the Spanish embassy at Berlin, and the persons designated by them for the purpose are promptly advised relative to their whereabouts and all changes in their status and physical condition upon the receipt in this office of reports thereon.

At the beginning of the fiscal year 1918 there were 3,073 general prisoners in custody.

The foregoing figures do not include the general prisoners in France, no report as to the number in France having been received from the commanding general of the American Expeditionary Forces. It is known, however, that the number of general prisoners in France is small, and, furthermore, that every opportunity is given to such prisoners to obtain honorable restoration to duty.

As in previous years, applications for clemency in the case of prisoners undergoing confinement in execution of sentences of general courts-martial added materially to the correspondence of the office. At the beginning of the fiscal year 295 applications for clemency previously made had not received final consideration, they having been referred to the commanding generals of military departments or elsewhere in the course of investigation as to the merits of the cases. During the year 2,687 applicants for clemency were received, but 161 of these were cases in which other applications were pending at the date of their receipt. Clemency was denied in 1,681 cases, the unexecuted parts of sentences were wholly remitted in 299 cases, parts of the unexecuted sentences were remitted in 67 cases, and in 364 cases reports were made to the Department of Justice for consideration in connection with application for parole under the act of Congress approved June 25, 1910.

Newspaper Men with Expeditionary Forces.

On June 30, 1918, there were 18 accredited correspondents on duty with the American Expeditionary Forces, of whom 12 represented an equal number of influential newspapers, etc., and the remaining 6 were divided equally among the 3 press associations.

By direction of the Secretary of War, the handling of all matters concerning newspaper correspondents with the American Expeditionary Forces was, on August 5, 1918, transferred from The Adjutant General's Office to the Military Intelligence Branch, Executive Division, General Staff.

Personal Identification System.

At the close of the year ended June 30, 1918, 776,622 finger-print records of enlisted men of the Regular Army had been received in this office, 110,088 of those records having been made in cases of reenlistments, in which records made during the previous service of soldiers were on file.

In addition to the finger-print records of soldiers of the Regular Army, 1,380,779 finger-print records of members of the National Army, 620,985 finger-print records of members of the National Guard, 70,896 finger-print records of men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps, and 55,800 finger-print records of officers, making the total number of finger-print records on file in this office at the close of fiscal year 2,905,082.

During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918, 548 cases of fraudulent enlistment of former deserters, general prisoners, and others were discovered through the finger-print system.

The Army of the United States as constituted under existing law within the fiscal year covered by this report consisted of the Regular Army, the National Army, the National Guard in the Federal service, and the Enlisted Reserve Corps. The official records of the component parts of the enlisted personnel of the Army of the United States were filed separately. It is obvious that an army so constituted, with separate files of records, presents serious difficulties in the handling of the records, particularly as existing regulations provide that the individual members are eligible for transfer, and they are frequently transferred from one component part of the Army to another.

These difficulties were in part overcome by designating the organization of the Regular Army numerically from 1 to 100, while the organizations of the National Guard are designated from 101 to 300, the organizations of the National Army being designated from 301 upward.

To assist in the identification of individual enlisted men provision was made for assigning an Army serial number to each enlisted man regardless of the component part of the Army of which he is a member, and provision was also made for entering this number on each important record pertaining to the particular enlisted man throughout his military career.

However, none of these plans gave positive assurance that confusion would not arise in the record of individual soldiers field in four or more separate files.

Accordingly, within this fiscal year it was decided to assemble together all the important items of each enlisted man's military record, placing those items in a single jacket and arranging the jackets in alphabetical order without reference to whether the enlisted man concerned entered the service as a member of the Regular Army, National Army, National Guard, or Enlisted Reserve Corps.

This rearrangement is progressing as rapidly as the records are received and as the pressure of work will permit.

Paper Work of the Army.

A systematic effort has been made to reduce the paper work of the Army and to simplify and standardize the various Army forms of enlistment, physical examinations, etc.

Instructions for the use of the correspondence book have been revised so as to simplify entries and avoid duplication.

At the beginning of the fiscal year, 401 central recruiting stations were maintained, and at the close of the year 398 such stations were in operation. The total number of recruiting stations in operation at the close of the year was 548, 62 being main stations, in charge of a recruiting officer, and the remainder stations auxiliary to the main station.

Casualties in Expeditionary Forces.

Careful record is maintained in this office in the case of each member of the American Expeditionary Forces. This record includes his full name, identification number, rank, organization, and the name and address of the person designated by him to receive information in the event of his death, injury, or capture by the enemy.

While reports concerning men who have been killed in action, have died of wounds, disease, or other cause, have been wounded or captured, or are missing are promptly cabled to the department after verification, it is incumbent upon the soldiers themselves to keep their friends and relatives advised regarding their health and such minor accidents or injuries as may befall them.

As soon as casualty cablegrams are received in this office steps are taken to notify by telegraph the persons designated for the purpose by the soldiers concerning whose cases reports have been made. This telegram sets forth briefly the facts in the case and is followed, in cases where a death is reported, by a letter containing additional information relative to the time and place of burial and the location of the soldier's grave, the latter action being taken because, under articles agreed upon by the United States and French Governments, the remains of all soldiers who die in France are to be buried in France until the termination of the war, when they will be brought back to the United States for final interment.

Records are also maintained to show the arrival in the United States of persons returning from service with the American Expeditionary Forces.

Civilian Employees of Office.

During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918, appointments were made in The Adjutant General's Office of 1,709 clerical and 164 subclerical employees under the provisions of the act of Congress approved June 15, 1917, and subsequent legislation. This brought the total number of civilian employees up to 2,259 on June 30, 1918, of whom 2,068 were clerical and 191 subclerical employees. A total of 597 civilian employees (502 clerical and 95 subclerical) were separated from the office force during the fiscal year, of whom 264 resigned for the purpose of entering the military or naval service, making a total of 276 resignations for that purpose since the declaration on April 6, 1917, of the existence of a state of war with Germany.

During the fiscal year the office lost the services of a large number of trained clerks, chiefly through entry into the military or naval service.

That the work of the office was handled promptly and efficiently, notwithstanding the handicap imposed by the loss of so many of its best clerks, was due to the zeal, industry, and devotion to duty displayed by the entire office force, both commissioned and civilian, who responded with true patriotism to the demands made upon their strength and time, remaining at their desks long after regular office hours and working patiently and energetically to keep the work current.

The term of office of Maj. Gen. Henry P. McCain, who assumed the duties of The Adjutant General of the Army on August 27, 1914, and who administered the affairs of the office during the fiscal year covered by this report, expired on August 26, 1918.

Standard Time Zone Order Modified As It Relates to Boundary Between The Central and Mountain Zones

The Interstate Commerce Commission issues the following:

No. 10122.

STANDARD TIME ZONE INVESTIGATION.

SUBMITTED DECEMBER 20, 1918. DECIDED DECEMBER 21, 1918.

Order defining limits of standard time zones, 51 I. C. C., 273, modified in part.

John H. Mock, for city of Albany, Ga.; Dick T. Morgan, for citizens of northwestern Oklahoma; H. A. Gallwey, for Butte, Anaconda & Pacific Railway Co.

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT OF THE COMMISSION.

AITCHISON, Commissioner:

A report in the above matter, on which is based an order defining the limits of the various standard time zones, is to be found in 51 I. C. C., 273, and a modification thereof in 51 I. C. C., 499. Certain requests for modifications of our previous findings are now before us. From the record we conclude that the greater convenience of commerce will be served, and the intent of our original order will be better effected, by modifying our previous report herein in certain minor particulars.

The definition of so much of the boundary line between the central and mountain zones as is defined in Appendix 2 to the original report herein, 51 I. C. C., 293, 294, follows:

Kansas.— * * * thence crossing said railroad southerly to the boundary line between Oklahoma and Kansas and easterly along said State boundary line to the Cimarron River, at the northwest corner of Woods County, Okla.

Oklahoma.—From the intersection of the Cimarron River and the north boundary of the State of Oklahoma as last described, thence southeasterly following the course of the Cimarron River to the line between townships 24 and 25 north; thence east along said township line and crossing the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway at Waynoka; thence southerly and westerly immediately south thereof and parallel with the line of said railway to the meridian 99 degrees West; thence south along said meridian to the Washita River; thence southwesterly through Ralph, and immediately north of and parallel with the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway to the west boundary of Sayre; thence crossing said railway and running immediately south thereof and parallel therewith in a westerly direction to the north and south boundary line between Oklahoma and Texas; thence south along said State boundary line to the southeast corner of Collingsworth County, Tex.

shall be amended to read as follows:

Kansas.— * * * thence crossing said railroad southerly to the boundary line between Oklahoma and Kansas, at the northwest corner of Beaver County, Okla.

Oklahoma.—From the point last described, southeasterly to the southeast corner of said Beaver County; thence south along the Oklahoma-Texas State line to the southeast corner of Collingsworth County, Tex.

In consequence of the change in boundary line above indicated, to the list of excepted railroads shown in Appendix 2 to the original report, 51 I. C. C., 294, as located east of the zone boundary line, but as excepted from the United States standard Central time zone and included within the United States standard Mountain time zone, shall be added the following:

Name of railroad.	From—	To—
Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe.	Waynoka, Okla.	Oklahoma-Texas State line.
Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific.	Sayre, Okla.	Do.

The Clinton & Oklahoma Western from Ralph, Okla., to Cheyenne, Okla., and the Wichita Falls & Northwestern from Elk City, Okla., to Forgan, Okla., will be eliminated from the list of exceptions made as to railroad lines located west of the boundary line, but included within the Central standard time zone; and Waynoka, Ralph, and Sayre, Okla., will be eliminated from the list of municipalities stated as located upon the zone boundary line.

The Butte, Anaconda & Pacific Railway shall be eliminated from the list of railroads wholly within the Pacific zone, shown in Appendix 4, at 51 I. C. C., 298, and shall be added to Appendix 3, under the heading "Railroads within both Mountain and Pacific zones," as operated under Mountain time standard.

As is shown in Appendix 2 of the original report, that part of the line of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railroad from Altus, Okla., to San Angelo, Tex., although included in the United States standard Central time zone, was excepted therefrom, and included in the Mountain zone. That line is now under Federal control, and, with the consent of the United States Railroad Administration, the exception will be canceled, so that the line from Wichita, Kans., to San Angelo, Tex., will be operated under the Central time standard, and from San Angelo to Alpine, Tex., under the Mountain standard. The tables found at 51 I. C. C., 294 and 296, will be amended accordingly.

In response to the request of the City Council of the city of Albany, Ga., that city, which is shown to be upon the boundary line between the Eastern and Central zones, will be added to the list of similarly situated municipalities shown in Appendix 1 of the original report, 51 I. C. C., 289, so as to be considered within the United States standard Eastern zone.

An appropriate order will be entered.

CANADIAN SOLDIERS WOULD SETTLE ON LAND AFTER WAR

The Canadian Official Record prints the following:

Over 105,000 members of the Canadian expeditionary force have expressed the definite wish to take up farming in Canada after the war. This figure was obtained by interviewing 230,000 members of the forces overseas and indicates that 43.9 per cent of those men wish to go on the land. The actual number of men returning after the war will be much greater. If it should be, for example, 345,000, on the assumption that the same proportion holds true, the number of men desiring to go on the land will be 157,500.

Result of Card Canvass.

These facts and a great many details bearing on them have been compiled by the statistical division of the department of soldiers' civil reestablishment from the cards issued by the National Service Council to members of the Canadian forces overseas and signed by them.

The Provinces in which they wish to settle are as follows:

Ontario	25,400
Alberta	23,072
British Columbia	15,135
Saskatchewan	15,108
Manitoba	11,708
Nova Scotia	3,533
Quebec	3,330
New Brunswick	2,831
Prince Edward Island	816
Province not stated	4,518

Of these 105,000 the cards disclose that 78,000, or 74 per cent, have had previous agricultural experience. The number of men who have had three years' experience or more is 61,000, or 58 per cent, and the surprising number who have had 20 years' experience or over is 11,000, or almost 11 per cent.

Farm Attracts Them.

That this declaration represents a substantial prospective increase in the agricultural population is revealed by the fact that of the 105,000 men who wish to go on the land, fewer than 41,000 were actively engaged in agricultural pursuits at the time of enlistment.

The men were asked to state whether they desired to take advantage of any scheme of assisted agricultural settlement, and almost 96,000, or 89 per cent, stated that they wished to avail themselves of such assistance. The number who declined to accept Government assistance was over 6,000, or about 7 per cent. The remainder gave indefinite answers.

Wish to Gain Experience.

A further surprising fact was revealed that practically 50,000 of the 105,000 announced their willingness to work for wages to gain experience. The number who declined to work for wages was over 42,000, but this is easily accounted for by the fact already mentioned that 61,000 have had three years' experience or more.

Another question the men were asked to answer is how much money they expected to have at their disposal on their return to Canada. Only 38,000 answered this question with a sum of money, over 66,000 either stating that they had no money or not answering the question. Nevertheless, it was revealed that these 38,000 men would have an aggregate of $13,000,000 at their disposal after the war.

PLACES FOR AMERICAN WOMEN IN INDUSTRY AFTER THE WAR

The Department of Labor authorizes the following:

Mary Van Kleeck, director of the Women in Industry Service, said:

With the cessation of active military operations the industrial problem in the United States has changed its aspect. Before the armistice was signed the task before the Nation was to provide the enormously increased production required for the war while the number of men workers was being steadily reduced. Now that the armistice is signed, the immediate task is to change from a war basis to a peace basis with the least possible unemployment.

The Federal Government is developing a policy with reference to the cancellation of contracts with due regard to the transfer of labor from one occupation to another, the conversion of plants manufacturing munitions to the manufacture of products required in peace, the stimulation of peace industries, plans for public works, and the demobilization of returning soldiers at a sufficiently slow rate to insure their reinstatement in normal occupations without dislocating industry.

Women In Men's Places.

The question peculiar to women relates to those who have taken men's places. It would seem fair to the returning soldiers that they be reinstated in their old positions, but in justice to the women who have taken their places, sufficient notice should be given to enable them to be transferred to other work. The number of women who have been drawn into gainful employment for patriotic reasons is probably much smaller than is generally supposed. Large numbers of women in the war industries have been transferred from other occupations and the problem of readjustment is to return these workers to their normal occupations.

With the need for production to feed and clothe and shelter other nations besides our own there is no reason to believe that the employment of women in industry will not increase rather than decrease. In view of the responsibility of women for their own support and often for the support of dependents they can not be asked to withdraw entirely from gainful employment. The problem before us is the organization of industry in such a way as to utilize to the full all the available working forces of the country. One large group in industry, however, which should be withdrawn at the earliest possible moment, is the group of children under 16.

The chief danger for women in industry is that they will remain in certain industries or be introduced into new ones at a lower wage scale than is paid to men. It is time to establish wages on the basis of the occupation and not on the basis of sex. During the period of reconstruction we must also guard against the dangers to health from unsanitary working conditions, long hours, and employment at night.

The problems of readjustment can only be met by a variety of methods of attack. The agencies of the Federal Government, the local offices of the Employment Service, the State departments of labor, the public schools, and the working women themselves, and effective and intelligent management in industrial establishments must all have an active part in a well-rounded program.

POST-WAR PLANS IN SPAIN.

Consul General C. B. Hurst at Barcelona, reports:

A commission of Spanish engineers has been appointed by royal order to study the actual state and probable development of the metallurgical industries in the Republics of South America. The object of this commission includes an investigation of the possibilities of Spanish commercial expansion, the markets for Spanish metallurgical products, and the procuring of needed raw materials. The creation of this commission is regarded in Spain as necessary to domestic economy, in preparation for the time when peace shall have put commerce on a normal footing.

Physical Damage in Belgium Described In Cablegram to the Relief Commission From U. S. Food Administrator Hoover

The Commission for Relief in Belgium issues the following:

The physical damage in Belgium today is described in a cable which has just been received from Herbert Hoover, United States Food Administrator and chairman of the Commission for Relief in Belgium. Mr. Hoover is in Europe by direction of President Wilson for the purpose of formulating a program for food distribution to the liberated peoples. William B. Poland, European director of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, aided in the survey.

Enlarged Program Laid Out.

The Washington headquarters of the Commission for Relief in Belgium announces that an enlarged program had been laid out in response to Mr. Hoover's cable and that from now on 180,000 tons per month would be shipped, including clothing, which will require 500,000 dead-weight tons of shipping in continuous service. The cost of the entire program is borne by the Belgian and French Governments from loans made by the American Government. The relief commission has at present 340,000 tons on time charter, lacking 160,000 tons to move the full monthly program. Application has been made to the United States Shipping Board to fill this deficit, and it is expected that the request will be favorably acted upon.

Text of Mr. Hoover's Cablegram.

Mr. Hoover's cablegram is as follows: "Together with Mr. Poland, European director of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, I have now completed a survey of the entire Belgian situation as disclosed by the evacuation. The work of the American relief officials in Europe during the last month has been beyond all praise, because they have followed up the retreating Army with distributions, by one means or another, and there has been no break in the food supply at any point.

"Prior to the armistice the German Army had completely destroyed a zone of railroads and canals some 20 miles wide, extending entirely across Belgium. After the armistice there was comparatively little destruction of transportation to the rear of this zone, and with the rapid rehabilitation of transportation facilities across this zone of destruction the problem of distribution of food and of reconstruction can be undertaken with much less difficulty than at present.

Retreat of the Germans.

"The Germans in their final retreat removed but little of the relief supplies.

"Their action toward the native harvests and cattle in their withdrawal differs widely in different areas. They started to take all remaining hogs from the western part of Belgium, except those hidden by the peasants in underground caves. After the armistice, however, and with the demoralization of the German Army in its final retreat, many of these beasts were abandoned or sold by soldiers to the peasants farther back, and in practical results there appears to have been no widespread cattle stealing in the retreat, although during the four years of occupation there has been a great diminution, probably one one-half, in the total number of cattle and hogs. It can be said almost literally that horses have disappeared out of Belgium, there probably now being 15 per cent of the original animals left.

Extent of Industrial Destruction.

"Investigation proves that industrial and residential destruction in Belgium varies greatly in different localities, and with different industries. For instance, out of the 50 steel furnaces in Belgium 35 or 40 have been deliberately destroyed by the Germans in their determination to end the Belgium steel industry. Many of the textile mills have been put out of commission, either through deliberate destruction and removal of machinery, or by removal of the copper and brass parts and electric motors. Some of the textile mills of the more antiquated type of equipment apparently did not appeal to the Germans and they can be gotten into action at an early date. The Germans seemed to have focused themselves on the modern equipments.

"The glass industry has been but little interfered with, and the stern promise of retribution by President Wilson seems to have saved the coal industry except for very few mines, although actual explosives and wires were laid in place for the destruction of a large number of the mines. The President's warning seems to have created a sudden change of heart.

French Refugees in Belgium.

"There are some 300,000 French refugees in Belgium driven out of northern France by the Germans. They have been cared for out of the meager stores of the Belgians and by the Commission for Relief in Belgium. They are, however, like homing pigeons in their resolve to return to their native villages. As there is no transportation, the roads southward into France are a continuous stream of these pitiful groups of men, women, and children, pulling their carts and trudging through the cold and wind toward their destroyed homes. Everything is being done that is humanly possible, but in the present state of demoralization, with moving armies, the necessity of using every truck and horse with which to feed the population, their plight is heartbreaking. They refuse all persuasion to wait in the crowded Belgian villages until their affairs can be organized.

"The Americans of the Relief Commission are working night and day providing shelter stations, clothing, and food for them, but like many other human migrations in Europe to-day there is no solution to the suffering that must go on.

"One of the great difficulties of the Belgians lies in the enforced currency circulation imposed upon them by the Germans. This currency runs into millions of paper money and presents an extremely difficult financial problem to the Government.

"The Belgian Government is rapidly

BIG INCREASE IN BY-PRODUCT COKE PRODUCTION FOR 1918

The production of coke in 1918 is estimated at 53,670,000 net tons compared with 55,606,828 net tons in 1917, according to figures announced to-day by the United States Fuel Administration. This is an increase during the last year of 1,603,000 net tons or 3 per cent.

Estimated at 26,264,000 Tons.

By-product coke production is estimated at 26,264,000 tons, an increase of 3,825,000 tons or 17 per cent compared with 1917. Beehive coke is estimated to have decreased 2,762,000 tons or 8 per cent from 33,167,548 tons in 1917, to 30,406,000 tons in 1918.

The largest gain in output of by-product coke was in Ohio, 1,737,000 tons, followed by Pennsylvania with 595,500 tons. Indiana produced 3,870,000 tons of by-product coke, an increase of 329,000 tons. Colorado was added in 1918 to the list of States producing by-product coke with the starting up of a large plant at Pueblo.

Per Cent of Total Output.

In 1917 by-product coke represented 40 per cent of the total output; in 1918, 46 per cent. In October the production of by-product coke exceeded that of beehive and from that date forward it is expected that the proportion of coke from the new type of ovens will continue to increase. The year 1918 definitely and finally records the passing of the supremacy from the beehive to the by-product ovens.

Alabama, Utah, and Washington were the only States to show increases in the manufacture of beehive coke. The largest and only important decreases were in Pennsylvania and Colorado where the installation of by-product ovens supplanted beehive ovens to a large extent in 1918.

Certain Seeds Removed From Conservation List

The War Trade Board announces in a new ruling (W. T. B. R. 485) that all vegetable seeds and field seeds, except red clover seed, have been removed from the export conservation list.

Attention is called to the fact that under RAC-63 and RAC-65 all seeds except red clover seed may be exported to certain destinations without individual licenses, provided the export declaration states that the commodity is to be used for seed purpose and not for food.

taking hold, the Belgian manufacturers are engaged everywhere in the rehabilitation of their works so far as materials are available, and the spirit of Belgium was never better than to-day. The Belgians are resolved to find a solution of their manifold difficulties with as little assistance as possible from the outside. They are, of course, dependent upon continued Government financial advances for the provision of imports pending German indemnity and the reconstruction of their export business."
