COTTON GRADES AND RULES UNDER THE AMENDMENT TO FUTURES ACT EXPLAINED BY MARKET BUREAU CHIEF

OLD STYLE CONTRACT TRADING "DOUBTFUL"

No Objection to Be Made to Bona Fide Transactions
for Sole Purpose of Liquidation Before May 1, 1919.
Grades Deliverable and Undeliverable Under New Style Contracts.

Changes in transactions on cotton exchanges under the recent amendment to the cotton-futures act are explained by Charles J. Brand, chief of the Bureau of Markets, Department of Agriculture, in the following statement:

After consultation with Judge Graham, the cotton-futures attorney of the Treasury Department, the following conclusion has been reached: Whether or not there can be trading in old style contracts in liquidation of outstanding contracts entered into prior to March 4 is open to serious doubt from a legal standpoint. As a practical matter, we sympathize with the trade in the situation brought about by making the amendment effective with the approval of the act instead of at a later date as originally contemplated.

Bona Fide Sales.

In the circumstances no objection will be made to bona fide sales or purchases of old style contracts for the sole purpose of liquidation of actually existing short or long interests provided such liquidation is accomplished not later than May 1, 1919, on and after which date all sales or purchases on the exchange must be new style contracts. In order that the Treasury Department may be continually advised of the situation, it will be necessary for each firm having any outstanding interest on March 4, to report either directly or through the clearing house to the cotton-futures attorney at once its exact position in each month, and to report for each day the number of bales sold or bought in reduction of such outstanding interest until all outstanding old style contracts have been entirely liquidated. With reference to call transactions, an examination of the act fails to disclose any language upon which the Government would be war-

WARNING TO U. S. EXPORTERS ISSUED BY WAR TRADE BOARD

Instances have recently come to the attention of the War Trade Board wherein certain American exporters have been embarrassed by reason of the fact that they have entered into definite commitments for export shipments prior to the receipt of the necessary export licenses.

The War Trade Board takes this opportunity (W. T. B. R. 644) to renew its warnings to exporters that, although the importer in the country of destination may have contracted to purchase goods and may have cabled that he possesses the necessary import certificate, the prohibitions of the trading-with-the-enemy act and the necessity of maintaining the blockade conditions may prevent the issuance of an export license.

In view of the present policy of the associated governments with respect to shipments to the countries contiguous to Germany, the War Trade Board is unable definitely to assure exporters in advance that licenses will be granted. For their own protection, therefore, exporters should obtain export licenses before making definite and unconditional commitments.

GAS MASKS AND HELMETS MAY BE REISSUED TO SOLDIERS

The War Department authorizes the following:

By direction of the Secretary of War, officers or enlisted men, still in the service or discharged, who have had gas masks or steel helmets issued to them for use in the American Expeditionary Forces and who have had one or both of these articles taken up by the Government or who have themselves returned one or both of these articles to the Government, may obtain a reissue of them upon application to the nearest zone supply officer, United States Army, accompanied by proper evidence that the articles desired were so previously issued and were not retained by the person making the application.

Additional Army Units Assigned to Early Convoy

The War Department authorizes publication of the following:

Following organizations have been assigned to early convoy:

United States Army Ambulance Service Sections Nos. 501, 509, 546, 586, 594, 656, 657, 685, 642; 85th Division.

Secretary Glass Intimates.

Over Five Years—Registered and Coupon Forms.
Asks Support of Public.

Statement by Secretary Glass:

The Victory Liberty loan campaign will open on Monday, April 21, and will close on Saturday, May 10. Under the act of Congress approved September 24, 1917, and amendments thereto, the Secretary of the Treasury still has the authority to issue bonds similar to those of the second, third, and fourth Liberty loans to the extent of not over $5,022,518,000, but any issue of bonds under authority of this act is limited as to rate of interest to a maximum of 4½ per cent per annum and would be subject to supertaxes and profits taxes except for the right to participate in the exemption of $5,000 principal amount with other outstanding issues of Liberty bonds and certificates.

Act Authorizing Notes.

The Congress has now passed the Victory Liberty loan act which was approved March 3, 1919, under which the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to issue notes of the United States to the extent of not over $7,000,000,000 upon such terms and conditions and at such rate or rates of interest as he may prescribe. It is provided in this act that these notes shall be payable at such time or times, not less than one year or more than five years from the date of issue, as may be prescribed by the Secretary.

After studying financial conditions in all parts of the country, I have determined that the interests of the United States will best be served at this time by the issuance of short-term notes rather than of longer term bonds, which would have to bear the limited rate of interest of 4½ per cent.

Form and Terms of Notes.

The Victory Liberty loan will therefore take the form of notes of the United States maturing in not over five years from the date of issue. These notes will be, as were the Liberty loan bonds, the direct promise to pay of the United States, will be issued both in registered and coupon form, and the coupon notes will be in final form and will have attached the interest coupons covering the entire life of the notes. I am hopeful that the notes in final engraved form will be ready for delivery by the opening of the campaign on April 21.

Reasons for Adopting Notes.

I am lead to adopt the plan of issuing short-term notes rather than long-term bonds largely because of the fact that I believe that a short-term issue will maintain a price at about par after the campaign is concluded far more readily than would a longer term issue.

I have not yet reached a conclusion as to the rate of interest and exemptions from taxation which these notes will bear, because this decision must be based on existing conditions immediately prior to the opening of the campaign.

I take this opportunity to repeat what I have already stated, that it is the intention of the Treasury Department to carry the same kind of intensive campaign for distribution as heretofore.

Looks to the Public.

It would be a most unfortunate occurrence if the people of the United States failed to take these notes, thus placing the burden of subscriptions on the banks. The business of the country looks to the banking system for credit therewith to carry on its operations, and if this credit is absorbed to a large extent by the purchase of Government securities, there will be many limitations placed upon the supply of credit for business purposes. Our merchants and manufacturers need ample credit for setting the wheels of industry in motion for peace-time production and distribution, and the wage earner is directly interested in seeing that these wheels are kept moving at a normal rate in order that full employment at good wages may continue; and where readjustment conditions have necessitated a slowing down of industry, it is vitally important that activity be resumed and labor reemployed at the earliest possible moment.

I therefore ask the American people once again to give their support to their Government in order that this great loan may be made an overwhelming success by the widest possible distribution.

MEXICAN CONGRESS TO MEET IN EXTRA SESSION MAY 1

By presidential decree an extra session of the Mexican Congress has been called for May 1. A cablegram to the State Department to-day says the purpose of the extra session under the decree is to consider among other things petroleum legislation, the sole bank of issue, and the organic law to enforce article 123 of the constitution.

Article 123 relates to labor and social welfare. It provides that "Congress and the State legislatures shall make laws relative to labor with due regard to the needs of each region of the Republic" and in conformity with principles set out in this article, these principles including eight-hour day, seven-hour limit for night work, minimum wages, etc.

ranted in basing the ruling that new trades be executed in old style contracts pursuant to call transactions.

Grades Under New Style Contracts.

There are 10 undeliverable grades under new-style contracts, as follows: White, (1) strict good ordinary, (2) good ordinary; yellow tinged, (3) middling, (4) strict low middling, (5) low middling; yellow stained, (6) strict middling, (7) middling; blue stained, (8) good middling, (9) strict middling, (10) middling.

Under new-style contracts 10 grades are tenderable, as follows: White, (1) middling fair, (2) strict good middling, (3) good middling, (4) strict middling, (5) middling, (6) strict low middling, (7) low middling; yellow tinged, (8) good middling, (9) strict middling; yellow stained, (10) good middling.

The amendment to the act will soon be printed in the service and regulatory announcements of the Bureau of Markets.

The Liberian Government has advised the American Legation that it has reopened the former German wireless station at Monrovia for general public service. The station is operated by Liberians.

SHIPMENTS TO THE OCCUPIED PORTION OF RHINE PROVINCES

The War Trade Board announces (W. T. B. R. 645) that it has been informed that certain difficulties, due especially to the lack of adequate transportation facilities, exist with reference to shipments to that portion of the Rhine Provinces of Germany which is included in the area of military occupation by the American and allied armies recently opened to trade (W. T. B. R. 630, Mar. 6, 1919).

It is anticipated that, in the near future, arrangements may be made authorizing shipments to such territory via Rotterdam and the Rhine, and exporters are therefore advised of this situation in order that they may consider the same in arranging for the routing of their shipments.

NO COAL, KEROSENE, OR GASOLINE IN PETROGRAD AND MOSCOW

State Department Advises Tell of Famine Conditions Prevailing in Russian Cities.

The latest reports to the State Department from Russia state that in Petrograd and Moscow there is no coal, kerosene, or gasoline. Wood was nationalized in September, and since the passage of the official decree has not been available for private use. The supply remaining, used entirely by munitions plants, may be exhausted within a week. At any time the sewerage and water systems may cease operation.

Streets Practically Deserted.

The streets are practically deserted and a large number of the schools closed, the only persons to be seen on the streets being soldiers and people begging for bread. The latter refuse money when offered. The death rate, chiefly from typhoid and smallpox, approximates 4,000 daily, facilities being lacking to bury the dead.

The Swiss, Danish, Swedish, Dutch, and English embassies were looted, according to current reports. The Winter Palace is said to have been looted in January, all the treasures of art being taken.

Moscow is better off than Petrograd, but the industries, except a few military establishments, have ceased operations. Peasants are bringing in the only food available, and it is sold at excessive prices. Sugar is quoted at 20 rubles a pound, dog meat at 7, and horseflesh at 21. Human flesh is reported to have been sold by Chinese soldiers, who have been arrested on the charge.

Stores and Restaurants Closed.

Traction and electric-light services in Moscow are irregular, light being available only two hours a day. Stores and restaurants are closed, drug stores are drugless, all houses are used as asylums, barracks, or soup kitchens, and everything sold in Moscow is on the card system. Some theaters, including motion-picture houses, are open, but mass can not be celebrated in the churches. Very unreliable news is printed in the two daily and two weekly newspapers that continue publication.

Railroad lines radiating from Petrograd to Moscow, Dvinsk, and Vologda, the Ova and Octa railroad, and a Finland line are reported to continue operations, but others are said to have suspended traffic.

OFFICIAL COMMUNIQUES ON PEACÉ CONFERENCE

The following official communiques were issued at Paris on March 11:

The supreme allied council met today at 3 p. m. and rose at 4.30 p. m.

The president laid before the meeting communications received from the armistice commission in regard to the situation in Poland. This matter was considered by the council.

Thereupon a request was read out which had been made by the Czecho-Slovak Republic, and was concerned with the German, Austrian, and Hungarian intrigues against the new States. The council took this request into account and decided to investigate it thoroughly as soon as the documentary evidence had been received by the conference.

A discussion then ensued in regard to the conditions on which the powers with special interests and States in process of formation should participate in discussions respecting their frontiers with great powers.

The next meeting will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m.

The fifth meeting of the commission on Czecho-Slovak affairs was held on March 11 at the Quai D'Orsay. M. Jules Cambon presiding. The commission almost completed its work, and gave directions for the preparation of its report.

COLLECTION OF MOSQUITOES FROM ALL U. S. ARMY CAMPS FOR THE MEDICAL MUSEUM

The War Department authorizes the following statement from the office of the Surgeon General:

Mosquitoes representative of all species occurring at camps or posts where troops of the United States are stationed are to be collected for the Army Medical Museum in Washington. At present the collection is incomplete and medical officers have been directed to see that collections of these insects are made at the times and in the manner described in circular instructions being published.

Collections of mosquitoes are to be made at each station at least biweekly, at three periods during the 24 hours, early morning from 5 to 6 a. m., midday, and after 7 p. m. The time of collection will vary in different latitudes, but observation will determine the time when the insects are most prevalent at each locality. They are to be collected by means of a suitable killer or by mosquito traps. The "chloroform tube" is the best and most

TRADE COMMISSION CALLS CONFERENCE OF PAPER MAKERS

With a view to eliminating confusion in the designation of qualities and grades in the sale of writing paper and book paper, the Federal Trade Commission has invited manufacturers throughout the United States to meet with the commission in Washington March 23 for a general conference.

Among the descriptive words used by the trade are: "Linen," "Madras," "Nainsook," "Vellum," " Parchment," "Handmade," "Bond," "Woven," "Japan," "Holland," "Scotch," "French," "Italian," and "Egyptian."

The commission has received numerous complaints from the trade that these words are loosely used to a degree that such confusion has resulted as amounts to unfair competition.

Help the Victory Liberty Loan.

COL. FELAND, MARINE CORPS, MADE A BRIGADIER GENERAL

Secretary Daniels authorizes the following:

Col. Logan Feland, commanding the Fifth Regiment of Marines, now serving as a part of the army of occupation, was to-day made a brigadier general in the Marine Corps to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Brig. Gen. James E. Mahoney on March 8, who went to the retired list at his own request after 40 years of active service.

The promotion of Col. Feland comes as a result of his exceptional war record, which includes service from the time Gen. Pershing and his staff arrived in Europe until the present. As commander of the Fifth Regiment Marines, Col. Feland was in action from the time of the bloody fighting in Belleau Wood early last June right up to the final engagements just before the terms of the armistice became effective.

Awarded Four Decorations.

For his gallantry and distinguished services, Col. Feland has been awarded four decorations: The Distinguished-Service Cross and the Croix de Guerre with the bronze star, gold star and palm. Three times he was cited in French army and corps orders for bravery in the battles of Belleau Wood, during the Soissons drive and in the Champagne sector. He was also cited in American General Orders on July 15, 1918.

When Gen. Pershing sailed for France on May 28, 1917, Lieut. Col. Feland went with him as a member of his staff, in which capacity he served until the arrival of the Fifth Regiment of Marines in France in June, 1917, when he was relieved from staff duty and assigned to this regiment. He fought with the Fifth Marines throughout the war and is its present commander. He was promoted to the rank of colonel on July 1, 1918.

Fought at Belleau Woods.

Col. Feland was awarded the distinguished-service cross by the commanding general of the American Expeditionary Forces on July 10, 1918, for gallant conduct in action at Bois de Belleau from June 6 to 14. He was decorated with the French croix de guerre with bronze star July 10, 1918, having been cited in regimental orders of the French Army for distinguished conduct in action June 6 to 9, 1918. He was cited in General Orders No. 40, Headquarters, Second Division, American Expeditionary Forces, July 5, 1918, and was further cited October 25 in Army corps orders by the commander in chief of the French Armies of the North and Northeast, and awarded the croix de guerre with gold star for distinguished service during the action of July 18, 1918. In this engagement his regiment drove the enemy back 11 kilometers and captured 2,700 prisoners, 12 cannon, and several hundred machine guns. He was further cited by the French commander in chief on October 28, 1918, and awarded the croix de guerre with palm, and in regimental orders was cited again on November 15.

Gen. Feland was born in Kentucky in 1869. He served with the Third Kentucky Infantry during the Spanish-American War, and on July 1, 1899, was ap-

RED CROSS ASKS DONATION OF USED CLOTHING FOR REFUGEES

The Red Cross issues the following:

With millions of men, women, and children refugees in allied countries in sorest need of clothing of any kind the American Red Cross has set the week of March 24-31 for a nation-wide collection of used clothing, shoes, and blankets for these helpless people. Every report and survey from abroad shows unmistakably that the clothing problem faced by those returning to their devastated homes is one of the most serious they have to face and it is equally clear that it is to America the suffering must turn.

The collection of cast-off clothing, which will be conducted by the thousands of Red Cross chapters scattered through the States, has been timed to the season when millions of Americans are changing from winter clothing to light, most of that laid aside being garments they will never use again. Through every possible agency the plight of the refugees in northern France, Belgium, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Roumania, Greece, Poland, Macedonia, and Albania will be brought home to the American people and a minimum of 10,000 tons of used clothing, it is expected, will be donated.

Helpless to Manufacture.

The reason the refugees must look to the outside world for succor is that even though they had raw materials they would still be helpless because of the vandalism committed upon their textile industries by the Teutons. The first step toward helping them has been taken by the war council of the American Red Cross arranging for an emergency shipment of 13,500,000 yards of textiles, valued at over $4,500,000. But still more must be done.

"The need is great to a degree that few at home can possibly realize," cabled Col. Harvey D. Gibson, American Red Cross representative in Europe. "Every garment furnished will cover a body which otherwise would lack proper clothing, and each garment furnished will actually prevent suffering."

War Department Letter to City Mayors Urging Cooperation in Finding Suitable Employment for Discharged Soldiers

The War Department authorizes publication of the following letter, which has been sent to the mayors of the principal cities in the United States:

"I have the honor to address you on behalf of the War Department with reference to the subject of safeguarding the economic welfare of soldiers who have been discharged from the service and are returning to your State and city to re-establish themselves in civil life.

"The Government, both Federal and local, has the prime obligation of aiding these men. With unbounded enthusiasm they responded to the call of the Government to serve in the world emergency. They did not count personal cost. Their achievements as soldiers have written one of the brightest pages in American history. They are now returning to their homes full of well-earned pride and animated by high ambitions. They want jobs, good jobs, with the least possible waste of time in taking up their individual responsibilities as citizens. They do not all understand how greatly the delicate machinery of our industrial and commercial life has been thrown out of adjustment by the war. Most of them only know that they have done their duty at the Nation's call, and their disappointment will be very bitter if the Government which called them does not actively cooperate to replace them in civil pursuits.

Moral Responsibility Continues.

"The opportunity that the War Department has to actively serve the enlisted men expires, it might be thought, with their separation from the service, fully paid, and with a $60 bonus and transportation to their homes. They go from the service in good health, or if physically disabled, compensated by the system of War Risk Insurance. While the actual responsibility of the War Department does not end here, the moral responsibility does not end until the soldier has been absorbed by normal civil life. Feeling this moral obligation as we do, the purpose of the War Department is to coordinate, through my office, the various activities of the Federal, State, and city Governments as well as those of private organizations, looking to a system which will minimize the injustice and the peril of unemployment of discharged soldiers.

"In presenting this matter to you, I am fully aware of the fact that you are as deeply impressed by its importance as is the War Department, and that you have probably already taken effective steps to meet the situation so far as it affects your city. The War Department wants to do all it can to supplement and to help local effort.

Help for Those Who Need It.

"In a very large measure the problem disposes of itself. We can not be of much help to the vast majority of discharged officers and enlisted men who return to their prewar occupations quite naturally or who are equipped to make their own readjustment unaided. We are directly and vitally concerned, however, with the minority who need guidance. We must not forget, also, the large number of foreign-speaking men who have served our colors with the greatest loyalty and often with extraordinary courage and enthusiasm. We must not forget the difficulties encountered by foreign-speaking people in our civil life. We must not overlook the great fact that employment readjustments are difficult for modest and inarticulate men and that there are such among the discharged soldiers.

"As a business man I believe that the services of a discharged soldier are an excellent 'buy' for an employer. Through the Army morale section, and otherwise, we are in very close touch with the general spirit and purpose of the returning soldiers. In the first place these men are animated by an elevated spirit of citizenship which accounts for the sparkle in their eyes and the firmness of their handgrasp. They return to us proud of their great achievements. They come back benefited by Army discipline. The reactions of Army discipline are on the side of good citizenship and fine personal conduct.

Good Investment for Employer.

"These men have withstood the physical rigors of the great campaign and emerge strong of limb and self-possessed. The people of France, as the Secretary of War has said, marveled at our soldiers whom they described as 'always smiling, clean shaven, kind to women and children, courteous to each other, and they brush their teeth after every meal and wash all over every morning.' From the standpoint of personal hygiene alone, the average returned soldier is an able man. He does not need to be offered to an employer on the ground of sentimental appreciation of what he has done—he needs to be offered on the just ground of what he can do by reason of what he is.

"Throughout the country there are hundreds of city, State, Federal, and independent agencies at work to solve the problem of placing discharged soldiers in jobs. Probably your city is actively functioning in this respect, through the medium, among others, of the Bureau for Returning Soldiers and Sailors, operated by the different welfare societies in cooperation with the Department of Labor.

Adjutant General's Memorandum.

"May I call your attention to the following memorandum, prepared for the Adjutant General, which is self-explanatory:

"The Secretary of War directs:

"That instructions be issued to all commanders of camps and stations at which discharges are effected, directing that all discharged officers and soldiers be notified that the governors of several States have asked that men who have served in the Army, register, upon returning here, with their respective town, city, or country clerks, or other appropriate officials; that this action is requested on the part of all those returning to communities in which opportunity is

EXPORTS CONTINUE TO SHOW MARKED INCREASE IN VOLUME

According to a report made public yesterday by Walker D. Hines, Director General of Railroads, regarding export freight situation for week ending March 10, 1919, commercial exports continued to show a marked increase in volume. Commercial export deliveries at New York during February, 1919, averaged 431 cars per day, as against a daily average of 253 cars in January, 1919; 169 cars in December, 1918; 114 cars in November, 1918, and 129 cars in October, 1918. Commercial export deliveries at Philadelphia in February, 1919, totaled 697 cars, as compared with 280 cars in January, 1919, and 98 cars in December, 1918.

Total number of carloads of export freight on hand at North Atlantic ports as of March 4 was 34,037, as compared with 34,548 for the preceding week.

There were on March 10, 20,136,000 bushels of grain in the elevators at the North Atlantic ports. Received during the week 5,049,000 bushels, while 3,772,000 bushels were cleared. A strong movement in grain overseas is anticipated.

afforded for such registration with a view to the establishment of complete lists, both for convenience in making plans to welcome returning soldiers and also for permanent historical record.

"Here is a piece of machinery that can be employed by city governments throughout the country. Through this system of registration the bureau could operate in close and prompt contact with the returning soldiers. The local newspaper press could help by directing the attention of returning soldiers to your bureau of registration as well as directing the attention of employers to any clearing house for men which you may have in operation.

Not Looking for Charity.

"The discharged soldier is not looking for charity—charity is repugnant to him. He wants all the practical advice and guidance that one could reasonably expect of a government agency. He has been away from home for a long while, and he will appreciate the assistance of any friend who will put him in touch with the present status of industrial and commercial activities. He does not want to lose time aimlessly searching for jobs if there is a central agency which will put him in touch with one. Surely the disposition of the average citizen would be to put a discharged soldier on preferred job lists, but employers must know that a central agency exists through which these men may be reached.

"You will pardon me for writing to you in such general terms. This is a circular letter intended more to ask for suggestions than to offer them. I should be grateful if you will let me know of the progress you are making, and if you will send suggestions of constructive service which might be applied nationally.

"Respectfully yours,

"ARTHUR WOODS,

"Assistant to the Secretary of War."

Commended for Gallantry.

Secretary Daniels has commended John Harris and Lewis I. Bessenger, machinist's mates second class (aviation), United States Naval Reserve Forces, of the naval training station, Great Lakes, Ill., for their heroic gallantry in rescuing a seaman from drowning on Sunday afternoon, February 2.

About 2 p. m., on above date, Harris and Bessenger were walking out to the end of the breakwater at Waukegan. Around the lighthouse at the end of the pier is a ledge about 12 inches high, some 6 or 8 feet above the water. They noticed a seaman walk out on this ledge to go around the lighthouse. Harris saw him lose his balance and fall overboard. Both men ran to the spot immediately and saw that there was no way for the man to climb out except by swimming about a half mile to the shore. It was apparent that the man would not be able to swim this distance. Harris swung down at full length from the edge of the breakwater and, with his companion's assistance, succeeded in pulling the drowning man to safety.

Harris enrolled in June, 1918; wife, Flora L. Harris, Winter Park, Orange County, Fla.

Bessenger enrolled in June, 1918; mother, Alice Bessenger, Dade City, Pasco County, Fla.

Interpretations by Railroad Director Of Supplements to General Order No. 27

The United States Railroad Administration issues the following interpretations:

Interpretation No. 6 to Supplement No. 7 to General Order No. 27:

Question.—Does section 1-B, Article I, Supplement 4 to General Order No. 27 apply to steam power-house oilers or do they come under section C, Article II, Supplement 7 to General Order No. 27?

Decision.—Section C, Article II, Supplement 7 to General Order No. 27.

WALKER D. HINES,
Director General of Railroads.

Interpretation No. 8 to Supplement No. 4, interpretation and addenda thereof, to General Order No. 27:

Question.—To what classes of employees of other departments does Supplement No. 4, its interpretation No. 1, and its addendum No. 2 apply?

Decision.—Supplement No. 4, interpretation No. 1, and addendum No. 2 are to be applied only to those employees who come strictly within the classifications of work in the seven crafts embraced therein—namely, machinists, boilermakers, blacksmiths, sheet-metal workers, electricians, carmen, and molders, with their helpers and apprentices.

It is not the intention of this supplement, or interpretation No. 1 thereof, or addendum No. 2 thereto, to include employees of merely similar occupations or name unless they have qualified for and are engaged in the work as classified in said Supplement No. 4.

WALKER D. HINES,
Director General of Railroads.

Interpretation No. 9 to General Order No. 27 supplements and interpretations affected:

Question.—If an employee covered by the provisions of General Order No. 27 and subsequent wage orders issued by the Director General in connection therewith, whose salary is $250 or less per month, is required to work overtime, and in a given month his total wage, including overtime, amounts to more than $250, is it the intention to restrict his earnings per month to $250?

Decision.—Overtime is not to be considered as salary.

WALKER D. HINES,
Director General of Railroads.

Interpretation No. 2 to addendum No. 2 to Supplement No. 4 to General Order No. 27:

Question.—Does the frame fire referred to in section 2, addendum No. 2 to Supplement No. 4 to General Order No. 27 include the fire where they handle car frames, or does it refer to locomotive frames only?

Decision.—Section 2, addendum No. 2, Supplement No. 4 to General Order No. 27 applies to locomotive frame fires only.

WALKER D. HINES,
Director General of Railroads.

Interpretation No. 1 to addendum No. 2 to Supplement No. 4 to General Order No. 27:

Position of employees.—It is claimed by employees that the freight-train cars operated by the railroad on which they are employed, consist of about 80 per cent steel underframe cars, and that prior to November 12, 1918, all car men had to cut rivets on these underframes, and therefore claim that it consists of steel work.

Since November 12, 1918, the work has been separated; car carpenter jack, remove, and replace these underframes, and steel men cut and drive rivets and straighten steel; and it is, therefore, claimed that all such car men are entitled to the rate of 63 cents per hour, as provided in addendum No. 2 to Supplement No. 4 to General Order No. 27.

Position of the management.—The management takes the position that the freight train steel car repairer, for whom a rate of 63 cents per hour is provided in Article I, section 4, addendum 2 to Supplement 4 to General Order No. 27, is one who performs steel work only, such as cutting out and replacing rivets, removing, straightening, and replacing metal parts.

Decision.—The rate of 63 cents per hour as provided in Article I, section 4, addendum 2 to Supplement 4 to General Order No. 27 shall be paid to employees performing steel underframe work, such as cutting, driving, and replacing rivets, straightening and replacing metal parts, including jacking, removing, and replacing of steel underframes in connection with repairs to same.

WALKER D. HINES,
Director General of Railroads.

Interpretation No. 4 to Supplement No. 4 to General Order No. 27:

Question.—Dockets OT-21, OT-22, OT-42, OT-53, and NV-67, issued by Railway Board of Adjustment No. 2, establish the principle "that employees performing the work (or mechanics employed to perform the work) outlined in sections 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 of Article I, Supplement 4 to General Order No. 27, who have heretofore received the minimum rate of wages in their respective classifications, shall now be paid the established minimum rate of pay." What date should be used to determine when the graduated rates provided in sections 2 and 2-a, Article II, Supplement 4 to General Order No. 27 may be applied; that is, January 1, 1918, effective date of the supplement, or July 25, 1918, the date of issue?

Decision.—Section 1-A, Article IV, Supplement 4 to General Order No. 27, provides for the rates named in Supplement 4 to become effective January 1, 1918. This provision also is repeated in section 3, Article IV, Supplement 4 to General Order No. 27, therefore, the graduated rates provided in sections 2 and 2-a are effective January 1, 1918.

WALKER D. HINES,
Director General of Railroads.

Interpretation No. 9 to Supplement No. 4 to General Order No. 27:

Statement of facts.—On a certain railroad the hours of service for employees paid on an hourly basis were, prior to the application of General Order No. 27, 9½ hours per day for 5 days in the week and 5½ hours on Saturday, making a total of 54 hours per week, no overtime being allowed after the basic 9-hour day. In order to provide for a basic 8 hours for six days per week, 1 hour per day is computed at the rate of time and one-half for overtime, making 6 hours per week at the overtime rate and 48 hours per week at straight time rate. That is 8½ hours for 5 days in the week and 4½ hours on Saturday are computed at straight time rate.

Question.—Is it permissible to absorb the excess time worked over 8 hours per day, 5 days per week, by an equivalent reduction in time worked Saturday?

Decision.—No.

WALKER D. HINES,
Director General of Railroads.

INTERPRETATION NO. 4 TO SUPPLEMENT NO. 7 TO GENERAL ORDER NO. 27.

Question.—Should an employee operating a multigraph machine be paid in accordance with the provisions of Article I, Paragraph A, Supplement No. 7 to General Order No. 27, which covers "Operators of all office or station equipment devices"?

Decision.—A "multigraph" is an office-equipment device, and the operator thereof is entitled to the rate specified in Article I, Paragraph A, Supplement No. 7 to General Order No. 27.

WALKER D. HINES,
Director General of Railroads.

INTERPRETATION NO. 10 TO GENERAL ORDER NO. 27—AMENDMENTS, ADDENDA, AND INTERPRETATIONS AFFECTED.

Statement.—Article V, General Order No. 27:

"When women are employed, their working conditions must be healthful and fitted to their needs. The laws enacted for the government of their employment must be observed and their pay, when they do the same class of work as men, shall be the same as that of men."

And all subsequent wage orders issued in connection therewith expressly stipulate that women, when they do the same class of work as men, shall receive the same pay as that of men.

Question.—Should women employed and assigned to perform the same class of work as men, although the work has been rearranged so as to be healthful and fitted to their needs, receive the same rate of pay as that of men?

Decision.—Yes.

WALKER D. HINES,
Director General of Railroads.

INTERPRETATION NO. 3 TO ADDENDUM NO. 2 TO SUPPLEMENT NO. 4 TO GENERAL ORDER NO. 27.

Question.—On what date do the increases provided for in Addendum No. 2 to Supplement No. 4 to General Order No. 27 become effective?

Decision.—September 1, 1918.

WALKER D. HINES,
Director General of Railroads.

The Swedish press reports received by the Department of State announce the following results of the Finnish elections for representation in the Landtag:

Socialists, 80; Finnish Republicans (evenly divided between Young Finns and Agrarians), 70; Finnish Monarchists, 22; Swedes (including 3 Republicans), 22.

Press reports state that the results show that the Social Democrats are the strongest party in the Landtag, holding about 80 seats out of a total of 200, followed by the Agrarians with a membership of 35, the Finnish Coalition Party with 34, Swedish Party with 24, and the Finnish Progressive Party with 27. Compared with the last elections, the papers state that the Social Democrats have suffered slight losses, while the Agrarians have won a number of representatives. FALSELY LABELED AS OLIVE OIL.

Department of Agriculture Warns Housekeepers Against Deception.

Several seizures have been made and a number of prosecutions instituted as a result of a campaign inaugurated by the officials charged with the enforcement of the Federal food and drugs act against the interstate shipment of adulterated and misbranded olive oil.

Consumers are advised by the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, to read carefully the labels of all containers offered to them as containing olive oil to determine whether the manufacturer actually claims that the product is olive oil or merely suggests it by misleading devices. Some of these deceptively labeled products are sold by itinerant peddlers.

Cotton-seed oil, corn oil, peanut oil, soy-bean oil, and other vegetable oils are wholesome, palatable oils, but they should be bought under their own names at price much lower than the prices at which olive oil is usually sold.
