CONFIDENTIAL REPORT TO PRESIDENT BY U. S. FOOD ADMINISTRATOR HOOVER ON CONTROL OF PACKING INDUSTRY MADE PUBLIC BY MR. WILSON'S ORDER

REVEALS HIS VIEWS OF NATIONAL DANGER

Letter Written Six Months Ago Given Out in Order to Establish Real Position. Strongly Recommends Constructive Legislation by Congress Rather Than "Doubtful Stretch of Temporary War Powers of the Government."

The Food Administration issues the following:

The President has directed the publication of a confidential report made to himself by Herbert Hoover, United States Food Administrator, nearly six months ago in order to establish the real position of Mr. Hoover and the Food Administration on the control of the Chicago packing industries. In this report Mr. Hoover again reiterated his former advice of the national danger from this growing domination of the Nation's food and strongly recommended constructive legislation at the hands of Congress rather than the doubtful stretch of temporary war powers of the Government as being the only method by which a permanent solution can be obtained.

Mr. Hoover's Report.

The report follows:

SEPTEMBER 11, 1918.

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT: In response to your request, I beg to set out my observations on the recommendations of the Federal Trade Commission with regard to the five large packing firms.

I scarcely need to repeat the views that I expressed to you nearly a year ago, that there is here a growing and dangerous domination of the handling of the Nation's foodstuffs.

I do not feel that appreciation of this domination of necessity implies wrongdoing on the part of the proprietors, but is the natural outgrowth of various factors which need correction. In an objective understanding of this situation, it is necessary to review the underlying economics of its growth.

CABLE CENSORSHIP RELAXATION

The Chief Cable Censor, Navy Department, announces that effective February 20, the restrictions imposed by the "Regulations of U. S. Cable Censorship" will no longer be enforced on normally routed cablegrams which both originate and terminate in the United States, Alaska, Porto Rico, Virgin Islands, Hawaiian Islands, Philippine Islands, or any other island possessions of the United States in the Pacific.

Message to Clemenceau From Secretary Baker Expressing Grief Over Attempt Upon His Life

The Secretary of War has to-day sent the following cablegram to Gen. Pershing:

"Please send the following message to Mr. Clemenceau for me:

"I am inexpressably shocked and grieved at the attempt upon your life, which is just reported by cable to us, and beg to express my deep concern and hope for your speedy recovery. The great genius and determination which you have used so splendidly in the service of the world has made us all your debtor. May that same spirit give you triumph over the assassin's bullet and save you for further services to France and to the world. Baker."

"NEWTON D. BAKER,
Secretary of War."

MAY SELL SURPLUS PROPERTY IN ADJUSTMENT OF CONTRACTS FOR WAR SUPPLIES WITHOUT REFERENCE TO SALES DIRECTOR

AUTHORITY GRANTED TO BUREAUS

Sale or Agreement to Sell Must Be Incident to Contract and Proper Sales Officer or Board of Bureau Must Be Consulted.

The War Department publishes the following supply circular issued by the Director of Purchase, Storage and Traffic:

"The bureaus of the War Department are hereby authorized to sell without further reference to the Director of Sales, any surplus property covered by the act of July 9, 1918, and War Department Bulletin No. 1, 1919, provided:

"(a) That the sale or agreement to sell is made as an incident to the contract for war supplies or the settlement of such a contract which has been suspended or reduced, and has the approval of such contracting officer, board, or higher authority, as may be required to approve such contracts or settlements, and

"(b) That the proper sales officer or board of the bureau shall be consulted as to the terms, conditions, and advisability of the sale or agreement to sell.

Full Report Required.

"A full report shall be rendered to the Director of Sales, office of the Director of Purchase, Storage, and Traffic, immediately upon the completion of each such sale, showing the character of the property sold, to whom sold, the price received therefor and the purpose for which sold.

"It is believed to be of advantage to the Government in the settlement of any contract to have the contractor retain as much as possible of the property involved, provided, he will take it at a fair price. Any property that can not be disposed of in this way becomes surplus and should be turned over to the Director of Sales for disposal. The Director of Sales is at all times ready to take over and dispose of such property if the contractor will not pay a fair price for it, and it is not the policy of the department to sell property to contractors who are known to intend to market it, or contractors who take it for speculative purposes and not for their own use."

Regulation in Bulletin No. 1.

The regulation in War Department Bulletin No. 1, 1919, mentioned in the foregoing, is as follows:

II. Sale of surplus property acquired since April 6, 1917.—Section V, Bulletin

Victory Liberty Loan Drive Will Begin About April 21, Secretary of Treasury Says

Statement by Secretary Glass:

The Victory Liberty Loan campaign will begin not later than April 21. The requirements of the Treasury are imperative and can not be financed without such a campaign. The form and terms of the securities to be issued remain to be determined. Whether they be bonds or notes, it is absolutely essential that the widest possible measure of distribution be realized. This will necessitate a campaign of the same character as that conducted in the past through the existing Liberty Loan organizations. They have pledged again their united support in order that the Victory Liberty Loan bonds or notes may be distributed as widely as possible among the American people.

3. These regulations supersede all previous regulations, authorizations, or instructions, either special or general, heretofore issued on this subject.

4. Authorizations of sales in conformity herewith heretofore made by the Director of Purchase, Storage, and Traffic are ratified and confirmed.

Revenue Officers to Aid.

Revenue officers will visit every county in the United States to aid taxpayers in making out their returns. The date of their arrival and the location of their offices may be ascertained by inquiring at offices of collectors of internal revenue, post offices, and banks. Failure to see these officers, however, does not relieve the taxpayer of his obligation to file his return and pay his tax within the time specified by law. In this case taxpayers must seek the Government, not the Government the taxpayer.

INTERNAL REVENUE BUREAU BEGINS WORK ON COLLECTION OF NEW $6,000,000,000 TAX

RETURNS TO BE FILED BY MARCH 15

Penalties Imposed Include Both Fine and Imprisonment for Failure or Willful Refusal — Rates and Exemptions.

The Internal Revenue Bureau authorizes the following:

Work on the collection of $6,000,000,000 has been begun by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. This is the estimated yield of the new revenue bill. The income-tax provisions of the act reach the pocket-book of every single person in the United States whose net income for 1918 was $1,000 or more, and of every married person whose net income was $2,000 or more. Persons whose net income equaled or exceeded these amounts, according to their marital status, must file a return of income with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which they live on or before March 15.

Penalties for Failure.

Here is what will happen to them if they don't: For failure to file a return on time, a fine of not more than $1,000 and an additional assessment of 25 per cent of the amount of tax due.

For "willfully refusing" to make a return on time, a fine not exceeding $10,000, or not exceeding one year's imprisonment, or both.

For making a false or fraudulent return, a fine of not more than $10,000, or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, together with an additional assessment of 50 per cent of the amount of tax evaded.

Failure to Pay on Time.

For failure to pay the tax on time a fine of not more than $1,000 and an additional assessment of 5 per cent of the amount of tax unpaid, plus 1 per cent interest for each full month during which it remains unpaid.

In addition to the $1,000 and $2,000 personal exemptions, taxpayers are allowed an exemption of $200 for each person dependent upon them for chief support, if such person is under 18 years of age and incapable of self-support. Under the 1917 act this exemption was allowed only for each dependent "child." The head of a family—one who supports one or more persons closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage, or by adoption—is entitled to all exemptions allowed a married person.

Normal Rate of Tax.

The normal rate of tax under the new act is 6 per cent of the first $4,000 of net income above the exemptions, and 12 per cent of the net income in excess of $4,000. Incomes in excess of $5,000 are subject also to a surtax, ranging from 1 per cent of the amount of the net income between $5,000 and $6,000 to 65 per cent of the net income above $1,000,000.

Payment of the tax may be made in full at the time of filing return or in four

Lamb, American Walnut Manufacturers' Association, Washington, D. C.; Frank Purcell, Frank Purcell, Kansas City, Kans.; V. L. Clark, Des Moines Saw Mill Co., Des Moines, Iowa; Charles E. Seigmund, Williamson Veneer Co., Baltimore, Md.

Chairman States Purpose.

The chairman of these conferences, Richard L. Humphrey, stated their purpose was to give further consideration to the method of procedure for the disposal of Government surplus stocks of hardwoods and walnut lumber that would be for the best interests of the Government and at the same time meet with the approval of the industry.

In the case of hardwoods, those present at the conference agreed that the quantity, less than 9,000,000 feet, was too small to be even a factor in the market. A plan was agreed to by which a committee representing the producers is to act in an advisory capacity to the Director of Sales of the War Department in the disposition of the small amounts of surplus hardwoods not absorbed by the construction bureaus of the Government or by the

DECISION AFFECTING PAY RATE OF CADETS IN THE AIR SERVICE

Entitled to $100 Per Month While in Training April 1 to June 30, 1918.

The War Department authorizes publication of the following:

A recent decision of the Comptroller of the Treasury is to the effect that cadets who were in training for commissions in the Air Service from April 1 to June 30, 1918, should have been paid at the rate of $100 per month under the appropriation act of June 15, 1917.

The Director of Finance has been authorized, under arrangements with the Auditor for the War Department, to settle these unpaid accounts of cadets on supplemental final statements. This holds in the case of all cadets who have been subsequently discharged or commissioned, or both. Settlement will be made in this manner not only for the difference in pay before July 1, 1918, but also for the 50 per cent increase of pay for flying duty subsequently to that date.

The necessary forms to be filled out in getting settlement for these unpaid accounts will be furnished on application to the Director of Finance, 3202 Munitions Building, Washington, D. C.

Communications on this subject should not be addressed to the Director of Military Aeronautics, but to the above address.

Instructions on Railroad Freight Traffic Charges

The United States Railroad Administration issues the following:

The Director General has instructed the freight traffic committees that they are not to docket or send out for consideration by the public any case involving a general advance or a general readjustment as to rates, fares, charges, regulations, or practices in a territory or district on one or more commodities until the matter has first been submitted to him and approved for consideration with the public.

industry; this committee to advise as to market conditions and to assist in securing purchasers for the stocks as rapidly as they become available. It was agreed by those present that this action on the part of the Government removes these small surplus stocks as a disturbing factor in the hardwood market.

Walnut Lumber Conference.

The conference in regard to walnut lumber brought out the fact that the Government representatives having these stocks in charge would so dispose of the stocks as not to in any way adversely affect the market. The plan is under consideration by which these stocks will be disposed of in cooperation with the industry, and the representatives of the walnut industry agreed to submit a proposal for the purchase of these stocks on or before February 27.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE CONGRESS BRIEFLY TOLD

SENATE.

After several days of discussion the rivers and harbors appropriation bill was passed. It carries a total of $33,000,000, which is $6,000,000 greater than when passed by the House. The largest item added in the Senate was $4,000,000 for the construction of locks and dams in the Ohio and Allegheny rivers. The substitute of Senator King to appropriate a total of $5,000,000 to be expended under the supervision of a waterways commission was rejected, as was a proposal of Senator Smoot to limit the expenditures to $15,000,000, the latter being rejected by a vote of 38 to 10. After prolonged discussion an amendment of Senator Lenroot was adopted. This authorizes the International Joint Commission to investigate the advisability of an ocean-going ship waterway to connect the St. Lawrence river and the Great Lakes by enlarging the Welland Canal. It was adopted by a vote of 43 to 18. Surveys also were authorized for ship canals from the Hudson River to the lake and from Lake Erie to the Ohio River by way of the Miami and Erie Canal.

There was brief discussion of the proposed constitution of the League of Nations yesterday when Senator Vardaman attacked its constitutionality and criticized the President for requesting Congress to forego discussion of it until his return to this country. Senator Poindexter, Republican, of Washington, gave notice last evening he would address the Senate to-day concerning the League and other Senators have intimated their purpose to speak. Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, and a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, made public the text of a letter he had written Secretary Tumulty declining the President's invitation to a White House dinner at which the proposed League of Nations was expected to be discussed. The Idaho Senator said his views were so opposed to those of the President that he deemed it best that he should not cause any embarrassment by attending any conference upon the subject.

Senator Pittman to-day called up the conference report on the oil leasing bill, that report having been adopted in the House yesterday afternoon. Senator Townsend, of Michigan, introduced a bill providing for the construction through Federal aid of a national highways system intended to link the States together. Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, Democrat, introduced a joint resolution designed to reform conditions with respect to courts-martial and to reopen cases disposed of during the present war and provide for their review by commissions to be appointed by the President.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, was a witness before the Interstate Commerce Committee which is investigating the railroad situation. Mr. Willard said there had been nothing in the experience gathered during the war to show that the railroads had broken down. He said both private operation and Federal regulation had proved successful and should be continued. He opposed a continuance of Federal operation for a period of five years. Before the committee investigating the coal situation, Albert R. Jessup, of Jeddo, Pa., criticised the earnings of the anthracite railroads and declared that the high rate on that commodity not only increased the cost to the consumer, but greatly restricted the zone within which it could be sold. Governor Allen, of Kansas, appeared before the Military Committee and repeated the statements he made before the House Rules Committee in advocating an investigation of the conditions surrounding the 35th Division in its fight in the battle of the Argonne. Governor Allen also was before the House Rules Committee again yesterday. That body decided that there would not be time enough during the remainder of the session to conduct any inquiry and therefore declined to favorably report the rule requested. Before the Naval Committee Admiral Taylor, chief of the Bureau of Construction, stated that all of the 16 capital ships authorized by Congress will be under construction within a year and that all of them would be completed within the next four years. Herman Bernstein, an American writer recently returned from Russia, was a witness before the propaganda investigating committee and told of conditions in that country as he witnessed them and studied them at first hand. He said he knew certain men who had been in the employ of the Bolsheviks had been sent to this country to engage in propaganda work.

A favorable report was ordered by the military committee on the bill to establish a military cemetery in France to be known as the "American Field of Honor." The buildings committee which has been investigating the subject of hospitals reported in favor of taking over the Chicago speedway hospital project at a cost of $2,500,000 and submitted a bill providing for the consolidation of the work of caring for sick and wounded soldiers under the Public Health Service and the War Risk Insurance Bureau. Extension and improvement of a number of War Department hospitals is provided for. The Judiciary Committee announced a special meeting for to-morrow to consider a bill by Senator New, of Indiana, to prohibit the display of the red flag and a bill by Senator Jones, of Washington, prescribing severe penalties for the dissemination of radical propaganda.

HOUSE.

The Army bill for the next fiscal year was finally passed late last evening, carrying an appropriation of $1,070,000,000. The Committee on Rules refused to bring in a rule making in order the provision for a temporary Army on the basis of 500,000 enlisted men, and the House substituted a Senate bill restoring voluntary enlistments and fixing the strength of the Regular Army at 175,000, which, with other units, will bring the force up to a little more than 200,000. Every legislative rider of any importance went out on points of order. The provision continuing the present pay of enlisted men at $30 a month was restored, the period of enlistment limited to one year, and the provision struck out requiring that the men should be placed on the reserve list after the expiration of their term of

STEPS TAKEN TO STANDARDIZE OIL PRODUCTS SPECIFICATIONS

Fuel Administration Sends Letter to State Governors Concerning Laws Relating to Petroleum.

In an endeavor to bring the specifications for petroleum and its products into harmonious relation one with the other in the different States, the United States Fuel Administration has sent a letter to the governor of every State in the Union, in which is inclosed a memorandum concerning the laws in each State as to gasoline inspection, and also copies of the bulletins issued by the committee on standardization of petroleum specifications.

Investigated for Months.

This committee for months has been investigating the question of specifications for gasoline and other petroleum products. The most expert authorities in the country have been in consultation, and a series of standards are gradually being developed which are being put out from time to time in bulletin form.

The memorandum prepared regarding the laws of the different States covering gasoline inspection show that the specifications vary to a great degree in different localities. It is believed that such conflicts tend to make the product cost the consumer more money without an equal offset in advantages. Common standards, the committee on standardization contends, both as to method of test and quality, would result in much better service to the public.

Committee's Term of Existence.

In the appeal made to the governors of the various States for cooperation, it is pointed out that while the Fuel Administration will cease to function when peace is proclaimed, the committee on standardization of petroleum specifications is to continue in existence six months after that time.

The whole program, however, is subject to further consideration or revision by the committee.

REPORT ON CONTROL OF THE PACKING INDUSTRY

At one time our food animals were wholly slaughtered and distributed locally. The ingenious turning to account of the by-products from slaughtering when dealt with on a large scale gave the foundation for consolidation of slaughtering in the larger centers. From this grew the necessity for special cars for live-stock transport and the large stockyards at terminals. The creation of those facilities were largely stimulated and to a considerable extent owned by the packers. Added to this was the application of refrigeration processes for the preservation of meat, which at once extended the period of preservation and the radius of distribution from the slaughter centers, enabled larger slaughtering nearer the great western producing area, and further contributed to the centralization of the industry.

Expensive Primary Equipment.

This enlarged scope, particularly the refrigeration operations, require not only the expensive primary equipment, but a network of refrigerator cars, icing stations, and cold storage at distribution points. This special car service in products is of the nature of the Pullman service; it must traverse railroad lines independent of ownership, and, moreover, it is seasonal and varies regionally in different seasons. For each railway to have foreseen and to have provided sufficient of this highly specialized equipment is asking the impossible, and, in any event, no particular railway could be expected to provide sufficient of these cars to answer the shifting of seasonal and regional demands outside its own lines.

Advantage to Larger Packers.

Thus the provision of a large part of the stockyards and car services has naturally fallen in considerable degree to the larger and more wealthy packers who have used their advantages as in effect a special and largely exclusive railway privilege with which to build up their own business.

From the stage of establishment of a multiplicity of marketing facilities, such as cold storage, warehouses, branch offices, etc., grew direct dealings with retail dealers and finally resulted in a large elimination of the wholesale traders.

Through this practical railway privilege, the numerous branch establishments, the elimination of wholesale intermediaries, and with large banking alliances this group have found themselves in position not only to dominate the distribution of interstate animal products, but to successfully invade many other lines of food and other commodity preparation and distribution. Their excellence of organization, the standing of their brands, and control of facilities now threaten even further inroads against independent manufacturers and wholesalers of other food products. They now vend scores of different articles, and this constantly increasing list now approaches a dominating proportion of the interstate business in several different food lines.

Question of Competition.

It is a matter of great contention as to whether these five firms compete among themselves, and the records of our courts and public bodies are monuments to this contention.

Entirely aside from any question of conspiracy to eliminate competition amongst themselves and against outsiders, it appears to me that these five firms, closely paralleling each other's business as they do, with their wide knowledge of business conditions in every section, must at least follow coincident lines of action and must naturally refrain from persistent, sharp, competitive action toward each other. They certainly avoid such competition to considerable extent. Their hold on the meat and many other trades has become so large through the vast equipment of slaughter houses, cars, and distributing branches, and banking alliances which each of the five controls, that it is practically inconceivable that any new firms can rise to their class, and in any event even sharp competition between the few can only tend to reduce the number of five and not increase it.

Strategic Advantage in Marketing.

Of equal public importance is the fact that their strategic advantage in marketing equipment, capital, and organization must tend to further increase the area of their invasion into trades outside of animal products. Furthermore, as these few firms are the final reservoir for all classes of animals, when the few yards where they buy become erratically oversupplied with more animals than their absolute requirements, it remains in their hands to fluctuate prices by mere refusal to buy—and not necessarily by any conspiracy. In other words, the narrow number of buyers undoubtedly produces an unstable market which reacts to discourage production. It can be contended, I believe, that those concerns have developed great economic efficiency, that their costs of manufacture and profits are made from the wastes of 40 years ago.

Ultimate Social Result.

The problem we have to consider, however, is the ultimate social result of this expanding domination, and whether it can be replaced by a system of better social character and of equal economic efficiency for the present and of greater promise for the future. It is certain, to my mind, that these businesses have been economically efficient in their period of competitive upgrowth, but as time goes on this efficiency can not fail to diminish and, like all monopolies, begin to defend itself by repression rather than by efficiency. The worst social result of this whole growth in domination of trades is the undermining of the initiative and the equal opportunity of our people and the tyranny which necessarily follows in the commercial world.

Federal Trade Commission Recommendations.

The Federal Trade Commission's recommendations fall into three parts:

(A) That the Railroad Administration take over all animal and refrigeration car services.

(B) That they take over the stockyard terminals.

(C) That the Federal Government itself take over the packers' branch houses, cold-storage warehouses, etc., with a view, I assume, to the establishing of equal opportunity of entrance into distribution among all manufacturers and traders.

As to the first part of this recommendation, on car service, I am in full agreement and may recall to you that soon after its installation we recommended that the Railway Administration should take over and operate all private car lines in food products. This has, to some degree, been accomplished through their car-service division.

These arrangements are purely under war powers, and if the reforms proposed are to be of any value, they must be placed upon a permanent basis and not merely for the war. There can be no doubt that the car services in order to obtain the results desired and the greatest national economy, must be greatly expanded and must be operated from a national point of view, rather than from that of each individual railway. Moreover, they are highly technical services beyond the ordinary range of railway management and need to embrace all cooled cars as well as meat cars. Whether this service on a national scale should be conducted by the Government or by private enterprise, under control as a public utility, seems to me to require further thought, and, in any event, to depend upon the ultimate disposal of the railway question.

Control of Stockyards.

As to the stockyards, I am in agreement that they should be entirely dissociated from the control of the packers. A distinction must be drawn between the stockyards as a physical market place and the buying and selling conducted therein. In the first sense, the complaints largely center around the exclusion, not of buyers and sellers, but of the prevention of competitors from establishing packing plants either upon land of the yards, or of obtaining track and other connections therewith. The solution of this problem in permanent form will also depend upon the ultimate solution of the railway problem. If the Government should acquire the railways, it would appear to me that it should, as a part of the system, acquire the yards. If the Government returns the railways to their owners, it would appear to me that these ends could be accomplished by appropriate regulation under the Interstate Commerce Commission, and this should be done ad interim. As to the wrong practices between buyers and sellers, these would not be corrected by the Government owning or controlling the physical yards; they are, in fact, now under war regulation by the Department of Agriculture.

Branch Houses and Cold Storage.

As to the recommendation that the Federal Government should at once take over the packers' branch houses, cold-storage and warehouse facilities, I find much difficulty. I do not assume that the Trade Commission contemplates the Government entering upon the purchase and sale of meat and groceries at these establishments. Nor does it appear to me that the individual separate and scattered branch houses of the packers furnish any proper physical basis for free terminal wholesale markets. In discussion with the independent packers I find no belief that the packers' branch houses would serve as a basis of universal market service, and I find much differences of opinion as to public markets as a solution. Any of the great packers' equipment in this particular would in any event require a great deal of extension to effect such objectives, and we are in no position to find the material and labor during the war.

REPORT ON CONTROL OF THE PACKING INDUSTRY

Assurance to Food Trades.

We do need an absolute assurance to the food trades of such terminal facilities as will allow any manufacturer or dealer in any food product equal opportunity to handle and store his goods pending their final distribution. The usefulness of either public, wholesale, or retail markets in the promotion of these ends is a matter of great division of opinion. The most predominant feeling in the independent trades is that if sites can be made available, adjacent to railway facilities, the trades themselves would solve the matter. In any event, the whole public-market question is peculiar to each city and town, and my own inquiries find little belief that the present branch houses of the packers would serve this purpose. Furthermore, my own instinct, in any event, is against Federal ownership of such facilities, and our own inquiries rather indicate that if transportation questions, together with factors mentioned later on, are put right, this problem will solve itself. Altogether, I do not consider that the prime object of maintaining the initiative of our citizens and of our local communities is to be secured by this vast expansion of Federal activities.

One Effect of Centralization.

There are certain matters relating to the development and control of the packing industry which are not referred to in the report of the Trade Commission, which appear to me of first importance. One effect of the great centralization of this industry has been the stultification or decline in slaughter near many large cities and towns. I believe this has been initially due to the inability to recover by-products to such advantage as under the centralization, a disability that does not now generally exist, for most of these products now have an outlet. It has also been partially due to the cheaper animals from the cheaper lands of the West—and this disparity in costs of animal production has greatly diminished with settlement of the country. It is also partially due to at least the fear that the great packers would direct their power of underselling against such enterprises. If proper abattoirs could be extended near the larger towns, possibly with municipal help and the operations therein protected from illegitimate competition, I believe they would not only succeed, but would greatly stimulate the local production of meat animals. One effect would be a great stabilization of prices by a wider based market than that now so largely dependent upon a small group of buyers.

Leaves Problems Unsolved.

Another phase of the question lies around the fact that I feel the solutions propounded by the Trade Commission will not entirely solve the problem of the invasion of many other lines of food handling besides animal products. This portion of their business is more largely supported by their larger credits and their elimination of the wholesale grocer rather than upon railway privilege. As to whether such goods can be vented more economically direct than through the wholesaler is a matter of much contention. It seems to me, however, that this whole phase of absorption of other food industries requires consideration. It appears to me at least worth thought as to whether these aggregations should not be confined to more narrow and limited activities, say those involved in the slaughter of animals, the preparation and marketing of the products therefrom alone. Such a course might solve the branch house problem, and it is not an unknown legislative control, as witness our banks, railways, and insurance companies.

One other cause also chokes the free marketing of food in the United States, which will not be reached by the ultimate action on the above lines, and that is the present insufficient standardization of our food products, and this would contribute to strengthen the independent manufacturer.

Summary of Conclusions.

In summation I believe that the ultimate solution of this problem is to be obtained by assuring equal opportunity in transportation, equal opportunity in the location of manufacturing sites and of terminal sites, and the limitation of the activities of these businesses. In this situation I believe that the 50 minor meat-packing establishments and the hundreds of other food preservers could successfully expand their interstate activities and that local slaughter would increase with economic gain to the community, and all through continued competition constantly improve our manufacturing and distributing processes to the advantage of both producer and consumer. The detailed methods, except in the manifest case of car and stockyard control, require much more thought.

The activity of the Food Administration is necessarily founded on securing the largest service and the least disruption and danger to distribution during this period of national strain. To take such a radical step as to seize the packers' branch houses for the war would effect no permanent values and would surely disrupt distribution at this time. The packers are to-day performing their economic duties of preserving and distributing the meat supplies to our own population and the allies, as distinguished from the social results of their organization, and the only outstanding question from a purely win-the-war point of view is whether the packers are to-day imposing upon their competitors and whether their remuneration is exorbitant. These are matters which can be remedied during the war by regulation and taxation.

War Emergency and Permanent Solution.

I would, in any event, separate the whole problem into a question as to what should be done as a war emergency and what should be done as a permanent solution of the whole question. I do not feel that the Government should undertake the solution of the problem by the temporary authority conferred under the war powers of the Railway and Food Administrations, which must terminate with peace, but rather that it should be laid before Congress for searching consideration, exhaustive debate, and development of public opinion, just as has been necessary in the development of the public interest in our banks, insurance companies, and railways.

Yours, faithfully,

HERBERT HOOVER.

CANDY FOR SOLDIERS SHIPPED IN SURPLUS TIN BREAD CANS

The War Department authorizes the following statement from the office of the Director of Purchase and Storage:

The signing of the armistice made surplus 6,000,000 cans which had been manufactured especially for shipping hard bread. The end of trench warfare eliminated the need of hard bread in tin cans, and so study had to be made as to the disposition of this large number of tins.

Solution of Problem Found.

The Subsistence Division solved the problem by using the tins for shipping hard candies, and by supplying the cans 5 or 6 cents will be saved on each pound of candy purchased. The March requirements of hard candies totaled 1,800,000 pounds, the saving by supplying the cans being $90,000. There yet remain over 4,000,000 hard-bread cans to be used for candy, which in the next few months will result in the saving of $290,000 on candy to the Government.

Inspection of Candy.

Due to the number of purchases of candy made for the Army during the last three months, a complete system of inspection for all kinds of candy has been instituted by the Subsistence Division. The purchases during this period were in excess of 20,000,000 pounds. Analyses are being made of samples from all factories making candy for the Army and checks are made against all deliveries, insuring a pure product for use of the troops. In addition to the analyses, orders have been issued that special investigations be made of all plants making candy for the Army.

$1,015,067,471 INVESTED IN THRIFT AND SAVINGS STAMPS BY AMERICANS IN 1918

Americans in 1918 invested $1,015,067,471.80 in Thrift and War Savings Stamps, according to the report issued to-day by the Savings Division, Treasury Department. The total represents a per capita investment of $9.64, according to the latest census figures.

To Nebraska goes the credit of having attained the highest total with net sales of $27,450,189.85 and a per capita sale of $21.18. Ohio came second with a total of $86,244,733.20 and a per capita of $16.39, and South Dakota third with $9,911,807.81 and a per capita of $16.38. The District of Columbia which had been organized as a separate unit for the sale of Thrift and War Savings Stamps was fourth with a per capita of $15.93, sales being $5,882,850.40. The gross sales for Ohio were the largest of any State.

December sales alone aggregated $83,728,119.43, Connecticut leading with $3,568,370.70, a per capita sale of $2.67. Vermont with a per capita sale of $2.03 was second, and Iowa third with a per capita of $1.71.

The report of sales by States, and by districts where States have been divided, was as follows:

List of Colleges Which Will Admit Returning U. S. Soldiers as "Specials"

Advisers of soldiers awaiting discharge have received the following statement from the United States Commissioner of Education:

The Bureau of Education has placed in your hands a circular summarizing briefly the opportunities at college for returning soldiers. The information contained in this circular is primarily directed to young men who have had preliminary education enough to meet college entrance requirements.

There are many other men now awaiting discharge who are not regularly or formally prepared for college, but who are undoubtedly of exceptional intelligence, and who now, as the result of their Army contacts, aspire to a more advanced training. The Bureau of Education has suggested to all colleges and universities that they consider the admission as "war specials" of such of these men as give evidence of being able to pursue a part or all of a college course. It has suggested that each college desiring to admit these irregularly prepared candidates who have been in the military service should designate a special officer (or, in the large universities, a committee) to test applicants and to examine their credentials.

Scheme of Admission.

It proposes that the scheme of admission should include the following:

(a) A personal interview of every candidate by the officer (or one of the members of the committee), the purpose of which will be to determine the character of the applicant's schooling and experience and his general qualifications for the college work he wishes to undertake.

(b) An intelligence test.

(c) In the case of candidates desiring to enter courses of study which by their professional nature require advanced and technical preparation, the giving of such examinations as will satisfy the institutional officers of the applicants' fitness to pursue such courses.

A considerable number of institutions have signified their readiness to admit students on the suggested basis, or on some modification of it. The Bureau of Education believes that the advisers of soldiers awaiting discharge should be prepared to inform them of these truly exceptional opportunities. A man who in ordinary times would not be admitted to a reputable college because of a defective preparation now has a chance to pursue a college course, provided he can demonstrate his capacity.

ARMY OBSERVER'S EXPERIENCE AS A PARACHUTE PERFORMER

The Department of Military Aeronautics authorizes the following:

First Lieut. W. J. B. Taylor, observer, Balloon Corps, First Army, residence Rochester, N. Y., has reported to the Division of Military Aeronautics headquarters from overseas for discharge. Taylor wears the distinguished service cross awarded him in action on September 26 and October 10 for declining to discontinue making observations for the division commander when his balloon was attacked by enemy airplanes and refusing to abandon his records, although he could have safely jumped in his parachute.

One of Five Harvard Roommates.

Lieut. Taylor is one of five roommates, at Harvard in 1917, who enlisted, three of whom have been decorated and two killed in action. The other four were: Capt. Douglas Campbell, aviator; Lieut. L. A. Morgan, 328th Field Artillery; Lieut. K. P. Culbert, aerial observer, Marine Corps, East Orange, awarded croix de guerre after death; Lieut. A. K. Dunn, 76th Division, Charleston, Ill., killed in action.

From the records, it appears Taylor had several unusual experiences in parachute jumping under fire. One time he landed in a tree; another time on an army mule. This last adventure took place about the first of October, near Montfaucon when the Infantry were assaulting Romagne. Taylor had been up about two hours watching the Boche Infantry digging in and fortifying machine-gun nests in front of the United States Infantry attack. Suddenly in the midst of this observation his balloon was attacked by a single-seater combat plane. The Hun pilot was so near him that he could easily distinguish the man's features. But on account of the close range and the very hot fire, Taylor did not hesitate to jump immediately. The German pilot missed the balloon in his first onslaught and turned to follow it down, as the crew below hauled it to earth. Despite the machine-gun fire of the Balloon Company against him, the Hun came as low as 200 feet. His engine was finally so badly hit that he lost control and fell. The motor was cracked up but the plane was undamaged and as the Hun landed he vigorously cursed the Americans, one and all, whereupon a buck private punched him in the face.

Landed on Mule's Back.

In the meantime Taylor's parachute had carried him well beyond this exciting scene into a peaceful pasture and a herd of Army mules, one of which he landed and was rescued from the bucking, kicking animal by some artillerymen who came by just in time. Taylor said he was more concerned over his seat on the Army mule than he was about his safety in making the parachute jump.

RED CROSS OFFICERS ELECTED AT ADJOURNED ANNUAL MEETING

Officers of the American Red Cross who will direct the activities of the organization on a peace basis were selected at an adjourned annual meeting held at national headquarters February 16. The war council appointed by President Wilson, May 10, 1917, will formally transfer its affairs to the new administration March 1 and retire on that date. Four members of the war council, however, will remain with the organization as members of the executive committee. These are Henry P. Davison, of New York; Eliot Wadsworth, of Boston; Cornelius N. Bliss, jr., of New York, and George E. Scott, of Chicago.

Dr. Farrand Assumed Office.

Dr. Livingston Farrand, formerly president of the University of Colorado, recently appointed chairman of the central committee of the Red Cross, succeeding former President Taft, assumed his new office. Dr. Farrand will be ex officio chairman of the executive committee.

The national officers elected at the meeting were: President, Woodrow Wilson; vice presidents, William H. Taft and Robert W. de Forest, of New York; treasurer, John Skelton Williams; counselor, Alexander King; secretary, Stockton Axson. These are reelections with the exception of Mr. Taft, who fills a newly created office of vice president. Heretofore there has been but one vice president.

Members of Central Committee.

Following are members of the central committee just appointed by President Wilson: Chairman, Dr. Livingston Farrand; vice chairman, Willoughby Walling, of Chicago; Robert Lansing, Secretary of State, to represent the Department of State; John Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency, to represent the Treasury Department; Maj. Gen. Merritte W. Ireland, Surgeon General, U. S. Army, to represent the War Department; Rear Admiral William C. Braisted, Surgeon General, U. S. Navy, to represent the Navy Department; Alexander King, Solicitor General, to represent the Department of Justice.

Members of the central committee elected by the board of incorporators of the Red Cross are: Miss Mabel T. Boardman, Washington; John Bassett Moore, New York; Judge W. W. Morrow, San Francisco; John D. Ryan, Butte, Mont.; Mrs. Frank V. Hammar, St. Louis, Mo.; George E. Scott, Chicago.

Members of the central committee elected by chapter delegates to the annual meeting are: Cornelius N. Bliss, jr., New York; John M. Glenn, New York; Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, Washington; Eliot Wadsworth, Boston; Charles D. Norton, New York; Henry P. Davison, New York.

The executive committee, the active governing body of the Red Cross, which is a subcommittee of the central committee chosen by the central committee, follows: Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman ex officio; Surg. Gen. Merritte W. Ireland, of the Army; Surg. Gen. William C. Braisted, of the Navy; Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane; Henry P. Davison, of New York; Eliot Wadsworth, of Boston; Cornelius N.

Labor Troubles Adjusted in Secret By Department's Inspection Service

The U. S. Department of Labor authorizes the following:

The Department of Labor is now able to explain to some degree the work of the Investigation and Inspection Service, a subsidiary organization of the department, whose work, conducted with absolute secrecy during the war, was of the utmost importance in maintaining the production of war supplies and in checking labor disputes before they led to strikes.

In many cases its work supplemented that of the Conciliation Service, which also operated without publicity during the war. Hundreds of incipient disputes were promptly settled by the department's investigators without the necessity for calling in mediators.

One Instance in West Cited.

Examples show the prompt action taken by the service. In one case, in the far West, a Government contract was endangered by a serious labor crisis due to a wage dispute. Furthermore, the fourth Liberty loan was coming and the workmen said they could not afford to buy bonds. Investigators ascertained the facts, communicated with the firm's headquarters in New York, obtained a large increase in wages for the employees, and settled the whole matter satisfactorily within a few hours of the first agent's arrival at the western plant. Harmony was restored, the Government contract was filled on time, and the fourth loan went over in that plant with a big oversubscription.

In another case, a Government contract was held up by a factory having a subcontract. Conditions in this subcontract factory were found to be deplorable, especially for women and children, and a very serious waste of precious material also was shown. There were numerous accidents in the plant, many of which crippled mere children of 14 or 15 years. One investigator found that an entire carload of the factory's product was hopelessly defective. The War Industries Board took prompt action on the report and the subcontract was withdrawn from the offending firm.

A case in the iron and steel industry where the State officials were unable to compel correction of very bad working conditions was appealed to the Federal Department of Labor. An agent from the Investigation Service conducted an inquiry with an agent from the State department. Unguarded machinery, bad sanitary conditions, and, during the winter, severe cold within the factory that required men to wear their overcoats while at work, were among the difficulties with which workmen had to contend. The work of the Investigation Service resulted in prompt remedial action on the part of the plant.

A condition of actual terrorism was revealed in a Southern shipbuilding center, through labor troubles in an occupation not connected with war work. The whole occasion for the condition rested upon a misunderstanding on the part of workmen and a group of professional men and business men. The latter were disposed to class workmen who merely wanted a living wage with German spies and traitors, and so tense did feeling become that civil war almost threatened. Although only a nonwar craft was involved directly, a labor outbreak would have involved the shipbuilders and might have resulted in a serious delay to the Nation's shipbuilding and transportation program. Race prejudices complicated the situation, which was rendered still worse by the memory of high-handed proceedings resulting from labor disputes in the past.

Solved by Woman Agent.

A woman agent of the service solved the problem promptly, and so quietly that almost no hint of the real nature of the difficulties became public. Misunderstandings were cleared away, a large factory which was responsible for a great deal of the bad feeling was brought into line, and a committee of public-spirited citizens was formed to prevent any recurrence of racial and industrial clashes.

In a hurriedly constructed "ammunition city" production was hindered by a huge labor turnover for which one of the main causes was a very bad system of management which resulted in interminable waits for assignments of jobs, for payment of wages, for adjustment of pay claims, and for transportation.

The advent of agents from the Investigation Service to look into the matter resulted in very prompt correction of many of the abuses.

Bliss, jr., of New York; George E. Scott, of Chicago.

To fill vacancies in the board of incorporators due to deaths, that board elected three women of prominence. They are Mrs. Leonard Wood, wife of Gen. Wood, Fort Riley, Kans.; Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Chicago; and Mrs. August Belmont, New York. Mrs. Belmont filled the post of assistant to the war council during the latter period of the war.

One of the features of the meeting was the report of the organization for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918, prepared and submitted by Eliot Wadsworth, acting chairman of the war council in the absence of Mr. Davison, now in Europe, and vice chairman of the central committee. The rapid and tremendous growth of the Red Cross during the year, its expansion from a domestic relief organization to one whose sheltering arm was extended to more than a score of countries is given considerable space in the report.

The report shows that at the end of the fiscal year 8,512 workers were employed in an administrative capacity at national, divisional, and foreign headquarters of the Red Cross. Of this number 1,955 were volunteers, 6,234 paid, and 323 unclassified, the exact status of the latter at the time the report was compiled not having been determined. These figures do not take into consideration the more than 8,000,000 volunteer women workers employed in Red Cross workrooms during the year, nor the more than 50,000 women volunteers who serve in the 700 Red Cross canteens which are located along the railroad lines of the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

New Ways of Seasoning and Testing Wood Used in Aircraft Production Developed by the Forest Laboratory

The Department of Agriculture authorizes the following:

A summary of results obtained at the Forest Products Laboratory of the Forest Service is contained in a report of the director of the laboratory to the forester, Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

Kiln-Drying Methods Improved.

At the time our aircraft program was launched practically no seasoned spruce stock was available. To air-dry green spruce 3 inches thick, such as is used in airplanes, requires from one to two years. The Forest Products Laboratory specified a method of kiln-drying by which green spruce airplane stock can be dried in from 20 to 40 days to the proper moisture content. Kilns were designed for the Army and Navy and for commercial companies capable of properly drying airplane stock, and men were furnished to operate them until operators could be trained at the laboratory. Seasoned stock was thus insured equal, if not superior, to air-seasoned material.

A relatively slight advantage in lightness and strength over the best substitute makes spruce the preferred airplane wood and warranted the organization of a Spruce Production Division. The same importance attaches to any saving in strength, however slight, that is accomplished through proper methods of seasoning. Exhaustive tests are showing that the Forest Service specifications produce better material than can be secured by drying in the air.

Strength of Airplane Woods.

Over 300,000 tests made on about 130 species of wood afforded basic information for aircraft design. From these data the relative suitability of various species of wood, the influence of defects, the relation between strength and density, and the influence of moisture can be determined. A table of strength values at 15 per cent moisture was prepared by the forest products laboratory, and adopted by the Army and Navy as a basis for the design of the wooden parts of aircraft.

Practically all airplane specifications for lumber and parts, accepted by both the Army and Navy, were either prepared or reviewed by the forest service.

The relative strength of various woods was investigated. The results obtained were bases for determining the best substitutes for spruce and also in eliminating undesirable species.

Training Courses Conducted.

The inspection of wood has played a greater part in the manufacture of aircraft than in any other industry, and at the beginning of the war the number of men qualified to undertake such a responsibility was very limited. The laboratory assisted in educating men for this work, first by preparing an inspectors' handbook on wood, and later by instituting regular courses in wood inspection.

Tests of Beams and Struts.

On account of the difficulty in securing suitable pieces for manufacturing the larger airplane parts and the necessity for conserving material, several series of tests were conducted at the laboratory on built-up beams and struts of various designs and also on various types of splices. Present specifications of the Army and Navy for laminated and spliced beams and laminated struts are based on the results of these tests.

A waterproof coating for airplane propellers, which incorporates thin aluminum leaf in the finish, was developed at the laboratory and placed in production by the War Department.

Direct assistance was given by the laboratory in stimulating the production of the materials needed for making waterproof glues, as well as the manufacture of the glues themselves, and a number of concerns were aided in developing satisfactory manufacturing procedure.

Several types of waterproof glues, both of the blood albumen and casein types, were worked out and were demonstrated to certain manufacturers upon request of the Bureau of Aircraft Production. One of these types is now obtainable upon the open market.

New Plywoods Developed.

Practically nothing was known of the mechanical and physical properties of plywood at the beginning of the war. The use of plywood in aircraft construction necessitated information of this kind, and the properties of plywood of many species was determined by the laboratory through elaborate series of strength tests.

The aircraft work of the Army and Navy Departments covers a much broader field than would seem possible at first thought. The results of real value that were obtained are many in number and far-reaching in application. At the time the armistice was signed production was increasing by leaps and bounds.

FAST EMPTYING U. S. RED CROSS HOSPITALS IN GREAT BRITAIN

The American Red Cross Bulletin, London, prints the following:

American wounded in England are being evacuated to the United States so quickly that it has been found possible to make arrangements to close a number of hospitals almost immediately.

American Red Cross hospital No. 23 (St. Katharine's Lodge) has already been closed. Several others to be closed in the next few weeks include the American Red Cross Convalescent Hospital for Officers, at Lingfield, Surrey; American Red Cross Hospital No. 21 at Paignton, Devon; the Army hospital built by the American Red Cross at Romsey, and the Army hospital at Hursley.

All Construction Stopped.

The larger base hospitals at Portsmouth, Dartford, and Tottenham will also soon be evacuated. All construction at these institutions stopped shortly after the signing of the armistice, and the United States Army medical authorities have notified the Red Cross that there will be no further need for canteens, recreation huts, and other Red Cross buildings at any of these places.

Sarisbury Court, at Southampton, and the two military hospitals at Liverpool will be the only American hospitals in Great Britain to be continued through the winter. American wounded in British hospitals and at evacuated hospitals will either be returned to the United States or transferred to one of these three hospitals. The medical authorities estimate that by early spring there will be only a few hundred wounded Americans left in this country.

About 2,000 American wounded from Dartford and Tottenham hospitals sailed for the United States last Saturday. They embarked on the steamship Saxonia from the Tilbury Docks, just outside London. The Saxonia was well stocked with Red Cross supplies of all kinds and a Red Cross officer was assigned to accompany the wounded on the trip across.

OBSERVATION SQUADRON'S WORK AT ST. MIHIEL AND ARGONNE

The following report was recently for- warded to the Director of Military Aero- nautics:

AMERICAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCES,
AMERICAN AIR SERVICE,
5TH CORPS OBSERVATION GROUP,
HDQTRS. 99TH AERO. OBS. SQDN.,
November 22, 1918.

SPECIAL ORDER No. 61.

Now that the enemy has capitulated, it is desired to call attention to the splen- did part played by the officers and men of this organization in both the St. Mihiel and Argonne-Meuse offensives.

In the St. Mihiel offensive, in spite of the unfavorable flying weather and a re- duced personnel, this organization during the 12 days, September 8-19, inclusive, made a total of 109 sorties, with time of 91 hours, averaging 7 hours 35 minutes per day. During this time an average of 17 planes was kept available out of a total of 22.

During the Argonne-Meuse offensive this organization made a total of 308 sorties with total time of 375 hours 27 minutes, making an average, excluding the days when flying was impossible, of 9 hours 25 minutes per day. During this time an average of 15 planes were always available out of 16.

A noticeable increase in efficiency will be observed from the fact that during the St. Mihiel offensive an average of 17 planes out of a total of 22 kept in com- mission, while during the Argonne-Meuse offensive the remarkable record of an average of 15 available out of a total of 16 planes was made. This increase in efficiency is due, not only to the greater experience over the lines of the flying personnel, but also to the increased earn- est and willing endeavor of the mecha- nicians and entire enlisted personnel of the squadron.

The record of the squadron is an en- viable one, and should be the pride of every one in the organization.

The squadron commander wishes to ex- press his heartfelt thanks to the organi- zation, individually and as a whole, for the excellent record made in the service of its country.
